FIVE WOMEN PERISH IN FIRE!

SAVE 10 OTHER WAR WORKERS; LOSS IS $25,000

North Side Factory Swept by Blaze.

Five women war plant workers were burned to death last night when they were trapped in a locker room on the mezzanine floor of the Lions Manufacturing corporation plant at 2640 Belmont avenue.

The bodies were found by firemen searching thru the debris after they had brought the flames under control. It was the first knowledge the firemen had that the women had been trapped. Earlier they had rescued 10 women thru a skylight in a washroom and it was believed that everyone had escaped safely.

Fire Cuts Off Escape.

Firemen think that when the fire broke out the flames spread so quickly that escape from the mezzanine down a flight of stairs to the main floor was cut off.

The bodies were charred but firemen and policemen believed that identification could be made thru the identification badges the women wore. Some of the badges withstood the flames.

Police removed the bodies to the Nehls funeral home at 3026 Belmont avenue where one was identified as that of Mrs. Mildred Gabriel, 42 years old, of 3257 North Central Park avenue, an inspector. Identification was made by her husband, Paul, a machinist employed by the Crane company.

Another body was identified as that of Mrs. Ella Covey, 50, of 3418 North Bell avenue. Identification was made by her brother, James Murray of the same address.

Plant Engaged in War Work.

Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan, who estimated the damage at $25,000, said the fire was caused by an explosion and attributed it to "carelessness." He said attorneys of the fire department and agents of the federal bureau of investigation would investigate it.

The plant, which is engaged 100 per cent in war work, employs about 400 workers on the night shift. The plant, about a half block square, is of one floor construction except for the mezzanine area in the center.

It was thru a skylight in this area that the 10 women were rescued shortly after the fire swept the plant. Firemen worked their way over the roof and thru the skylight to reach these women, who were cowering in a washroom. Those who died apparently had crowded into a nearby locker room which had no outlet thru the roof and they were not found in the flame and smoke that filled the mezzanine.

LIQUOR MAKING BAN MUST STAY, WPB DECIDES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—The war production board has decided to tell the public it sees no chance of resuming whisky production at present.

WPB Chairman Nelson, it was learned, made an exhaustive report on alcohol supplies to a meeting of the board today, and submitted figures disclosing that a deficiency exists even for war purposes.

Nelson was said to have decided the public should be given a comprehensive report, in view of the liquor shortage and suggestions that distillers be granted periodic "vacations" from war production.

The report expected will show heavy demands for synthetic rubber and considerable quantities going to Russia.

'DUSK' AT 9 A. M. MARKS ECLIPSE OF SUN IN PERU

CHICLAYO, Peru, Jan. 25 (AP).—A total eclipse of the sun was observed here today by scientists and hundreds of sightseers. Peruvian scientists said the total eclipse lasted from 9:07:16½ to 9:10:57 a. m. The temperature dropped and the sky became dark blue, while the horizon was orange colored, as if at dusk.

The path of totality of the eclipse lay across northern Peru and Brazil and extended across the South Atlantic to Freetown in West Africa. As a partial eclipse it was visible in the southern United States, Puerto Rico, Central and South America, western Europe, and northwest Africa.

Find $250,000 in Mrs. Williams' 2d Cache

But Bank Box Fails to Give Murder Clew

A fortune estimated at $250,000, including $100,000 in 100 crisp $1,000 bills, was found yesterday when authorities opened a loop safety deposit box of Mrs. Adele Born Williams, who was fatally shot in her eighth floor room in the Drake hotel by a woman assassin last Wednesday night.

The financial find increased Mrs. Williams' total wealth to an estimated $450,000, added new interest to the growing murder mystery, but failed to provide any clews to the question: Who killed Mrs. Williams?

Mrs. Williams, wife of Frank Starr Williams, an attache of the state department in Washington, was not the killer's only target; her daughter, Mrs. Patricia Goodbody, was also fired upon, but escaped harm. The gunwoman then fled and has not been seen since.

[Life story of Adele Williams, hotel murder victim, told by friend. See page 7.]

Composition of Estate.

Up to last night, the slain woman's estate appeared to take shape as follows:

An original inheritance of $58,439, now greatly increased.
At least $40,000 worth of jewelry.
$100,000 in bills.
$21,000 in war bonds.
$53,000 in United States treasury notes.
100 shares of stock of the American Car and Foundry company.
250 shares of the Republic brewery.
50 shares of the National Security Insurance company.

Floyd E. Thompson, the family attorney, predicted the estate might rise to about $500,000, but with a subsequent drop as some securities, not mentioned, are studied. Relatives placed the total at $450,000. The original inheritance of $58,439 came from Mrs. Williams' uncle, Joseph S. Rosenfield, vice president of the Sunny Brook Distillery company, who died in 1931. This fund has risen in value.

Fortune Found in Box.

The bulk of the estate was found yesterday with the opening of Mrs. Williams' deposit box in the vaults of the Northern Trust company. Present were her daughters, Mrs. Goodbody and Miss Elizabeth Born, children of her previous marriage to Edgar R. Born, wholesale clothier; her widower, Mr. Williams; her brother-in-law, Col. Robert A. Roos of Burlingame, Cal.; Coroner A. L. Brodie, Assistant State's Atty. Joseph A. Pope, and James X. Galbaugh of the state treasurer's office.

Inside the box were the 100 $1,000 bills; the war bonds; the treasury notes—one for $50,000; the foundry, brewery, and insurance stock, and a quantity of genuine and imitation pearls, plus unimportant letters and the copy of an old will. The minimum value of the foundry and insurance stocks was placed at $12,500; value of the brewery stock is not known.

Wealth in Box Puzzles Police.

Police were puzzled over why Mrs. Williams kept so much money in a safety deposit box, but a family friend reported that "she loved to have money at hand."

The entire estate, including proportionate shares of the $100,000 cash, will go in trust to Mrs. Williams' daughters, Mrs. Goodbody and Miss Born, according to Atty. William R. Swissler.

One item the safe deposit box failed to yield was a 12 inch long brown leather box in which Mrs. Williams kept gems. It is missing from her Drake room and from her apartment in Washington. Its disappearance further convinced some policemen as well as her family that the woman slayer was a hotel thief, who shot her way out when trapped in Mrs. Williams' room.

Crowley Inspects Murder Scene.

Mrs. Williams' room, No. 836, was inspected carefully during the day by Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney. Four bullets were fired on the fatal night, and their erratic courses have befuddled police.

Crowley revealed that he had questioned a maid, Miss Angeline Lamy, 1910 Sheffield avenue. She said she heard Mrs. Williams closing a telephone conversation at 11:30 a. m. the day of the shooting, with the words that she had to leave, but would return to her room at 5:30 p. m. Miss Lamy was certain Mrs. Williams was out of her room from 11:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. Another maid had previously placed her back in her room at 4:40 p. m. Mrs. Goodbody had her out between 5 and 6 p. m. The shooting occurred at 6:20 p. m.

ARMY TO REPAY 14 BILLION MORE IT DOESN'T NEED

Excessive Demands Disclosed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—The magnitude of the army's plans for global war was revealed tonight after the house had learned with obvious amazement that the war department is going to turn back unused 14 billion dollars more of its 71 billion dollar appropriation for the current year.

The sum swelled to 27 billion dollars, more than a third of the year's appropriation, the amount that the army will give back to the treasury for reappropriation.

Far More Than Needed.

The new army kick-back was reported to the house by Rep. Snyder [D., Pa.], chairman of the house appropriations subcommittee on military expenditures. The figures told a story of vast appropriation requests which renegotiation of war contracts, mass production, and decreasing needs now indicate, according to congressmen, were far more than was needed.

The exact amount of the return reported today is $14,214,877,000. On Nov. 18 the army reported that it was returning $13,163,519,000. Thus the total funds to be returned will be $27,378,396,000.

Snyder said price reductions of army supplies account for $10,916,000,000 of the saving reported to the subcommittee today by Brig. Gen. George J. Richards, budget officer of the war department.

Requirements Reduced.

The rest of the funds reported today reflect reduction in military requirements of $3,190,485,000; reduction in military personnel of $5,461,000, and miscellaneous reductions, $102,931,000.

The army air forces, ordnance division, and signal corps are represented in the reductions. Actual prices paid during the year have been 15 to 20 per cent below estimates, many of the cuts resulting from quantity production.

Presenting a combined picture of the savings in the 27 billion dollar figure, Rep. Snyder said $12,819,760,000 of the reduction is due to a lessening of requirements; $12,416,000,000 is due to price reductions; $1,951,500,000 is the result of reduction of military personnel, and the remaining $191,136,000 was saved on miscellaneous projects.

Cutbacks Swell Fund.

Snyder said that approximately 4 billion dollars of the price reduction is accounted for by renegotiation of contracts.

"Of the increased savings in requirements," Snyder said, "the major portion is due to cut-backs in the ordnance program. Shifts in the grand strategy of the war and the emphasis on different theaters of operation affected the quantities and types of weapons and ammunition which were needed. This resulted in many reductions in the army supply programs upon which the 1944 estimates were based. [The fiscal year ends June 30.]

"Among the largest reductions were over 12,000 tanks, over 2,000 90 millimeter anti-aircraft guns, over 6,000 76 millimeter guns, and billions of rounds of small arms ammunition."

Based on "the Worst."

Snyder said after making his report in the house that estimates were all based upon the worst possibilities which could occur. Thus, he explained, the army provided for far heavier shipping losses than were encountered.

Happy tho the congressmen may have been at learning that 27 billion dollars is coming back to the treasury, Snyder held out no hope to them for an immediate lessening of the tax burden.

[Senate-house conferees abolish earned income credit allowance in new tax bill. Story on page 9.]

"Our public debt has reached such huge proportions," he told the house, "that in my judgment it would be folly not to tax to the utmost during this period of wide employment and high wages and large war profits in order that it may more quickly be brought and held within reasonable bounds."

AIDING CUPID NOT OUR BUSINESS, AUSSIE RED CROSS REPLIES

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 26 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Australian Red Cross today rejected an American Red Cross request for information about the families and background of Australian girls wishing to marry American soldiers.

The Australian society pointed out there was no means of reciprocation, as it was impossible to ascertain conditions of family life of the American soldiers wishing to marry Australian girls. Anyway, the society said, such matters were outside its charter.

American Red Cross representatives said they would continue to interview prospective brides and bridegrooms, and attempt to discourage marriages they considered inadvisable.

Allied Landing Stirs North Italian Patriots

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 25 (AP).—A Swiss telegraph agency dispatch from Chiasso said today the allied advance south of Rome had stirred incidents in Milan and Genoa, and the anti-fascist secret press was giving wide publicity to its progress. Partisans in northern Italy in the last 24 hours increased efforts to impede transport of German troops and material to central Italy, the dispatch added.

25 War Home Projects Go on Auction Block

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—Liquidation of the federal government's venture in war time housing was started today, with 25 projects costing more than 71 million dollars being offered for sale.

Included are 150 houses in the Marquette Gardens development of Joliet, Ill. The government said the homes were built for permanent use and should not be confused with temporary homes intended for war occupancy.

Projects in 13 States.

Herbert Emmerich, president of Defense Homes corporation, said the homes will be sold to any purchaser who offers a satisfactory price and terms and agrees to limit war time occupancy to war workers.

He said the corporation has projects for sale in 13 states and in Washington, D. C., with a total of 2,811 houses, 5,617 apartments, and residence dormitories with a total of 2,624 single rooms. The largest project is the Fairlington development in Virginia near Washington, and the smallest is 12 homes in Falls Church, Va.

Organized in 1940.

The DHC was organized Oct. 23, 1940, by executive order with 10 million dollars from the President's emergency fund. Additional funds were obtained by borrowing more than 60 million dollars from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The DHC now is a subsidiary of the national housing agency.

Emmerich said individual houses owned by the DHC will be offered first to present occupants unless the project is sold outright. If occupants decide not to purchase the homes, they will be permitted to remain as tenants. War workers will be given preference in buying vacant houses.

Designed for Private Owners.

Emmerich said that altho the projects were a war emergency enterprise, they were designed for private ownership and were constructed and managed in the same manner as private housing developments.

"The corporation operates more or less like a private management company," he said.

"It has maintained rents that meet operating expenses, including interest on and amortization of the financing loans. It also has made payments in lieu of taxes equal to full taxes on the properties in the respective localities."

BUT IT'S A LONG WAY FOR A FLU GERM TO TRAVEL

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 25.—Have the germs causing influenza epidemics come earthward from Mars and other planets? Prof. Louis Backman of Upsala university, internationally known scientist, thinks it possible that sporadic epidemics of mysterious origin may have been started by bacteria from other planets pushed to the earth by the propulsive power of the sun's rays.

Prof. Lundmark of Lund university considers it even probable that germs travel here from foreign planets on meteorites.

Prof. Backman is convinced that germs could survive the celestial temperature of 459 degrees below zero to which they would be exposed during the greater part of the voyage thru space. Experiments have proved this to be so, says Prof. Backman.

M'ARTHUR'S DAY TO RETIRE FINDS HIM ON THE JOB

ADVANCED HDQ., New Guinea, Jan. 26 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The man who hasn't taken a day off since Japan attacked the Philippines strode up to meet his old acquaintance, and no one ever would guess from the spring in his step, from the hair unspecked with gray, or from the jaunty mannerisms unchanged by age, that this was the day he should be retiring.

For Gen. MacArthur was 64 years old today, time to retire for most American army officers, but just another day's work for him. He spent it meeting his old friend, Lt. Gen. Robert Eichelberger.

Even the few formalities which the general observed on his birthday a year ago, which included visits from his staff officers, were ignored today, altho he received congratulations from American and Australian officials. It's also Australia day, the 156th birthday of the commonwealth.

RADIO SENDING A FRANTIC SOS TO ALL WOMEN

BY RUTH MONTGOMERY.

Ten thousand additional women to help produce critically needed radar equipment for the navy.

That is the goal of the gigantic recruiting campaign to be launched this week by the 52 Chicago radar-radio firms which have banded together to solve their common dilemma: the woman power shortage.

Every tank, every ship, every plane, every large gun must have radar-radio equipment in this most mechanical of all wars. Many individual soldiers and sailors must carry it, too, and millions of pieces must be manufactured and assembled before our European and Asiatic invasion forces are properly prepared for modern warfare.

It's a Question of Lives.

More than a third of all the nation's facilities for manufacturing electronic equipment is centered in Chicago. Therefore to a large extent the number of American men who will die unnecessarily in battle depends upon Chicago women.

"If more women only realized that the lives of their sons and husbands depend upon their getting jobs in war plants, there would be fewer vacancies on production lines, and far less absenteeism," William H. Spencer, regional war man power commission director, said. "Further, the women have it in their power to assist Chicago in keeping its production facilities fully occupied and, incidentally, to keep it out of the No. 1 classification of a critical man power area, which would drastically affect the contract situation here."

With housewives as the only vast untapped source of labor supply available in the country, the radar-radio industry points hopefully to the fact that at least one of its member firms is located in practically every area of the city.

Need Not Travel Far.

Women who have hesitated to accept a job because of the amount of time involved in traveling to and from the industrial areas can find essential work in their own neighborhoods.

In an effort to gain first hand knowledge of working conditions in the radar-radio industry, a reporter visited a typical plant and interviewed employes.

A mother and her daughter, who work side by side on a wire and soldering assembly line at the E. H. Scott Radio Laboratories, Inc., at 4450 Ravenswood avenue, have solved their housekeeping problems by working only a few blocks from their home.

"It was hard enough when my two sons left for the army," Mrs. Mildred Horst, 5063 North Winchester avenue, confided as she fitted intricate screws into their appointed slots on a radio chassis. "But when my daughter, Shirley, reported that she had a job on a radar assembly line I stood it only two days longer. Then I applied for similar work, and we've been working together for 10 months now."

Soldier Sons Proud of "Mom."

Mrs. Horst's husband and her two soldier sons objected at first, because she had never worked before. Now they boast about the way "Mom is helping to produce one of the few real 'secret weapons' of the war."

"I get breakfast for every one in the morning," Mrs. Horst recounted, "while Shirley takes the dog out. Then we leave for work at 7 a. m.

YANK PATROLS ENTER CASSINO, NAZI KEY CITY

War Summaries

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Jan. 25 (AP).—Fifth army patrols were reported tonight to have entered Cassino, long a bastion of the Germans' cross-Italy line, and this may indicate the beginning of a German withdrawal from the southern Italian front.

[A British radio broadcast said American patrols entering the outskirts of Cassino could see into the "heart of the town, only 400 yards away. The only sign of life was a single German walking down the street. But, even if Cassino has been evacuated, the surrounding heights still are held by the Germans."]

Reports from the Garigliano front south of Cassino had said that as late as yesterday German commanders were driving their troops into wholesale slaughter along the river where the British still held strong bridgeheads around the captured communications center of Minturno.

"The German dead there exceeded the dead I saw at any time during the fiercest fighting on the Somme," said a British veteran of the last war.

Menace Two Supply Arteries.

Allied troops extended their bridgehead south of Rome more than 12 miles inland and apparently forced Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring to withdraw German units from the bloody Cassino area to meet the threat to the Nazis' two major supply arteries from Rome.

Already the historic Appian way, which with the Via Casilina supplied an estimated 100,000 Nazi troops on the Cassino front, was within reach of allied patrols and to all intents and purposes its use was denied to the enemy. At Velletri the two great highways connecting Rome with southern Italy are only eight miles apart.

[The British Broadcasting corporation quoted one of its correspondents at the front as saying advance allied elements had crossed the Appian way and were approaching a double track electric railway leading to Rome. A German broadcast said the town of Velletri, 24 miles southeast of Rome on the Appian way, had been destroyed by allied bombs and intimated that American troops had occupied the town and cut the highway. Velletri is 17 miles inland from the original allied landing point at Nettuno.]

In View of Alban Hills.

Don Whitehead, Associated Press correspondent with the invasion forces, gave an indication of where some of them were yesterday by writing that they were "in perfectly clear view" of Velletri, Genzano, and Albano, high in the Alban hills. Genzano is five miles west of Velletri on the road to Rome, and Albano is two miles farther along as the road turns northwestward. Albano is 20 miles due north of the coastal town of Anzio which the allies have captured.

[The Geneva newspaper La Suisse quoted the Fascist press as saying the allied landing forces had occupied the entire 30 mile coastal stretch from Nettuno to the mouth of the Tiber river, 16 miles south of Rome. There was no allied confirmation, however.]

Cross Mussolini Canal.

Field dispatches said allied landing forces late yesterday crossed the Mussolini canal, which runs north and south thru the Pontine marshes some eight miles east of Nettuno. The model town of Littoria is about five miles east of the canal. There was no indication that this advance was meeting any serious opposition.

Allied vanguards were reported meeting "hastily organized battle groups" of Germans, apparently moved northward from the Cassino front.

The allied force which landed Saturday morning—under the personal direction of Gen. Harold Alexander, commander in chief in this theater—fully expected to be struck by a German counter-attack within the next 48 hours.

A headquarters officer said that Adolf Hitler "may decide to throw great forces into Italy and tell his generals they must produce a victory at any cost."

Allied Planes Back in Air.

Allied planes were back in the air in sunny skies this morning after comparatively curtailed activities Sunday and Monday. Weather had been one of the worst worries of the invasion planners, who had said that much depended upon air power in keeping the German roads blocked and reënforcements paralyzed until the allies were firmly established.

The ceiling tumbled Sunday afternoon and only lifted erratically yesterday. Close support planes still provided as much cover as they could yesterday, even tho forced to fly thru an area of 4,000 foot mountains when the ceiling was less than half that high.

The German air force, which was knocked flat by terrific allied bombings during the first days of the landing, yesterday showed increasing strength and made several determined attempts to smash thru the allied fighter screen over the beachhead.

Use Jet Glider Bombs.

A spokesman for the coastal air force said "The Germans are using all their heavy bomber forces in attacks on the allied invasion fleet off Nettuno." He said at least 10 per cent of the attacking bombers had been shot down.

The Germans used, among other weapons, a jet-propelled glider bomb that weighs well over 1,000 pounds. The glider bomb was reported not to have been as successful as regular torpedo plane attacks.

Two pilots from Chicagoland shot down Dornier 217s used to launch glider bombers. They were 2d Lt. Clyde S. Cleveland of Hammond, Ind., and 2d Lt. Arthur G. Johnson Jr. of Litchfield, Ill.

Fifteen Nazi planes were destroyed over Italy and the Balkans for an allied loss of 11—the highest losses in some weeks.

An allied staff officer revealed that the Germans did not know the invasion fleet was off Nettuno until 5 hours and 25 minutes after the landings started. He said that allied fighter planes flew more than 100 sorties over Naples harbor in the two days before the invasion began to keep the gathering ships from being spotted.

GERMAN WAR REPORT

Tuesday's German war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin said:

"In southern Italy, German troops in the western [Cassino-Garigliano] sector repulsed fresh enemy attacks, which have the support of artillery and aircraft, and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

"At several points in the Nettuno beachhead, the enemy attacked German outposts and was repulsed. German reconnaissance patrols took prisoners.

"The air force went into action with good success day and night, attacking the enemy's landing fleet off Anzio. According to reports so far available, three destroyers and a 6,000 ton merchantman were sunk. The destruction of another three ships with a total of 26,000 tons may be presumed as certain.

"Eleven transport vessels were damaged, some heavily."

U. S. PLANES FLY 2,000 MILES TO HIT MALAY PORT

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 25 (AP).—American heavy bombers have made a tremendous sweep into southernmost Burma, a round trip of more than 2,000 miles, to strike at Mergui on the Malay peninsula, the allied southeast Asia command announced today. The raid was made Sunday by bombers which attacked shipping at Mergut, a port at the mouth of the Tenasserim river.

The bulletin said Chinese troops clearing a route for the new Ledo road in northern Burma had pressed within 500 yards of Taihpa in the Hukawng valley and that other allied units had made gains both in the Chin hills area and in Arakan in western Burma. British-Indian troops in Arakan have pushed forward 12 miles in two months to regain approximately one-third of the ground they gave up last April.

British forces now are astride an irregular line, between Maungdaw and Buthedaung. They are 40 miles north of Donbaik on the Mayu peninsula and 30 miles north of Rathedaung. Fighting with bayonets, the allies took three hills three miles from Buthedaung yesterday.

YANKS RAID NAZI SUPPLY FUNNELS OF BALKAN LINES

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Jan. 25 (AP).—United States heavy bombers yesterday flew into the Balkans to rain explosives on the Bulgarian railroad junction of Vrattsa, near Sofia, and on Skoplje in Jugo-Slavia, another important point on the Nazis' Balkan supply lines.

Liberators and escorting Lightning fighter planes fought a 25 minute battle over Skoplje, meeting two waves of Nazi fighters totaling 35 planes. One Messerschmitt flew in so close that it collided with the tail of a Liberator. The German lost his wing and spun down, but the Liberator landed safely tho its right rudder was torn off.

Sgt. Howard B. Verduin of R. R. 3, Sheboygan, Wis., was tail gunner on the Liberator hit by the German plane.

[British bombers have heavily raided the Italian Adriatic port of Fiume, causing "considerable damage," a dispatch to Stockholm from Budapest said last night, quoting an official announcement from Zagreb.]

Yesterday's developments in the war in Italy.

YANKS IN TANKS CHASE GERMANS HOUSE TO HOUSE

Enemy Makes Every Building a Fort.

BY DON WHITEHEAD.

[Associated Press correspondent representing the combined U. S. press.]

ON THE 5TH ARMY BEACHHEAD SOUTH OF ROME, Jan. 25 [Delayed]—(AP).—Out in the flat, fertile plains south of Rome American troops supported by tanks are having to blast German machine gunners from every farmhouse in their drive across the Mussolini canal.

Hastily throwing up a defense against the swift 5th army drive inland from their Nettuno beachhead the Germans have evacuated Italians from their homes and turned each building into a fortress which the Yanks are attacking with tanks and machine guns.

Tanks Backing Infantry.

For the first time in the Italian campaign the Americans are fighting over country suitable for tanks, and armor is being used effectively to support infantry advances. Armor aided the doughboys in their push last night into enemy territory.

Late yesterday afternoon two units commanded by Capt. Bumleigh Packwood of Whitefish, Mont., and Capt. [Footsie] Britt of Lonoke, Ark., moved across the Mussolini canal to seize two road junctions.

Fifteen minutes after their attack began the fighting started and it continued all night long, but the Yanks drove the enemy back from house to house to reach their objective, even tho the Germans threw in reënforced units to halt them.

"Packwood chased the Germans all the way back to the objective," grinned Lt. Col. Lyle W. Bernard. "The boys went ahead against heavy machine gun and armored car fire."

Clean Out Gun Nest.

"Our men ran the Germans from house to house," said Capt. Charles Noble of Santa Ana, Cal. "When things got too hot in one house the krauts would drop back to another."

In one house the Germans had five machine guns set up. Packwood sent one unit under Lt. Philip Horan of Akron, O., out to clean them out with tank support and the troops assaulted the stronghold, driving the Germans out.

During the night the enemy brought troops in by truck and dropped them behind the doughboys on lateral roads, but in each case Packwood or Britt would send men back to wipe them out.

At one command post concealed in a grove of trees, tall, bearded Lt. Lewis F. Bixby, one time reporter on the Kalamazoo, Mich., Gazette, sauntered in with a report on a reconnaissance mission he made during the night behind enemy lines.

8,000 Yards Behind Nazis.

With Sgt. Verel E. Billerbeck, Martinton, Ill., Bixby slipped 8,000 yards behind the lines to obtain important information on enemy positions.

Bixby and his men lay beside a group of Germans and watched them shooting towards American lines.

"I've seen the Germans do a lot of shooting," he smiled, "but that is the first time I ever sat behind them and watched them at work."

TELLS ROME REACTION

BY WILLIAM STONEMAN.

[Chicago Daily News correspondent, representing the combined U. S. press.]
[Distributed by the Associated Press.]

WITH THE 5TH ARMY AT A BRIDGEHEAD SOUTH OF ROME, Jan. 24 [Delayed].—We were having a cup of coffee at the front lines with Capt. Gordon Keppee, battalion doctor, this morning when a gentleman appeared who had left Rome only Saturday noon. He reported the following items regarding the Italian capital:

1. Rome was astounded to hear of our landing here.
2. The Germans began evacuation of their hospital Saturday at noon, shortly after our successful landing became certain. Rome hotels had been full of German officers, he said, but they are leaving now.
3. No trains had left Rome for the south since Thursday night, when our bombers put the railways out of commission.
4. Life in Rome has been fairly normal. There is no starvation. The Germans have enforced a 7:30 p. m. curfew and have requisitioned all bicycles to frustrate patriotic squads who have bombed a number of hotels and German apartment buildings.
5. The German high command had promised the Vatican that national monuments would not be mined, and the impression is that they are not going to try to destroy the city.

Bombers Fly 5,000 Hours; Fight 8 Mins.; Sink—Subs

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Jan. 25 (AP).—A spokesman for the Mediterranean coastal command today revealed that one anti-submarine patrol of Liberators had flown 5,000 hours to put in just eight minutes of fighting. In that eight minutes they sank [number deleted by censor] submarines.

MORE RUMANIAN UNITS REPORTED AIDING GERMANS

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Jan. 24 [Delayed].—Rumania has just sent reënforcements to her troops aiding the Nazis on the Russian front, according to a dispatch from the Anatolia agency's Bucharest correspondent.

A railroad passing thru Cernauti in Bukovina has been requisitioned for troop trains, said the dispatch, and exportations of cattle and farm products from Bessarabia have been forbidden, indicating an effort to halt the evacuation of foodstuffs before the Russian advance.

This news indicated an axis "victory" in Bucharest. Many Rumanians are against the axis and for weeks there have been rumors that they wanted to get out of the war but did not know how.

Nazis Still Have Upper Hand.

An Istanbul dispatch a few days ago saying the Rumanians wanted peace and wanted to help the allies won keen interest here. However, the latest news from Rumania shows that, despite what the people want, the Germans still are able to tell the Rumanians what to do.

The Rumanians recently have been reported angling thru unofficial envoys in Turkey to learn what surrender terms they could get from the allies. However, the news that they have sent more troops to aid the hard pressed Nazis in Russia indicates these reports are not true or the Rumanians have changed their minds.

Rumanians Fear Russia.

Observers here agree Rumania fundamentally is anti-German, but even more anti-Communist, and fears the Russians so much that it has made the mistake of giving the Germans powerful aid at a terrific cost to Rumania in the fighting in southern Russia.

The latest reports, it was pointed out, show the Rumanians either are completely in the grip of the Nazis or have decided to stick with the axis, win or lose, and give the lie to stories that Rumania is ready for a separate peace.

PARTISANS LOSE ADRIATIC TOWN TO NAZI FORCES

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP).—The Jugo-Slav Partisan army has fallen back in a fighting withdrawal in the long and swaying battle 35 miles southeast of the naval base of Fiume, abandoning to the Germans the coastal town of Senj, the headquarters of Marshal Josip [Tito] Broz announced today. Tito's bulletin said that Chetniks under the rival Jugo-Slav leader, Gen. Draja Mihailovitch, had marched into Senj with the Germans.

The Partisans reported that they held firm in eastern Bosnia in a major struggle for the southern approaches to the Zagreb-Belgrade railway, one of the most essential lines of communications in all the Balkans. Fighting was reported from the Doboj-Tuzla sector and in the streets of Tuzla.

The 10,000 ton Liberty ship, Edward Henry Crockett, as it slid down ways yesterday at South Portland, Me.

South Portland, Me., Jan. 25 (AP).—Naming of a Liberty ship launched here today in honor of Edward Henry Crockett, Associated Press war correspondent killed in action, was fitting, John Evans, Associated Press executive said, because: "The beauty and real worth of freedom are ever in the minds of the American reporter abroad."

The American reporter, in contrast to the German reporter, Evans said, "everlastingly seeks to tell the story of things as they are, without propaganda trimmings so the people back home may know what goes on. Of that freedom of the press," he said, "Crockett, known as Harry to his colleagues, was a worthy exponent."

Crockett died in the torpedoing of the British minelayer Welshman in the Mediterranean while on assignment with the British fleet.

Mrs. Sally Dexter Crockett of Lowell, Mass., Crockett's widow, christened the vessel as it slid down the ways at the New England Shipbuilding corporation yard. Large AP logotypes were painted on each side of the vessel's bow.

ALLIES ATTACK NO. FRANCE AND DUTCH AIR FIELDS

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP).—Strong formations of allied bombers struck repeatedly at enemy installations in northern France today while American Thunderbolt fighters attacked enemy air fields at Gilzerijen and Leeuwarden, Holland.

R. A. F. dominion and allied medium bombers attacked military objectives in northern France, losing two fighters. No Thunderbolts were lost in the attack against Dutch air fields and on other offensive sweeps over the Zuider Zee area of Holland.

It was the third consecutive day of the cross-channel offensive.

[Germany's war report yesterday said: "American bombers on Monday penetrated into Reich territory. They jettisoned their bombs over some localities of western German frontier territory and caused small damage. Fifteen of them were brought down."]

'WE'LL NEVER BE NAZIS,' PLEDGES ARGENTINE CHIEF

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 25 (AP).—Reports from reliable quarters that Argentina intended to break relations with the axis gave a worldwide buildup to a radio speech by President Pedro Ramirez tonight. However, the president confined his talk to the recent San Juan earthquake and to a few remarks against Argentine Communists.

Authoritative Montevideo sources said that both United States Ambassador Norman Armour and British Ambassador David Victor Kelly, as well as Erich Otto Meynen, the German charge d'affaires, had received word from the Argentine foreign ministry yesterday that Argentina was preparing to sever relations with the axis. Ramirez said not a word about it in his broadcast.

The rupture with the axis remained a possibility, however. Some informed persons had predicted that it would occur "at any minute." Similarly trustworthy informants in Chile said it would come "before Saturday night."

Ready to Find Final Step.

Shortly before the president's talk, the Argentine foreign minister, Alberto Gilbert, told newspaper correspondents in Buenos Aires that Argentina was prepared to take "the final step" to eliminate all espionage activities which endanger the dignity of the nation.

The foreign minister told newspapermen they could draw their own conclusions to what was meant by "the final step."

Later four ranking colonels of Argentina's military government called at the foreign office, taking with them decisions reached at a meeting of army officers where for seven hours impending changes in the foreign policy of President Ramirez had been reported under discussion. The nature of these decisions and the "final step" to which Gilbert referred remained uncertain.

"Never Will We Be Nazis."

The British and United States ambassadors have been advised of the measures taken by the government to eliminate espionage. The extent, activities, and power of the espionage ring was disclosed by its ability to introduce an agent into Argentina's consular service.

Referring to Oscar Helmuth, seized by British authorities in Trinidad while en route to Barcelona, Spain, to assume a consular post, Gilbert said: "The government has decided that Nazi-Fascist activities will not prosper in the nation. Never will we be Nazis. We will not permit three or four madmen to attempt to change true nationalism."

The Montevideo radio, quoting a special correspondent in Buenos Aires, said Gilbert was reported to be trying to convince other members of the cabinet and members of the "colonels' clique" to agree to a break with the axis.

The lights still burned late tonight in the Argentine foreign office, where Gilbert and other high Argentine officials conferred.

The censored Argentine press carried such headlines as "Rupture Appears Imminent." The newspapers discussed with some heat the thesis that the Germans had taken advantage of Argentine neutrality by engaging in espionage.

Tending to support the predicted break, these items were listed:

1. Secretary of State Hull failed to make his widely expected accusation against Argentina as a followup on nonrecognition of the Bolivian regime. Sixteen Latin American nations have refused to recognize the Bolivian government. [Ecuador was the last.]
2. Enrique Ruiz Guinazu, former Argentine foreign minister and a leading backer of Argentine neutrality, resigned his job as ambassador to Spain.
3. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain announced in the house of commons that he had hoped the only German embassy now existing in the Americas would some day disappear. The British government announced its refusal to recognize the Bolivian military junta.

E. AFRICAN TRIBE TOO WARLIKE, SO IT'S NOT IN WAR

Other 'Askaris' Learning to Fight for Allies.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE CEYLON COMMAND, Jan. 24 [Delayed].—"They are children in nature, simple, loyal, and virile."

This was the way one high ranking officer today described the men under his command. These soldiers are Askaris, that is, they are natives of East Africa, from Kenya, Tanganyika, Uganda, and even Northern Rhodesia. My travels around Ceylon brought me to one of their camps.

Drill with Spirit.

The Askaris know plenty about life in the jungle even tho they may need some training in the tricks of modern warfare. They go thru their gun drill with spirit, precision, and speed. Their officers—many of them white residents from East Africa—are proud of them, and are sure they will give a good account of themselves in the coming struggle for the liberation of southeast Asia from the Japs.

Naturally they present special problems. To begin with, there is their language. All instructions are in Swaheli because among their tribal dialects it is the only one which all can understand. Some of them have been to mission schools or even now are learning a little English. The acquisition of a certain minimum entitles the Askari to wear a badge which certifies he is English speaking—after a fashion.

The Askari's idea of virility and social distinction is carrying and firing a gun, so it is difficult to get volunteers for noncombatant services. Nevertheless many of them now by necessity have been trained to drive motor cars. Most of these vehicles reach their destinations despite the Askari's reluctance to realize that brakes must sometimes be used. In workshops the Askaris are learning to do every sort of job from watch repairing and rebuilding small arms to reassembling truck engines.

Takes Time, but They Learn.

"They can learn to do any manual job if we just take enough patience with them," said an officer in charge of one workshop.

It is military practice to separate Askaris of the same community or tribe. Thus, there is less temptation to carry on ancient feuds. All East African tribes are represented here, I was told, except the Masais, the most warlike. The Masais, it appears, do not like uniforms, saluting, or standing at attention, and when it comes to homicide they prefer their ancestral methods.

With the Askaris, there also are problems of dress. They don't like to wear underpants. They would prefer to discard everything when they go bathing. Also, there is the army earlobe regulation. When a hole in any Askari's ear is worn big enough—from pushing thru it objects like salmon cans—and the lobe hangs down far enough to be looped up over the top of the ear, the Askari must loop it up, the army insists.

Follow Course of War.

The Askaris like hearing explanations week by week of the course of the war. Of course, maps puzzle some of them a bit. They have difficulty in grasping the idea of scale and get themselves into tangles over the problem of why a symbol does not coincide with reality.

One officer in the education and welfare department assured me the Askaris have proper sentiments. If there is one thing the Askari loathes, it is totalitarian aggression. Show him any totalitarian aggression or just a simple aggressor, and you'll get action. With this goes a virile passion for democracy and civilization.

4 CHICAGOLAND GUNNERS GIVEN NAVAL HONORS

Four members of a naval gun crew, two of them Chicagoans and the others from Indiana, went sleepless four days and nights to repulse 29 attacks of enemy planes on their convoy during the invasion of Sicily last July and won a letter of commendation from Adm. Randall Jacobs, chief of navy personnel, it was announced yesterday.

They were Arthur W. Golchert, 1645 LeMoyne street, and Walter H. Hartel, 10215 Avenue L, gunners mates, 3d class, and William D. Hatch, Mishawaka, Ind., coxswain, and Lloyd Foulkes Jr., Ossian, Ind., seaman 1st class.

"Your unit made at least three direct hits on attacking planes and was credited with the probable destruction of one and the possible destruction of two others," Adm. Jacobs wrote in congratulating them on the accuracy of their gunfire in the 29 actual attacks. These were exclusive of many other alarms, including submarine threats. The crew was credited with a "material contribution to the success of the operation."

CALLS HALIFAX'S PLAN A PERIL TO COMMONWEALTH

Unity Plea Untimely, Canadian Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 25.—British Ambassador Halifax's proposal that the dominions take a greater part in the framing of foreign and defense policies for the British commonwealth of nations, is "most inopportune," M. J. Coldwell, leader of the Coöperative Commonwealth Federation party, said today. Halifax voiced his appeal in Toronto, Ontario, yesterday.

"The genius of the British commonwealth is its recognition of basic unity in diversity," Coldwell said. "Lord Halifax now proposes that we abandon that historic principle and commit ourselves to united action no matter what the future may hold. Such rigidity would destroy the commonwealth, not strengthen it.

Sees Cause of Suspicion.

"In the five years before this war New Zealand's consistent and public dissent from the fatal policies pursued by the foreign office had no effect. I would not like to see Canada committed in advance to Tory-dominated foreign and colonial policies like those so consistently followed in the past.

"Lord Halifax's proposal is surely inopportune. To suggest, as he does, that the British commonwealth and empire constitute one of the four power blocs may invite further suspicion among our allies at a time when every attempt should be made to avoid it. We are all surely committed to the support of a world organization to secure international justice and to prevent war.

"Form of Isolationism."

"The new proposals in his lordship's speech seem to be a particularly dangerous form of isolationism, for the nations of the commonwealth and Great Britain's subject peoples would be ringed around economically and militarily from the rest of the world. Freedom from fear surely demands the abolition of power politics and economic privilege and the establishment of a basis for a world community of nations. Otherwise we must resign ourselves to preparation for a third world war.

"Canada, as the leading small nation among the united nations, should devote her influence and her energies to the expressions of a world viewpoint, the acceptance of which can alone guarantee both our prosperity and our safety."

Awaits King's Stand.

John Bracken, Progressive Conservative party leader, said the question raised by Halifax "is a matter of such wide import for the future of our nation within the whole world structure that I would hope it will not become the subject of small political discussion."

"The heads of the members of the commonwealth are to meet in London some time in the near future," Bracken observed, following which "I should like the prime minister [Mackenzie King] would then make known to the people of Canada what he considers to be the best road for this nation to follow."

TRUCK LOAD OF LINEN STOLEN.

Roger Azzarello, driver for the Ability Linen Supply company, reported to police yesterday that his truck, containing $1,500 in linens, was stolen from in front of 3011 Lake street.

One Plans Wedding

Two Waukegan brothers, who served 21 months aboard the same transport vessel in the South Pacific area, and a third brother, who was assigned to the same ship last November, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gehrls, 311 Lincoln avenue, Waukegan.

The sailors are Arnold, 22 years old, Howard, 24, and Harold, 28. Arnold has been on active duty in the navy since January, 1941. He previously had been a reservist. Howard enlisted July 7, 1941, and asked for assignment with his younger brother. Harold's assignment was a coincidence.

The transport aboard which the brothers served underwent 18 Japanese bombing attacks and was hit twice during 18 trips to Guadalcanal and four trips to Bougainville. In the bombing attacks six crewmen were killed, 17 were wounded, and two passengers were lost.

Howard Gehrls and Miss Peggy Kraushaar, 1013 Woodlawn avenue, Waukegan, will be married tomorrow. Harold's wife, Sigrid, 620 Jensen court, works in a Waukegan steel mill.

ARMY ANALYZES YANKS' LIKES IN LEISURE HOURS

Gen. J. W. Byron.

Movies, ice cream, cold drinks, candy, and music—in the order named—are the most important to America's fighting men overseas when they have a bit of leisure time, according to Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Byron, director of the special services division of the army service forces, who just completed a 100,000 mile tour of all battle fronts except Alaska.

Fighting men will sit in pouring rain for hours to watch a movie, Gen. Byron said, and they like to have a cool drink in their hands or a candy bar on which to munch.

Cigarets, contrary to some belief, are not a problem for the fighting man, except perhaps in the most advanced areas. There cigarets are issued daily at the rate of one package for each man. In safer areas in the rear, post exchanges are set up as rapidly as possible and cigarets are available in quantity.

Gen. Byron returned to Washington last night at the close of the semi-annual conference of special service officers from the nine service commands in the United States and the northwest command—Alaska. The conference made plans for extended operation of the army exchange service, the motion picture service, and recreational programs.

Report Hospital Ship Sunk as Nazis Bomb 3 Off Italy

New York, Jan. 25 (AP).—CBS Correspondent John Daly said in a broadcast dispatch from allied advance headquarters in Italy tonight that three hospital ships in Anzio bay, "lighted up like Christmas trees," had been bombed by German planes and that one of them, the St. David, was sunk. Lloyd's ship register lists the St. David as a 2,702 ton, 327 foot vessel built at London in 1932.

46 JAP PLANES DOWNED IN NEW RAID ON RABAUL

Rocket Guns Used

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Jan. 26 [Wednesday]. — The Americans used their new rocket guns from ships in the New Britain landings at Arawe and Cape Gloucester, as well as at Saidor in New Guinea, and in their ground attacks on the Gloucester air fields, it was disclosed by a spokesman today. First used on amphibious trucks at Arawe, the rockets burned everything over wide areas of the beaches. At Saidor the entire landing area was literally covered by flames. Correspondents saw these rocket shells hit and spread like burning balls.

ADVANCED HDQ., New Guinea, Jan. 26 [Wednesday] — (AP). — Allied fighters and bombers in second day visits to Lakunai airdrome at Rabaul, New Britain, shot down 46 Japanese planes, bringing to 64 the number of enemy aircraft destroyed over the important Nipponese base in two days against a loss of 11 allied planes.

The latest visits, on Sunday, reported in Gen. MacArthur's bulletin today, were made by escorted bombers before dawn and later by fighter planes. The bombers destroyed eight parked planes and 17 gun positions, started large fuel fires, and damaged a cargo vessel in Matupi harbor.

Enemy fighters which attempted to intercept the raiders were mauled, 32 of them being shot down and 14 more probably destroyed. The allies lost five planes.

Knock Down 14 More.

Later in the day allied fighters returned to Rabaul and knocked down 14 Japanese fighters and probably one more out of a force of 60. The attackers emerged without a loss.

Losses for both sides in air fighting over Rabaul since Jan. 1, based on official figures, stand at 243 Japanese planes shot down against 55 allied aircraft.

Medium bombers ranged to the Admiralty islands, northwest of New Britain, to set three 1,000 ton enemy cargo ships afire and bomb and strafe the Momote airdrome and jetty area at Lorengau.

The Australians have scored complete success in their operations in the Ramu valley of New Guinea, knocking the Japanese from strong positions on Kankiryo ridge in the northern part of Finisterre range. The Aussies are consolidating their holdings, perhaps for another jump northward toward the enemy bases at Bogadjim and Madang.

Bomb Wewak Again.

Bombers hit again at Wewak, the enemy's big plane base and troop center north of Madang. Numerous fires were started in the supply dumps and revetment areas at Wewak and Boram airdromes, and four enemy aircraft were destroyed on the ground.

Marine ground patrols on Cape Gloucester raided the Natamo area, near Borgen bay, killing 40 Japanese and destroying ammunition and supplies. Allied escorted medium bombers dropped 24 tons of explosives on enemy supply points in the Cape Hoskins area, starting fires.

Pound Marshalls Again.

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Jan. 25 (AP).—In the tenth raid in two days on the Marshall Islands, heavy bombers of the United States 7th air force dropped 50 tons of bombs on Wotje atoll Sunday, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

The bomb load equaled the heaviest bombardment since Maj. Gen. Willis H. Hale's group began battering the pinpoint islands in November. Adm. Nimitz' press release did not mention damage. No fighter opposition was encountered and all of our planes returned safely.

It was the third strike in four days at Wotje, and the eighth this month.

Young Air Hero Gets Guardians

THREE SELECTED TO GUARD $13,000 FOR YOUNG HERO

19 Now, He Will Get Fund When 21.

Three guardians were appointed yesterday by Judge John F. O'Connell of Probate court to administer a fund of $13,000 for Lt. Bruno Godlewski, 19 years old, a Chicago boy who lost his right hand and most of his left arm in a bombing mission over Essen, Germany, last March 5.

The money was raised among Chicago Poles by the Polish National alliance. Bruno received his injuries while flying for the Free Polish air force, which he joined in Canada in 1941, after he had been rejected by the United States army air forces because he was too young.

Mother One of Guardians.

Guardians who will have charge of the fund until Bruno is 21 are his mother, Mrs. Catherine Godlewski, 2048 Shakespeare avenue; Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, and Charles Rozmarek, president of the Polish alliance.

Bruno was tail gunner in a Polish crew manning a Wellington bomber, operating from England. He was on his 11th mission when the plane was attacked by nine German fighters.

Wounded; Stays at Post.

Bruno was shot in both arms and the chest, but stayed at his guns and gave the pilot directions how to evade the attackers until he fell unconscious. He had shot down three enemy planes. Three hours later the plane arrived in England and crashed in landing. Bruno spent seven months in hospitals. He arrived home in December, with six medals.

The medals include Poland's highest award, the Virtuti Militari, and the Polish cross of valor, the American distinguished flying cross, the British distinguished flying medal, the American air force medal, and the Purple Heart.

CHICAGOAN GETS CAP FROM FIRST CAPTURED JAP

[By a marine corps combat correspondent.]

CAPE GLOUCESTER, New Britain [Delayed].—Corp. Bernard H. Jakalsky of 8543 Colfax avenue, Chicago, is the proud possessor of the cap of the first Jap to be captured on this beachhead.

The marines found a dugout which hadn't been cleaned out by the assault troops and tossed a grenade into it; then they went in and found five Japs whom they believed to be dead. Jakalsky took a cap from one of them. Next day Pvt. Jack Wine, souvenir hunting, entered the dugout and found the same Jap huddling, unwounded, with a knife pressed to his breast.

Wine kicked away the knife and took the Jap to a field hospital, where a doctor found he had been merely playing possum.

HONGKONG AIR FIELD RAIDED BY STILWELL'S MEN

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 25 (AP).—American Mitchell bombers, some piloted by Chinese, raided the Kaitak air field at Hongkong Sunday without loss, Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters in China announced today.

The bulletin disclosed that the bombers and their escort of fighters had encountered heavy opposition, but said all planes returned safely after shooting down one Zero.

The bulletin also said Mitchells of the Chinese-American wing had attacked a convoy off the South China coast, probably sinking one 5,600 ton freighter.

REDS PUSH NAZIS FARTHER AWAY FROM LENINGRAD

Enter Rail City's Suburbs 30 Miles to South.

LONDON, Jan. 26 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Russian troops have fought their way into the streets of Krasnogvardeisk, rail junction 30 miles southwest of Leningrad, Moscow announced today.

Other forces to the east sent the Germans into retreat from their last 50 mile hold on the Moscow-Leningrad trunkline.

In still a third sector of the northern front, about 100 miles southeast of Leningrad, another Red army advanced to within artillery range of the last of the two German escape routes to the south.

Chasing the Germans into Krasnogvardeisk, Russia's Leningrad armies continued the pursuit into the streets of the town where the rail lines from Estonia and Latvia meet. A town nine miles to the east and another six miles west of the rail junction were captured.

7,000 Germans Slain.

The Moscow midnight bulletin reported that 1,000 Germans were killed in this advance.

The push from the east, aimed at freeing the last portion of the Leningrad-Moscow double track rail line from the Germans, reached the railway at several places. The Germans were in steady retreat but still were able to mine roads and blow up bridges.

In the Russian advance from Novgorod, 100 miles southeast of Leningrad, one of the captured towns is nine miles east of the Leningrad-Vitebsk railroad, within range of big soviet guns. Thus the value of this line as a retreat from Leningrad was considerably decreased, throwing the main weight of Nazi withdrawal on the last line available—the Leningrad-Pskov-Warsaw line.

Nazis Rush Reënforcements.

Eight hundred Germans were killed, two regiments smashed and many of their men taken prisoner in this fighting, the Russians said.

The Germans were rushing reënforcements from Latvia and Estonia to meet the advancing Russians in Leningrad and Novgorod areas.

Far to the south in the Ukraine the Germans were counter-attacking against Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's southern wing which was menacing the Ukrainian Bug river and the Rumanian frontier. The Germans threw large forces into a narrow sector east of Vinnitsa but failed to make gains, the Russians said, after the Nazis lost 1,500 men, 63 tanks and guns, and 31 planes.

GERMAN WAR REPORT

Following is the German Tuesday war report, as broadcast by Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press:

"Near Kerch [Crimea] the Russians increased their pressure. Enemy attacks by tank and infantry and supported by aircraft are still in progress.

"Northwest of Kirovograd [Dnieper bend] the soviets attacked with several divisions. They were defeated after fluctuating fighting. One penetration area has been reduced in a counter-attack.

Nazis Report Success.

"Southwest of Pogrebishche [about 125 miles northwest of Kirovograd] German troops effectively supported by artillery and the air force, captured strongly fortified enemy positions after hard fighting. Soviet counter-attacks were unsuccessful. Fighting is still in progress.

"Between the Pripet and Berezina rivers [White Russia] the Russians resumed their fierce attempts at a break-thru but failed. Several penetration areas were sealed off.

"North of Lake Ilmen and south of Leningrad, the Russians continued their breakthru attacks with increasing fury. At some sectors they were repelled or halted. At several points, bitter fighting with advancing enemy contingents still is in progress."

ADMINISTRATION PUTS OFF ACTION ON YANK VOTING

Delaying Tactics Hit in House Speech.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—House Democratic leaders, who had previously promised to call up soldiers' voting legislation for floor debate tomorrow, announced today that the measure will not be submitted until next Tuesday.

This about face was immediately interpreted by congressmen sponsoring the bill—which would retain control over service men's voting in state hands—as an effort to gain support, thru delay, for the administration's plan for federal supervision of service balloting.

Rep. Vursell [R., Ill.] charged in a statement that the administration, by this latest maneuver, hopes to get support for its plan in the house by first forcing it thru the senate, which will resume debate on the issue tomorrow. Vursell wrote most of the pending house bill which was approved by a 7-5 vote in the elections committee, of which he is a member.

Post-war Issue First.

The administration's strategy came to light today, when Majority Leader McCormack [D., Mass.] told the house the vote question would be postponed to make way for other measures. He mentioned as deserving prior consideration a bill on soldier's discharge pay, and resolutions to investigate two federal judges in Pennsylvania and to set up a house committee on post-war economic policy. Vursell disagreed with this view.

"The resolution to investigate judges was not introduced until yesterday," Vursell said, "and the post-war resolution was just approved by the rules committee today. The soldiers' vote bill has been pending for months.

"The majority leader and others in control of legislation have again delayed this vital legislation—obviously under orders from the other end of Pennsylvania avenue [the White House].

Blames Administration.

"Apparently they are more interested in post-war planning than giving soldiers a vote.

"The state officials who are waiting to learn what congress does, and the service men who want to vote can place the blame directly on the administration for blocking this legislation for nearly two months.

"The majority party has denied the peoples' representatives a right to express their will on this measure, because they know it will pass the house.

"They have delayed a vote in the hope that by turning all the pressure of the administration on the senate, they can pass the Green-Lucas [federal vote plan] bill, already defeated once in that body. That bill, with its bobtailed ballot, would serve their political purposes best, but it would cheat the soldiers out of a chance to vote."

17 SHIPS SUNK BY CHENNAULT'S MEN IN MONTH

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commanding the 14th air force in China, reported today that his planes during December sank 17 enemy ships totaling 30,000 tons. In addition, Chennault reported to Gen. H. H. Arnold, air forces commander, his planes probably sank four ships totalling 6,000 tons, damaged six totalling 22,000 tons, and sank or damaged 163 smaller boats.

Sent on the occasion of the Chinese new year today, Chennault's message relayed to Arnold "the expression of confidence and appreciation that we have received from the Chinese people," and referred to the progressive accomplishments of his air force for December.

These accomplishments, said Arnold, included the destruction of six times as many enemy aircraft in the air and on the ground as were lost to enemy action.

BEST MEAT GOES ABROAD, SENATE INQUIRY TOLD

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 [Special].—Millions of pounds of less desirable cuts of pork are going on American tables and into packers' rendering vats while prime cuts are shipped abroad under lend-lease, a senate banking and currency subcommittee was told today.

Another charge placed before the committee was that 500,000 pounds of edible pork goes to waste on the market each day because of the government's present price and rationing restrictions. One witness predicted a meat shortage within four months because producers have been forced to cut their 1944 programs.

4,000 Hogs Suffocated.

The committee heard that abnormal meat shipments caused 20,000 pounds of meat to go to waste in Richmond, Va., in the week Dec. 6-11, and listened to a statement by Sen. Butler [R., Neb.] that 4,000 hogs died of suffocation and other causes at the Omaha stockyards on a recent week-end.

Convened for a hearing on a resolution by Sen. Thomas [R., Idaho] advocating a temporary suspension of all meat rationing, the senators were informed by George A. Casey, Philadelphia, chairman of the National Independent Meat Packers' association, and J. H. Meek, director of the Virginia state division of markets, that this step should have been taken in December.

Ration Suspension Urged.

Meek said he thought rationing, particularly of pork, should be suspended thru February to drain off the existing surplus. Casey said it is his opinion the record hog crop has now passed its peak and there is danger it might dry up if all rationing should now be removed. He recommended eliminating the rationing on certain items, particularly sausages.

Casey testified that a minimum of 500,000 pounds of "edible offals"—such as pork hocks, snouts, knuckles, and stomachs—are being thrown into rendering vats daily because of a war food administration order limiting the time such meats can be stored.

"WFA and lend-lease officials should consult with our allies and require them to take their share of the edible offals, and not just the choice cuts, leaving the bulk of the offals to the people at home," he said.

Lend-Lease Fills Storage.

Sidney Rabinowitz, vice president of the National Association of Non-Slaughtering Meat Processors and Wholesalers, Inc., testified that 85 million pounds of a special soy bean sausage made exclusively for lend-leasing to the British is cluttering up Boston storage warehouses.

As a result of this congestion of storage space, edible pork products used by Americans must be removed, probably to spoil, Rabinowitz said. He explained that an oversupply of sausage had been made for the British when the submarine menace was bad and that it had been in storage ever since.

"Let the British eat it," he demanded. "They ordered it. Send it to them in place of some of our best pork cuts we have been sending them."

Shortage Predicted.

Meek based his prediction of a meat shortage on a statement that prices and ceilings have been held too low while feed and other costs have gone up sharply. This has forced producers to throw their live stock on the market, he said. Many live stock producers have become discouraged and are cutting down their 1944 programs, he declared.

Inquiry in Omaha brought a statement from E. A. Kelloway, secretary of the Omaha Live Stock exchange, that on Jan. 17 the South Omaha yards handled 62,997 hogs—nearly twice the previous record for a single day's receipts—and on that day suffered a loss of 205 head. He denied that 4,000 hogs had died on any one week-end.

CHARGES ENEMY OF RUSSIA LEADS POLISH TROOPS

Exile Regime Scolded by Red Paper.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The Communist Daily Worker today ignored Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's pleas that the less said about Polish-Russian relations the more easily can the deadlock be solved.

It published a bitter denunciation of the Polish government in exile here. Editorially the paper described the Polish government as a "clique of militarists, landowners, and politicians." It said Polish fighting forces are led by "pro-fascist Gen. Sosnkowski, a sworn enemy of the soviet union."

Assails "Reactionaries."

The Daily Worker charged that the British government was turning a blind eye to the "concerted campaign" by reactionaries here to prevent a solution of the Polish question. It did not indicate any line on which the frontier dispute could be solved except as dictated by Moscow.

What the Poles need, according to the Daily Worker, is "national leadership capable of uniting their struggle against Hitler." This, it said, can be found among the Poles fighting alongside the Red army, Polish guerillas in Poland itself, and "Polish democrats of eminence and learning both in Britain and America."

See Soviet Dictation.

Political observers here say that the Russians have made it difficult for the Polish government in London to change its membership so that it would be acceptable to Moscow. They maintain that whatever changes are made they obviously would be the result of soviet dictation.

German propaganda agencies have predicted such changes will be made. Some observers say any such shakeup would increase the embarrassment of the British foreign office and the United States state department, since a reshaping of the Polish government in London would make it appear that the Germans were right and that America and Britain had no word in the matter.

Venereal Ills Called Ontario's Big Problem

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 25 [Special]. — "Venereal disease has become the greatest single public health problem in Ontario," R. P. Vivian, provincial minister of health, told the luncheon meeting of the Progressive Conservative business men's club Tuesday. "Sweden," he said, "had 14 cases of venereal disease per 100,000 of population in 1938. Norway had 24 per 100,000 between 1933 and 1939. In Ontario in 1943 there was the staggering total of 175 persons with syphilis per 100,000 population."

SLASH IN FATHER DRAFT FORESEEN IN TRAINING CUT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—The house military committee soon may recommend abolition of a large part of the army's specialized training program in a move designed to save an estimated 200,000 pre-war fathers from military induction.

Committee members made this disclosure privately today as they neared completion of closed hearings on the extent and value of the program.

A survey of the committee indicated overwhelming sentiment against continuing the student training at present rates and a feeling that the entire undertaking, with the possible exception of dental and medical training, should be stopped.

Reduction in Funds.

To put weight into its recommendations, expected to be made within the next few weeks, the committee is considering asking the house appropriations committee to cut off any further funds for the program.

The military committee's recommendations would not affect the separate programs for training engineers, and men for military government operations abroad.

It would, however, have a direct bearing on an estimated 140,000 young soldiers now in colleges and universities studying dentistry, surgery, medicine, languages, and a wide range of other subjects.

Favor Continuation.

Figures submitted by army officials, committee members said, showed that, of the total of 140,000 students in the specialized courses, only an approximate 15,000 are dental or medical students. Committee members generally favored continuation, with some curtailments, of the medical and dental programs.

Counting the officer personnel needed for training and maintenance of the program, committee members estimated at least 150,000 soldier-students could be released for combat duty if all except the medical and dental courses were stopped. This is in addition to an estimated 60,000 students being trained by the navy.

SERVE SUBPENA ON EX-GERMAN IN WAR JOB PROBE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—Hans Wilhelm Rohl, German born and recently naturalized contractor, has been subpenaed by house military affairs committee investigators in connection with an inquiry into secret contracts granted him for construction of military installations at key strategic centers, it was learned tonight. The subpena was issued to prevent Rohl from leaving the United States. No date has been set for his appearance before the committee.

It is anticipated in congress that the investigation, launched Dec. 2, will uncover a major scandal reaching into high places. The contracts covered military installations at Pearl Harbor, in Alaska and other outposts and reportedly were awarded to Rohl before he became a citizen.

The committee is particularly interested in reports that evidence of Rohl's clouded citizenship was presented to Atty. Gen. Biddle months ago—long before it was developed by a California legislative committee on un-American activities.

THRONGS CHEER G. O. P. CARAVAN AS DRIVE OPENS

'America for Americans' Plea Hailed.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lawrenceville, Ill., Jan. 25.—Opening of the state Republican primary campaign became a triumphant tour as the seven leading candidates were applauded by an overflow crowd in the courthouse here tonight.

All day the voters filled meeting halls and lined the walls as the Republican caravan, starting on a state-wide tour, moved thru Effingham, Toledo, Newton, Robinson, and Lawrenceville. The audiences nodded approval and interrupted with applause when Gov. Dwight H. Green and Richard J. Lyons, candidate for United States senator, pleaded for an "America for Americans."

The listeners were not job holders, nor political hangers-on. They came in overalls, from the banks, the stores, and the homes.

'Anybody but Willkie.'

"Anybody but Willkie" was the consensus of persons questioned concerning a Republican candidate for President. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gen. MacArthur were the names most often mentioned in post-meeting discussions. Some, however, indicated they thought "maybe MacArthur should be left where he is doing a good job."

In Effingham more than 300 packed the courthouse from 10 a. m. until noon to hear Green, Lyons, Lt. Gov. Hugh Cross, Arnold P. Benson, candidate for secretary of state; Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett, Earle B. Searcy, candidate for clerk of the Supreme court, and Conrad F. Becker, candidate for state treasurer.

Applause for Lyons.

Lyons continued to gather the major share of the voiced audience approval with his demand that returning service men be cared for before any dreamlike plans are conjured up for a world-wide union.

"Here in Illinois," he told his audiences, "the people understand the choice that is before them in this year of decision of 1944. They know the welfare of America will not be achieved thru the schemes and dreams of Washington theorists. They know that ahead of us is a lot of hard work; they know that to succeed we must get back to the fundamentals of the American Constitution. We must unshackle American business and American labor and revert to the public economy of Benjamin Franklin and Alexander Hamilton."

Warning by Benson.

Benson urged unity behind the war effort, but warned that in gaining that unity America must not lose its form of government. He outlined the duties of the secretary of state and told his listeners they were not taking full advantage of the facilities of the office.

Green reminded the audiences they could extend the record of Illinois economy to the nation by electing a Republican President. He said the state had piled up an excess of 70 millions of dollars thru ordinary economy.

Barrett earned noisy approval with his statement that "America needs genuine Americanism."

"The New Deal had its opportunity and it chose to saddle the American people with an un-American philosophy of government," he said. "It failed. The voters in the November election will turn the New Dealers out of office."

New Deal Regimentation.

Searcy told his listeners that Americans will not accept the New Deal idea of regimentation as a substitute for freedom, nor rule by burocratic and executive edict instead of by law.

"The New Deal, for 10 years, cunningly has worked toward undermining the American free ballot system," he said. "The New Deal is against the two party system. On Jan. 11 President Roosevelt, in a public utterance, implied that there must be an end to partisanship. What Roosevelt meant was: 'Let's abolish every vestige of political thought and action in this republic except the New Deal.' This is a brazen, immoral, unpatriotic, un-American doctrine."

Club Is Set Up to Boom Kaiser for Presidency

Incorporation papers were issued yesterday by the secretary of state to the Henry J. Kaiser for President Clubs, 134 North La Salle street. Incorporators are Atty. Vandorf Gray, H. F. Flahavhan, and P. E. Price. Kaiser is a Republican.

KELLY SUPPORTS ALD. BUDINGER AS 1ST WARD RULER

The power-drive of young Fred Morelli for the scepter passed by Michael [Hinky Dink] Kenna to Joe Clark for Democratic rule of the famous 1st ward yesterday ran into a quiet word from Mayor Kelly. Said the mayor: "I would like to see Ald. John Budinger elected committeeman."

Ald. John Budinger.

Morelli long has aimed at the committeemanship. He formed the 1st Ward Civic council with a roster of important names. Ald. Budinger has been helping him.

"I don't know what I'll do," Morelli said. "This is a thunderbolt."

Kelly also said that the organization candidate for committeeman in the 5th ward [Hyde Park] will be Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes. Committeeman David Eichner does not have Hodes' "facilities" for the job, the mayor said.

State Sen. William J. Connors got the mayor's nod for reëlection as committeeman of the 42d ward [near north side], where Kelly lives.

Why city hall Democrats blocked the soldier voting bill for the April 11 primary in the Illinois legislature will be explained today by Minority Leader Richard J. Daley of the senate. He will address the Federation of Illinois Women's Democratic Clubs in the Morrison hotel.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—Latest available figures on American war casualties total 142,289, including 32,662 killed in action, the office of war information announced today. They cover navy casualties thru Jan. 22 and army losses thru Dec. 31.

Navy casualties were listed as 35,572, with 15,520 dead, 7,206 wounded, 8,562 missing, and 4,284 captured by the enemy.

Army casualties to the end of December totaled 106,717, with 17,142 killed, 39,917 wounded, 24,137 missing, and 25,521 prisoners of war.

BRITISH AND U. S. PAPERS SPLIT ON A FOURTH TERM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—Capital polittical circles today were occupied with two widely divergent views on President Roosevelt's fourth term campaign—full indorsement in a leading British journal and solemn disapproval in an equally prominent American newspaper.

The Yorkshire Post, which is widely known as the mouthpiece of British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, yesterday made an implied plea for Mr. Roosevelt's election by acclaiming him as an irreplaceable national leader.

Simultaneously, the traditionally Democratic Baltimore Sun urged the President "to think soberly about himself" in an editorial which clearly calls for rejection of the fourth term nomination advanced at the recent meeting here of the Democratic national committee.

Finds Him Handicapped.

The British publication asserts Mr. Roosevelt is handicapped by the Constitution, in that he has insufficient power to make for national unity. The Sun, which is the first Democratic paper to take a firm stand on the fourth term issue, insists Mr. Roosevelt has grasped more power than any American executive has ever held and has employed it to the full.

The Yorkshire Post says "the rising tide of selfish partisanship and acrimonious political controversy" in the United States is due to the belief that the war is as good as won and to the fact that "Roosevelt cannot give his countrymen the same leadership that Churchill gives to us."

"He [the President] is handicapped by the American Constitution," the British paper states.

Finds F. D. R. Slipping.

The Baltimore Sun holds that Mr. Roosevelt is in a special position because he has demonstrated his power to uproot the third term tradition and because:

"In the second place, he has developed the powers of the chief executive to a point to which they never before have been reached. He has appointed a Supreme court which has confirmed him and perhaps all his successors in the exercise of these extended powers."

The Sun states altho Mr. Roosevelt today stands at the peak of his fame, "there is reason to believe, that from this point forward, his progress is more likely to be downward than upward."

Not Promoting Unity.

The Sun says today Mr. Roosevelt has lost control of congress and states that he is not promoting national unity.

"For good or ill, his political method has had the effect not of uniting this country but of dividing it," the Sun states. "His administrative ineptitude, his lighthearted parrying of important questions, his improvisations, his willingness to abandon principle for the sake of immediate advantage—all these things have proved the suppleness of his intellect and his ability to by-pass thorny problems.

"But they have had the dangerous effect of unsettling the people, arousing suspicions and piling up resentments. These resentments cannot be dissipated by verbal agility. They will carry on until the election and beyond it.

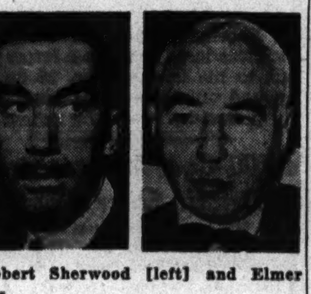
"The time has come for Mr. Roosevelt to think soberly about himself."

WHO'S RUNNING OWI? ASK F. D. R. TO SETTLE ROW

Expect Sherwood or Davis to Resign.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—A disagreement between Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, and Robert Sherwood, OWI director of overseas operations, has reached the point where the President has been asked to act as referee, informed sources said tonight.

Davis has requested the President to decide who's running the agency, these informants said, expressing belief that Mr. Roosevelt's decision may result in the resignation of one of the two.



Robert Sherwood [left] and Elmer Davis.

Davis' office here had no comment except to say that "the whole matter is in the hands of President Roosevelt." Davis was in New York, and Sherwood declined to discuss the matter.

Dismissals Ordered.

Davis was pictured as feeling that officials of the overseas branch in New York, where most of the psychological warfare operations are centered, were "running away with OWI."

The OWI chief was said to have directed Sherwood to dismiss three top officials of the New York office—Joseph Barnes, deputy OWI director in charge of Atlantic operations; Edd Johnson, chief of OWI's editorial board, and James Warburg, deputy director in charge of psychological warfare.

Sherwood, noted playwright and friend of the President, reportedly refused and rebeled at making organizational changes of which the dismissals were a part. Davis' proposed shuffling of the overseas division, it was reported, would have had the effect of restoring more authority over the overseas operation to the OWI headquarters in Washington.

Appeals to President.

The dispute assertedly reached the showdown stage about three weeks ago with Davis flatly ordering the reorganization and Sherwood asserting he would appeal to Mr. Roosevelt. He is reported to have done so on a personal visit to the White House.

Davis countered with a written communication to the President, which, it was said, had the effect of calling on Mr. Roosevelt to decide whether he was director of OWI or not.

Gen. Connolly Winds Up Tour of Russian Fronts

MOSCOW, Jan. 25.—Maj. Gen. Donald H. Connolly, head of the United States army's Persian gulf command, today completed a 40 day inspection tour of Russian war fronts and supply lines. He praised the accomplishments and fortitude of the Red army and soviet people generally and condemned "unjustified German ruthlessness and brutality in occupied territory."

U. S. WATCHING MIDWEST, G. O. P. WOMEN ADVISED

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 25 [Special].—America is on its way to a Republican victory this fall, Mrs. W. Glenn Suthers, Chicago, president of the National Federation of Republican Women, told G. O. P. women of Milwaukee county in the assembly room of the City club, 756 North Milwaukee street, here today.

Mrs. Suthers, who was introduced by Mrs. Westley Tuttle, Milwaukee, state president of the organization, told the audience she had just visited 30 states, that the rest of America is looking toward the Mississippi valley. "As they go the country will go," she said.

Mrs. Suthers asserted that the years of revolution and evolution are past; that 1944 is the year of decision. She called it "the most important year in the nation's history."

She Resents Criticism.

The speaker asserted she resented criticism of the attitude of American women toward the war, and "governmental criticism of their lack of activity."

"Nobody wanted this war and nobody understands it now," she said. "Nevertheless we must and will win it in the full military sense. As to extending our government to the nations of the world, setting it up and paying for it, that idea is ridiculous. Eighty per cent of the people of the world are not ready or willing to accept our form of government. We should not try to give it to them, but to lead them by example. That example can best be shown by unity within ourselves."

Mrs. Suthers said the present administration has done everything it can to disunite the country; that it has used class warfare as one of its governmental instruments.

Conflict of Ideologies.

She said the fall election will be a conflict of ideologies—a contest between the Republican ideal of Americanism based upon constitutional government and "basically un-American theories of the New Deal administration."

"President Roosevelt has stated that Dr. New Deal is dead. Let us bury him with full military honors next fall," she said.

Mrs. Suthers asserted it is contrary to every American principle of free selection that the country should have one man rule for 12 years, "or possibly 16, or possibly for life, or possibly for as long as it is his pleasure to stay."

She said government by edict and decree is un-American; that since 1932 it has become standard, and that the office of price administration is a serious infringement on the rights of every citizen. Ridiculing its directives, she read from many of them. "The men sitting in Washington getting up these gems should be in the army fighting for their country," she said.

Hits Easy Money Philosophy.

Mrs. Suthers condemned what she called "the WPA philosophy of easy money—spend and spend and tax and tax." She warned her audience that the children and grandchildren of those present would have to foot the bill. She cited instances of extravagant spending.

Discussing "the alien philosophy of the New Deal," the speaker stated that setting class against class "is one of the oldest tricks known to history"; that divide and rule has been the guiding policy of many historic states.

LETTERS STOLEN FROM FILES OF PACIFIST GROUP

Names of Prominent Men Mentioned.

New York, Jan. 25 (AP).—Peace Now, an organization advocating a negotiated peace, reported today its files had been burglarized of letters from Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.] and copies of letters to other men prominent in public life.

In Washington, Wheeler said he did not recall writing to the organization, but that if he did it was only an acknowledgment of something it had sent him.

Cash Is Untouched.

Miss Bessie Simon, national secretary of the organization, said the missing correspondence included copies of letters written to former President Herbert Hoover, Charles A. Lindbergh, and Gen. Robert Wood. She added that $100 in cash was untouched.

Hoover, Lindbergh, and Gen. Wood were not available for comment. Miss Simon said Hoover had not replied to the letter sent him.

Won't Stay Long.

She made public a copy of the letter written to Hoover, in which she said:

"I do wish you would let me come and tell you about our work. I promise not to stay long."

The organization has expressed belief that an immediate peace would be preferable to the loss of life that would be entailed in fighting to force the enemy to surrender unconditionally.

War Plants Need Them —and at Once!

and my husband and younger daughter leave at 8.

"After school my little girl does the dishes and makes the beds, in exchange for an allowance. I'm home at 4:15 p. m., in plenty of time to market and prepare dinner. I do the laundry one evening each week, and the ironing on Sundays. Shirley is quite a help. After all, she has a boy friend in Alaska, besides two brothers overseas."

Both women work a 48 hour week at the plant.

Prefers Factory to Office.

Miss Ruth Nelson, 4050 Greenview avenue, who was employed in an office for six years before the urgency of war work attracted her to a factory, said she much prefers the latter. "I have relatives in the service," she explained. "Besides, I save a lot of time because I work in my own neighborhood."

An attractive redhead, Mrs. Shirlee Franklin, celebrated her 18th birthday on the assembly line at E. H. Scott Radio Laboratories, Inc. Her blue eyes sparkled as she revealed that she has a 10 month old baby who is cared for during the day by her mother in their home at 4022 North Francisco avenue.

"My husband sent congratulations when he heard that I was working on radar," she said. "After all, he is assigned to PT boats in the Southwest Pacific, and he knows how crucial is the need."

Mrs. Franklin started work at the plant when her baby was only 2½ weeks old. "I had to do something," she said simply. "I hate not seeing the baby all day, but it's better than losing the war."

Beauty Queens on the Job.

Margaret Parisi, 19, of 3236 Wilson avenue, who has just been nominated as radar-radio queen to represent the Scott plant in an industry-wide beauty contest at a rally Feb. 11 in Medinah temple, has worked in the company office for the last year. Absenteeism has been no temptation to Miss Parisi since last Christmas. On the same day that she received a wristwatch from her fiance, word came that he had been killed in a plane crash while on duty overseas.

Mrs. Margaret Burns, 2545 Argyle street, had never worked outside her home until two sons and three nephews joined the army.

"I suddenly realized that I had to get out of the house to rid my mind of fear," she said. "My husband served in France two years in the last war, so he realized my need to feel essential."

Mrs. Burns said she has never failed to have breakfast and dinner ready on time for her husband and their 15 year old daughter, altho she works a 48 hour shift. She said she does all her own housework and marketing, because the factory work is not tiring.

Mrs. Arline Jones, 22, of Skokie, was a cashier in a food store until a year and a half ago. Then her husband of three months left for the army. Casting about for a way to help, Mrs. Jones heard her seaman brother-in-law describe the importance of radios and radar on ships. Now she is a solderer "for the duration."

Back Up Their Fighting Kin.

The list of enthusiastic women who are backing up their husbands and sons on the assembly line is endless. There is Mrs. Christine Chwalisz, 2138 Lyndale street, who has two young sons at home. A neighbor woman takes care of the children before and after school hours, until Mrs. Chwalisz reaches home shortly after 4 p. m.

"My whole family is proud of my progress here," she said. "I started as a solderer, and now I'm subtesting channels with ear phones."

There is also Mrs. Jane George, 1639 Belmont avenue, whose husband is a camera technician in the air forces. Until two years ago she was a comptometer operator. Altho the salary check was unchanged, the lure of essential war work proved irresistible when her brothers in the navy told her the importance of radar.

A survey of the radar-radio industry in Chicago reveals that the work is pleasant, tho occasionally tedious. A spirit of comradeship exists in each small plant. In many of the factories free coffee is served three times daily during rest periods. Nearly all of the women seem aware of the importance of their work in the larger panorama of a world at war, and 90 per cent have relatives in the army or navy.

Among the radar-radio industries scattered thruout the city and its suburbs are the following firms which hope to recruit patriotic women:

Aladdin Radio Industries, 501 West 35th street.

Anchor Tool and Die company, 2215 South St. Louis avenue.

The women workers at the Scott laboratories, however, average 80 cents an hour, C. L. Coon, personnel and production manager, revealed, and are paid for 52 hours weekly, altho they work 48.

FRIEND TELLS LIFE STORY OF MRS. WILLIAMS

Fails to Reveal Clew to Hidden Murder Motive.

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Mystery deepens around the murder of Adele Swabaker Born Williams. What was the motive for the fatal shooting in room 836 of the Drake hotel? Was it a planned theft of her valuable gems? Was the slayer an embittered servant, who pulled the trigger of a 25 year old gun?

To find the answer to the riddle city police and detectives of the state's attorney's office are delving into every corner of Adele Williams' life. They seek to find a clew that may lay hidden in her childhood, her glamorous young womanhood, or in the role she so successfully played as a diplomat's wife.

Why did her family love her and yet fear her tongue? Why, as a woman of great culture, was she a loud spoken, garrulous person? Why, as a shrewd manager of her financial affairs, did she refuse to spend a dime for property insurance?

Close Friend Discusses Case.

Seeking an answer to these questions, I talked last night with one of Mrs. Williams' closest and most intimate friends, a woman who played with her as a child, who shared her school books, and who grew up beside her into maturity.

But Adele Williams remains an engima.

What was her childhood?

"Adele Swabaker grew up as the older of two little girls and spoiled darling of an indulgent father," her friend maintained. "She was reserved, almost timid. Her mother often begged her to go out and play with the other little girls, but she was self sufficient, a trait that followed her all thru her life. Adele preferred her books and her fastidiously dressed dolls. I remember once I broke her doll and she became so angry that I was frightened."

Ambitious for Education.

What was her young womanhood?

"As Adele grew up and spent several years abroad, she became more sociable, witty and brilliant. She was ambitious to continue her education and, after graduating from Loring School for Girls, she attended St. Elizabeth's college in New Jersey. All the time she kept her own counsel and decided her own mode of life. She loved glamor and it was typical that on the night of her debut she became engaged to Edgar R. Born, who had sent her a dozen orchids."

What was her life as a young mother and wife?

"She went her own way even after she was married, choosing her own friends when her husband's didn't suit her. As her mother, a trained singer, had done, she maintained a salon for intellectuals. She had sat on Caruso's knee as a child and for the rest of her life continued to mingle with fine musicians.

Prone to Show Displeasure.

"A domestic creature, who loved her home and its appointments, Adele was sharp with servants and clerks who displeased her. She was loyal to her friends, but did not hesitate to upbraid them when they failed her. She was garrulous about other persons, but hugged her own secrets to herself. She loved life, clothes, and jewels. Brilliant beyond many of her own friends, she nevertheless was loud spoken and last week shouted so loudly in a public restaurant that she attracted attention."

What was her life as a diplomat's wife?

"Wealthy by birth and marriage, Adele dressed quietly but made a display of her jewels. She entertained graciously and when in Tokio with her second husband, Frank Starr Williams, had many Japanese officials in her home. Yet she was suspicious of them and wrote a scathing book about them on her return to the United States after the war. The book was barred from publication by the state department because of its 'frankness.'

"She was a tiny woman, weighing less than 100 pounds, but she was fearless. She traveled alone across the United States in her car and to and from Tokio. She left the doors of her home unlocked frequently. She was kind to those she loved, but ruthless to her enemies. I suppose she had many. A former servant who remembered some past insult might have killed her.

"Adele was always intellectually curious. She spoke French and Spanish and when in Tokio studied Japanese. An inveterate reader, she nevertheless had her own opinions.

Traveled Around World.

"A marvelous cook and homemaker, she loved travel, and went around the world several times. She was generous and yet would haggle over a small sum if she thought it was to be spent unwisely. She could make beautiful clothes and yet spent fortunes with the best dressmakers.

"I lived with Adele Williams for years and knew her probably better than any one. Yet I was never her confidante. She was a strange woman, and it is odd that her death, as her intimate life, is a mystery."

MRS. VIRGINIA VARBLE.

Like a Lochinvar, Ralph Varble, 31 years old, 7029 34th street, Berwyn, rushed yesterday into the Superior court of Judge William J. Lindsay in an effort to snatch his wife, Virginia, 20, of 2215 South Keeler avenue, from the process of divorce.

Mrs. Varble was about to be called to the witness stand by her lawyer, Frank J. Lexa, when Varble appeared. He pleaded with Judge Lindsay for one final chance to dissuade his wife from going ahead with the divorce. "Glad to oblige," said Judge Lindsay, and he took the couple into his chambers.

There, however, Varble's chivalrous rush ran into a feminine stone wall. Mrs. Varble said she had been married to him only five months and he was cruel, that on Christmas eve he gave her a present of two black eyes and a broken nose. She repeated the story on the stand, and Judge Lindsay indicated he'd grant a divorce—but held out a slim hope for Varble. He said he'd not sign the decree immediately.

Two in Abortion Death Face Hearing on Feb. 14

Judge Joseph H. McGarry in Felony court yesterday continued until Feb. 14 the hearing of George E. Fosberg, 79 years old, an ex-convict and former physician, and Mrs. Avis Kamradt, 49, of 4008 Drexel boulevard, a practical nurse, who are charged with murder by abortion. Fosberg was seized in his home at 5460 Blackstone avenue Sunday after the death of Miss Geraldine Schuyler, 29, of 6239 Newark avenue, on whim he was accused of performing an operation Jan. 17.

ALDERMEN BACK SALE OF MILK IN PAPER CARTONS

The sale of milk in paper cartons in Chicago will become legal soon if the majority of the members of the city council health committee has its way.

A canvass of aldermen yesterday revealed that most of them are in favor of an amendment to the city ordinance which now prevents the sale of milk in cartons. Mayor Kelly and Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes also indicated they would acquiesce in an amendment to remove the present restriction.

Hearing to Be Held Soon.

Ald. Joseph S. Gillespie [29th], chairman of the council health committee, said a hearing would be called soon to consider the 1939 amendment to permit the use of paper cartons.

"This amendment, originally proposed by Dr. Herman Bundesen [president of the board of health] has been lying dormant waiting the outcome of the legal battles on the question," he said. "We now will take it up again."

Ald. Nicholas J. Bohling [7th], member of the committee, said he would ask the council today to vote for a resolution asking the health committee to prepare such an amendment, or reconsider the old one.

Ald. Abraham H. Cohen [4th] said he had voted for paper cartons in the past and would do so again. This sentiment was echoed by many others of the 20 man committee.

Company Tells Savings.

In reporting the saving thru the use of paper cartons, officials of the Dean Milk company said that a truck carrying cases of milk in glass bottles consumed too much gasoline and was subject to excessive wear because of the extra weight.

A truck with such a load is actually carrying by weight 55 per cent glass bottles and cases and only 45 per cent milk. A filled case weighs more than 60 pounds while a case of filled cartons weighs only 28 pounds, the officials said.

The Dean company filed notice with the state Supreme court yesterday that it intends to seek a rehearing of the court's decision last Thursday holding that paper containers are not construed to be milk bottles under the Chicago ordinance.

Wage Ruling Extended.

Robert K. Burns, chairman of the regional war labor board, yesterday ruled that milk companies in the city not covered by wage increases recently granted by the war labor board to drivers and inside workers may adopt rates up to the approved rates upon certification by the board.

The action grants to about 50 small companies with several hundred employes the right to rates given 85 larger companies, which are members of the Associated Milk dealers employing 6,000 workers.

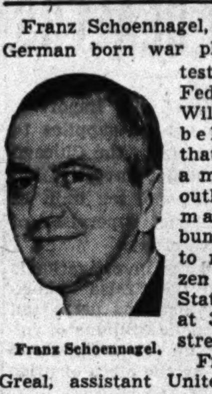
The inside workers were granted raises of $2.80 a week to $52.50 per week and the drivers an increase of $2 a week to a base pay of $52 a week, retroactive to May 1, 1943.

Johnson and 3 Refused Freedom During Appeal

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals ruled yesterday that William R. Johnson, former gambling fixer, and three of his associates must remain in custody pending a decision on their appeal from a lower court order denying them a new trial on charges of income tax evasion. A fourth co-defendant, Stuart S. Brown, was permitted bail because his wife is ill. Johnson and the others—Jack Sommers, William P. Kelly, and James Hartigan—have been in custody since Jan. 13.

BUND MEMBER BEGS U. S. JUDGE FOR RIGHT TO REMAIN A CITIZEN

Franz Schoennagel, 40 years old, German born war plant employe, testified before Federal Judge William J. Campbell yesterday that altho he is a member of the outlawed German-American bund he wants to remain a citizen of the United States. He lives at 3912 Congress street, Bellwood.



Franz Schoennagel.

Francis J. McGreal, assistant United States attorney who is prosecuting a petition for cancellation of Schoennagel's naturalization certificate, called several of the defendant's former fellow workers, who testified he said he would make no bullets to be fired at Germans.

Schoennagel said all un-American remarks attributed to him were false. He explained he had become affiliated with the bund because he wanted to participate in its social activities and had not engaged in any political action. He admitted he had sent $5,000 to be invested in German real estate securities, but insisted this was intended to help him repay a loan to relatives and furnish him with vacation funds should he visit his former home.

419 Czechs Reported Executed by Germans

New York, Jan. 25 [Special].—In Czecho-Slovakia, "lists of 854 Czechs, of whom 419 have been executed, are published in the three latest editions of the German official gazette," the London radio reported tonight. The broadcast said: "The patriots named have participated in sabotage or in sheltering persons wanted by the Gestapo."

COURTNEY'S AID TELLS COUNTY'S OPEN GAMBLING

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Two hundred gambling houses were running wide open in the Cook county territory outside Chicago last Sept. 8, according to testimony given yesterday by Edward N. Scholler of the state's attorney's office. Scholler has been in charge of investigations of gambling for the last five years.

Lt. Myles McDonough.

Scholler was called as a defense witness in the Criminal court trial of Lt. Myles McDonough and Policeman Philip Schwartz, formerly of the county highway police staff, under the late Sheriff Peter B. Carey. Earlier he was a prosecution witness in the civil service trial of Capt. Walter F. Healy of the city police department, who was suspended during an investigation of gambling within the city.

The testimony was elicited in an effort to show that the two policemen should not be held liable for the fact that the Dome, Guzik syndicate joint at 7466 Irving Park road, was allowed to remain open all last summer.

McDonough on Stand.

McDonough and Schwartz are charged with "conspiracy to aid and abet the operation of a gambling house." The Dome is in territory policed by the sheriff. It is under the jurisdiction of the sheriff's police assigned to the Morton Grove station where McDonough was in command last summer.

On the witness stand in his own behalf Lt. McDonough, a big, soft spoken man of 35, who had been on the sheriff's police staff since 1939, said he was unfamiliar with gambling equipment. While he participated in a raid on the Dome on Aug. 12, he said he didn't pay any attention to the apparatus in a room behind a barred door in which there was a peep hole.

"I saw some tables covered with green but I didn't know what they were," McDonough said.

Wielded Sledge Hammer.

The state's attorney's office held McDonough responsible for seven roulette wheels, worth perhaps $3,000 each, and six dice tables found in use in the Dome on Sept. 8. McDonough, on Sept. 15, told the state's attorney's office he had destroyed the equipment.

"Much of it was left out in the yard and I took a sledge hammer and smashed it into bits," McDonough said."

The lieutenant, who was suspended about the time he was indicted, denied he was told to keep the gambling material for evidence.

Judge Rudolph Desort, who is presiding at the trial, told the attorneys the case would be given to the jury of six women and six men after closing arguments this morning.

FAKE PHONE TIP LEADS TRIO INTO ARMS OF POLICE

Capt. Robert Welling of the Town Hall station found a way yesterday to arrest the persons he believed were running a telephone gambling joint at 717 Sheridan road. He and his detectives had been refused admittance when they knocked on the door, so Welling resorted to strategy.

"This is a friend," he said over the telephone after he had asked the operator to get him a number he did not disclose to any one. "Capt. Welling and a squad of police are on the way from the station to raid you. You better hurry out."

Three men ran from the place. When they were seized by Welling and his waiting policemen, they denied they were operating a gambling house. Welling found four telephones in use in the room and many cards and sheets indicating that horse race bets were being accepted over the telephone.

The three arrested gave their names and addresses as follows: Frank Tortorello, 1050 North Paulina street; Myles Loeffler, 5540 Hyde Park boulevard; and Sam Goldman, 5338 Woodlawn avenue. They were taken to the state's attorney's office.

FALL FATAL TO WOMAN, 72.

Miss Emma Hooton, 72 years old, died in Woodlawn hospital yesterday of injuries she suffered Jan. 16 in a fall in her home at 6036 Dorchester avenue.

'FARMER' FOUND TO BE A SLICKER AT WRIT HEARING

Bare Record After Trick Halts Train.

A district attorney who knows Richard H. Lane, 60 years old, of Ithaca, N. Y., yesterday contended that he is not a farmer with a charming manner and an engaging smile, but a slick swindler who should be jailed to prevent him from preying upon elderly women who have money in the bank.

Lane, who was snatched off a train Monday at Morrison, Whiteside county, and returned to Chicago, appeared before Federal Judge William H. Holly on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus obtained in an effort to stop his extradition to Ventura, Cal., from Monmouth county, New Jersey.

He is wanted in Ventura for violation of probation granted after he had been convicted in 1935 of defrauding a woman of $3,500 in a real estate deal.

"The duplicity of this man is amazing," said District Atty. Arthur Waite of Ventura. "The manner in which he obtained the writ, held up a cross continental train for nearly an hour, and forced us to return 90 miles to this unnecessary hearing is another one of his tricks."

Waite said Lane was arrested several weeks ago on a charge of swindling a 77 year old New Jersey spinster teacher out of $10,000 after making love to her. She refused to prosecute and Lane was offered to California.

Gov. Charles Edison signed an extradition warrant and the Ventura officers left for the west. They stopped in Chicago over the weekend to obtain custody of another prisoner in Milwaukee, who also was wanted in Ventura, and Lane was held in county jail.

Induces Lawyer to Act.

Other prisoners here reportedly encouraged him to sue for a writ and recommended Charles Liebman as an attorney. So convincingly did Lane make out his case Monday that Liebman went before Federal Judge John P. Barnes and filed the petition for a writ. Judge Barnes assigned the case to Judge Holly yesterday.

After hearing the facts, Judge Holly agreed with Waite that any interference with Gov. Edison's warrant of extradition "would be a farce."

Atty. Leo Waxman, appearing for Liebman, who has been called to Pittsburgh, Pa., requested a continuance until Friday.

"I'll grant you or Liebman until 10 a. m. tomorrow to show why this man should not be extradited," said Judge Holly. However, he directed the California officers to "prepare to leave for home tomorrow."

QUICK DIVORCE GRANTED WIFE OF CASE GRIFFIS

In one of the quickest hearings on record, Mrs. Nettie E. Griffis, 1217 North Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park, won a $47,500 cash settlement and a divorce from her husband, Case Griffis, before Judge Robert J. Dunne in Circuit court.

In addition to the cash settlement, she was authorized to keep her home, household furnishings, an automobile, and stocks and bonds made out in her name. Her lawyer, Harry X. Cole, was allowed $7,500 in fees. Mrs. Griffis charged desertion.

Cole filed the divorce bill at 9:58 a. m. and the hearing was over in 30 minutes. Griffis was represented by Atty. David J. Ratner. Griffis, a retired official of the Chicago Cardboard company, now lives in Florida. He is 55 years old, and a past potentate of Medinah temple of the shrine. He and Mrs. Griffis were married June 17, 1908, and separated May 31, 1942.

ASK NEW TRIAL FOR LEPKE AND ONE ASSOCIATE

New York, Jan. 25 (AP).—Attorneys for Louis [Lepke] Buchalter and Louis Capone, two associates of Murder, Inc., now under sentence of death at Sing Sing for the murder of Joseph Rosen in 1936, today filed motions for a new trial.

A hearing on the motions will be held tomorrow in Brooklyn County court. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey earlier today set Feb. 2 for a clemency hearing for the pair and an associate, Emanuel Weiss.

Lepke was released to the state last week by the federal government with the understanding that he would be returned if his death sentence was commuted. He was serving 14 years on a narcotics charge.

ASKS SPIRITUAL TRAINING CHECK ON DELINQUENCY

Youth must be given a better philosophy of life thru a broad spiritual education emphasizing the fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of man, and the orderliness of the moral as well as of the physical universe, if any substantial and enduring progress is to be made toward checking juvenile delinquency.

This was the substance of an address delivered yesterday by Edward H. Stullken, president of the Illinois Education association and principal of the Montefiore special school here, before hundreds of mothers and teachers gathered in the Stevens hotel. He addressed a state-wide conference on juvenile protection in war time, sponsored by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers and participated in by civic and governmental agencies in the field of child welfare.

In any program of delinquency prevention, Stullken told the assembly, every child must have the opportunity for home, church, and school training in developing proper attitudes, feelings, and emotions. This, he said, is as important as his physical and mental development.

Oak Park Forum to Scan Tax and Milk Problems

The new tax valuation plan and the milk problem will be discussed at the Oak Park forum in the Carroll playground shelter house, Kenilworth and Harvard avenues, Oak Park, at 8 p. m. Friday. A. R. Kaiser, a tax expert, will speak, Howard De Haven, forum president, announced yesterday.

DRIZZLE HELPS RELIEVE DROUTH; WARMTH A PERIL

Additional light rains were expected today by the weather bureau to bring a small measure of relief to the drouth beleaguered midwest. The rains of yesterday, altho general thruout the dry states, were too gentle to help the parched ground, farm experts said.

While the drizzle closed over the city, Chicagoans experienced a record breaking warm spell when the temperature soared to 57.4 degrees at 4:30 p. m. The previous high of 53.1 degrees, set Jan. 25, 1916, was equaled in the early afternoon. But for the rain many pedestrians would have shed their winter overcoats.

More Rain and Snow Needed.

Executives of the American Dairy association, meeting in the Bismarck hotel, said more rains and heavy snows were needed to alleviate the serious drouth conditions in many sections of the country.

Owen M. Richards, manager of the association, said that "the drouth is so general there is danger of our low food supplies being further imperiled by short crops next year. Altho for the last three years the corn and wheat belts have harvested huge crops, our reserves are low and we will need every weather break for another record production in 1944."

Dr. Robert Prior of Seattle, Wash., vice president of the association, said he feared for the many regions in the country dependent upon irrigation.

Irrigation Areas Imperiled.

"Reservoirs are low, as mountain supplies of snow are below normal," he explained. "It is possible some of the irrigation districts will be forced to curtail production unless water supplies become more abundant."

One worried farmer was Harry Roberts of Lakeside, Mich., who expressed fear over the warmth and its possible effect on his peach trees.

"This warm weather may start the buds on the fruit trees and a following cold snap will kill them; this would mean another short crop, like last year," he said.

Other farmers said the warm weather followed by freezing spells would heave their hay crops and winter grains out of the ground. All of them asked for a good blanket of snow rather than the continuing "Florida" weather.

2 Questioned in Slaying of Alaskan Road Worker

Two men are under arrest and have been questioned in connection with the murder of Melvin O. Nicoll, 28 years old, a returned Alaskan highway worker. One suspect is a soldier, who is being held at Fort Sheridan. The other man is locked up in the Englewood police station. The body of Nicoll, his head showing marks of an attack by a cleaver or other sharp instrument, was found Jan. 3 in a vacant lot at 217 Englewood avenue. Capt. Patrick J. Collins ordered the Englewood prisoner to be subjected to a lie detector test today.

AGREE TO DENY LIQUOR SUPPLIES TO 50 DEALERS

Liquor distillers and importers have agreed to cut off supplies to about 50 wholesalers in the Chicago area, who are under investigation by the federal alcohol tax unit, E. C. Yellowley, district supervisor of the unit, said yesterday.

Yellowley said the investigation is directed against the "false" shortage of liquor, which has permitted wholesalers to make millions of dollars by jacking up prices far above the ceilings set by the office of price administration.

Distillers Coöperating.

Yellowley said that distillers are coöperating with him in an effort to drive shady operators out of the industry.

Wholesalers can manipulate distribution to retail outlets, forcing retailers to pay high prices and bonuses, Yellowley said. Some wholesalers have set up their own retail establishments under dummy names, and dispose of goods at high prices thru such outlets, he explained.

Two Chicagoans Named.

Several cases involving wholesalers charged with conspiracy to violate the alcohol tax laws have been presented to the grand jury, and others will be presented as evidence is gathered, Yellowley said.

The first of the indictments, returned a month ago, named two Chicagoans and three Detroit gangsters. The Chicagoans accused are Edward Weaner, owner and president of the Peerless Distributing Co., Inc., 3006-08 East 88th street, and Morris Margolis, 501 Surf street, a former whisky salesman.

FIND 4,661 LISTED MISSING FOR 1943; 200 ARE STILL LOST

Whereabouts of more than 200 of the 4,851 persons who were listed as missing in 1943 still is a mystery to the missing persons bureau of the Chicago police department, Lt. Joseph B. Starshak, head of the bureau, said yesterday.

A total of 4,661 persons, after being missing from home for varying periods during the year, eventually returned or was accounted for, Starshak said.

The year's missing increased because of a rise in cases of girls under 18; the number in this group rose to 1,383 from 965. All but 55 of the missing girls returned to their homes.

4 BANDITS SLASH VICTIM'S THROAT IN 9 CENT HOLDUP

Joseph Sajdak, 55 years old, 5549 South Washtenaw avenue, found in a vacant lot in the 2700 block on West 55th street last night with his throat cut, told New City police he had been attacked by four men. He is in serious condition in the Southtown hospital.

Sajdak's wound was such that he could not be questioned closely, but police said the men apparently robbed him of only 9 cents, as 26 cents were found in his pocket and he said he had 35 cents when he left home. He said two of the men held him while the other two searched him. After slashing him they shoved him into the lot and fled.

ROB TRUCK DRIVER OF $150.

Two armed men forced Ervin Hoffman of 6700 Union avenue, a truck driver for the F. L. Klein Noodle company, 46th and State streets, to hand over $150 last night, while he was stopped at 62d and Morgan streets, he reported to police.

PATIENTLY YOURS,

Bud Bowman

I'M NO ANGEL, but I sure would like to pitch in and help my grocer if I could. Maybe you can take a part-time job in your neighborhood food store. You'd get to see a lot of your friends and neighbors, and be helping the critical manpower shortage, too.

YOUR GROCER'S MOBBED but he's doing his best. He may be short-handed, maybe without even a delivery boy. But I'll bet you're not the one to complain. You probably count ration stamps in advance, make the best of shortages, are patient and pleasant . . . and shop when the store is least crowded. Your grocer appreciates it!

TAX DIFFICULTY DUE TO KINKS OF PAY-AS-YOU-GO

Here's How Forgiveness Provisions Work.

This is the seventh of a series of articles on the individual income tax.

Filing an income tax return for 1943 is more difficult than in other years principally because individual taxpayers were placed on a pay-as-you-go basis on July 1, 1943.

To avoid requiring the payment of two years' taxes in one, the new law provided for canceling at least 75 per cent of one year's tax, the cancellation to apply to either the 1943 or 1942 tax, whichever is smaller.

Since the taxpayer must pay the full amount of the larger year's tax, the effect is to substitute the 1942 tax for the 1943 tax if the 1943 tax is the smaller of the two.

Technically this is accomplished by requiring that any excess of the 1942 tax over the 1943 tax shall be added to the 1943 tax. An important exception is made for men and women who were in active military or naval service at any time during either year. This will be explained in a later article.

Basis for Cancelations.

The amount canceled depends on the size of the tax for the smaller year, as follows:

1. If the tax was $50 or less, the entire amount is canceled.
2. If the tax was more than $50 but less than $66.68, a flat $50 is canceled.
3. If the tax was more than $66.67, the cancellation is 75 per cent of the full tax.

Where there was no tax liability for either 1942 or 1943, there is nothing to be canceled.

Special cancellation rules apply to married couples who filed either separate returns or a joint return for 1942 and are filing differently for 1943. These will be discussed in a separate article on joint returns.

Tax payments made March 15 and June 15, 1943, plus income and victory taxes withheld by the employer during the year, plus any payments made Sept. 15 and Dec. 15 in connection with the "declarations" filed by certain taxpayers, are all considered payments on the 1943 tax liability, which includes the uncanceled portion of one year's tax.

Half May Be Postponed.

If these payments and withholdings do not cover the 1943 tax liability, the taxpayer may postpone until March 15, 1945, the payment of any part of the balance up to one-half of the uncanceled portion of the smaller year's tax.

Many taxpayers will find that their payments and withholding exceed their 1943 tax liability. In this case the taxpayer will not be permitted to postpone the payment of any liability representing the uncanceled portion of one year's tax.

Overpayments will be refunded to the taxpayer some time after March 15, 1944, or credited against his estimated income tax liability for 1944, whichever he designates on his return.

Because of the necessity for leading the taxpayer thru these calculations and adjustments, the 1943 income tax return forms have become what one senator calls a "mathematical labyrinth." With the cancellation provision out of the way, filing returns a year from now should be somewhat simpler.

[Tomorrow's article will discuss the types of income that must be reported.]

DUTCH PRINCESS PAYS CHICAGO A BRIEF VISIT

Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands was in Chicago yesterday on a stopover en route to the west coast. Arriving in the morning, she and her party went to the Ambassador East hotel. In the afternoon the Netherlands consul general, J. I. Noest, entertained at a tea for the royal visitor in his home at 1349 Astor street.

Juliana makes her home in Ottawa, Ont., where she came for the safety of her children after the Nazi occupation of Holland. Her third, daughter, Margriet, now a year old, was born there. The two other children, also daughters, are Beatrix, 6 years old, and Irene, 4 years old. Juliana's husband, Prince Bernhard, serves as liaison officer between Dutch forces and those of the allies.

The princess left Chicago last evening. She visited Chicago for a longer period last spring, when several events were held in her honor.

1943 License Numbers O. K. on Gas Coupons

Motorists who have their 1943 license numbers written on their gasoline coupons need not change them if their 1944 license number is different, Paul A. H. Shults, area office of price administration director, said yesterday.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. L. Kleinke, 3003 South Tripp avenue.]

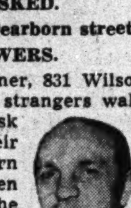
THE QUESTION.

Have you ever been asked to care for some one else's child, and how did you entertain it?

WHERE ASKED.

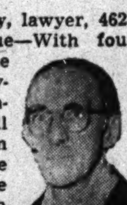
Washington and Dearborn streets.

THE ANSWERS.

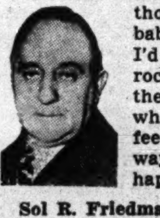


Leo Ziv, store owner, 831 Wilson avenue—Many total strangers walk into my store and ask if they can leave their children. I never turn them down, but often wish I had. When the children become impatient, I let them help wait on customers. Before long, the situation gets out of hand.

James Sebastian, elevator starter, 3511 Belden avenue—Most of the small children in my neighborhood call me Uncle Jim, because my nieces call me that. They appoint me entertainer every Sunday. I keep them happy and have a good time myself by reading the funnies.

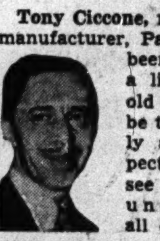


Joseph L. McCarthy, lawyer, 4625 North Racine avenue—With four grandchildren, I quite often get the enjoyable job of entertaining them. I play all their games. It's been many a year since I've had such a genuine excuse to play with an electric train.



Samuel Horwich, advertising man, 6518 North Mozart avenue—My wife thought I spoiled our babies. If they'd cry, I'd pick them up and rock them and give them a bottle of milk, whether or not it was feeding time. It always made them happy.

Sol R. Friedman, lawyer, 1745 W. Garfield boulevard—A young couple on a train asked me to care for their two youngsters a few minutes. While they spent an hour or more in the dining car, it was a big job until the candy and gum man came thru. I let the children buy everything they wanted.



Tony Ciccone, musical instrument manufacturer, Palatine—I've often been asked to care for a little eight months old baby. She likes to be tossed around gently and seems to expect it every time I see her. I give her my undivided attention all of the time.

DIES COMMITTEE FUND OF $75,000 AGAIN APPROVED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—The house committee on accounts today approved an appropriation of $75,000 to finance the 1944 work of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities.

Rep. Cochran [D., Mo.], chairman of the accounts committee, told the house the measure will probably be brought to the floor tomorrow for action by the full chamber. The committee, headed by Rep. Dies [D., Tex.], was allotted $75,000 last year.

One of the first objects of inquiry for the Dies group this year is the activities of the civil service commission, particularly in the conduct of "loyalty" investigations of federal employes. The commission recently issued an order barring its investigators from asking jobholders or applicants about their connections with Communist and Communist front organizations.

DELAY GAS DEATH INQUEST.

An inquest into the death of John J. Mecher, 23 years old, 1152 North Pulaski road, who was found asphyxiated in his automobile Monday just before he was to appear in court on an automobile theft charge, was continued yesterday until Feb. 2.

CONFEREES KILL EARNED INCOME CREDIT ON TAX

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—The senate's plan to collect an additional $664,900,000 a year from income tax payers was approved today by house and senate conferees, rapidly nearing agreement on the $2,275,600,000 measure.

The earned income credit heretofore allowed against the normal tax will be abolished. So will deductions for federal excise taxes paid, unless they are a business expense. The 5 per cent victory tax, modified by a system of credits varying with family status, will become a straight 3 per cent levy on income over $624 a year $12 a week].

House Plan Rejected.

Out the window went the house proposal to integrate the victory tax with the individual income tax, by increasing the normal rate from 6 to 10 per cent, applying a new surtax schedule and adopting a so-called "minimum tax" of 3 per cent of the net income above special exemptions for lower bracket taxpayers.

"We didn't think there would be enough gain in simplification for the trouble it would take," explained Sen. George [D., Ga.], head of the senate conferees.

The conferees decided to retain the "June bride" amendment adopted by the house, established July 1 as the guiding date for determining the family status of a taxpayer. Brides and babies acquired after that date should not be listed for exemptions until the following year.

Penalty Eliminated.

The conference adopted the senate's provision designed to eliminate a 6 per cent penalty for a poor guess on the current year's income. This will not apply if the estimate is based on last year's net income. Merchants, commission salesmen, and farmers have complained they could not guess accurately how much they would make a year ahead.

Adoption of a series of senate amendments gave full approval to widely discussed section 112, which requires labor unions, farm coöperatives, and other such groups exempt from paying income tax, to file annual financial statements with the treasury.

NAVY 'INVADES' LOOP TOMORROW IN BOND DRIVE

A mock invasion of the loop, including "seizure" of the city hall and the mayor's office, will be held tomorrow by navy personnel in observance of Navy day in the 4th war loan drive, which fixes as the Chicago and Cook county quota the sale of $721,818,400 in war bonds by the end of the campaign Feb. 15.

Beginning at about 1 p. m., units of an "invading" force of nearly 600 fully equipped sailors will take over strategic points thruout the loop area. An additional 200 sailors will enter five outlying community centers to participate in war bond rallies.

The Great Lakes naval training station band and entertainers under the direction of Comdr. Eddie Peabody will be at Treasury Center, 72 West Adams street, at noon tomorrow for a two hour show.

Bond sales of 90 million dollars during the week-end sent the national war loan "little money" box score to 953 million dollars last night, the largest increase since daily reports were started last week, it was announced in Washington. The total is slightly more than 17 per cent of the 5 billion 500 million dollar quota for individual sales.

BRIGGS INDICTED AS FORGER OF HOPKINS LETTER

Sparks Cleared by U. S. Grand Jury.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—The "Hopkins letter" affair today took a new twist as a federal grand jury returned three indictments charging George N. Briggs, suspended confidential aid to Interior Secretary Ickes, with forgery, false pretense, and use of the mails to defraud.

Eleven counts are included in the indictments. Conviction on all counts could mean a maximum penalty of 53 years in prison and $2,000 in fines.

C. Nelson Sparks, who published the celebrated letter in his book, "One Man—Wendell Willkie," was absolved in the indictments. In like manner the charges cleared Ickes and Harry Hopkins, Presidential confidant.

Called Solely to Blame.

The indictments place the sole blame for the alleged fraud on Briggs, who, it is charged, "unlawfully, wilfully, feloniously, and falsely made and forged" the letter. Sparks used the letter to substantiate a contention, often expressed, that the administration wants Wendell Willkie as President Roosevelt's Republican opponent in the coming election.

Also cleared of any connection with the "Hopkins letter" affair by the indictments were Dr. Umphrey Lee, president of Southern Methodist university, and Frank Phillips, Oklahoma oil man, each of whom, according to purported correspondence from Briggs to Sparks, possessed the letter at various times.

Rule Out Genuine Letter.

The jury, in returning the indictments, precluded the possibility of such a genuine letter existing in any form at any time. One story current during the much-publicized investigation of the affair was that at one time there may have been such a letter; that it may have been destroyed, and that a duplicate was then forged.

Today's action followed an investigation which opened Jan. 12 at the instigation of Hopkins. The case was handled by Henry A. Schweinhaut and G. Maynard Smith, special assistants to Atty. Gen. Biddle. Investigations in the case were handled by the federal bureau of investigation after Hopkins invoked its aid.

The matter evoked a great deal of comment in the capital because of the involvement of Ickes and Hopkins. At one time the affair was debated on the floor of the senate. Both Hopkins and Ickes testified before the grand jury and probably will be called on to testify when Briggs is brought to trial. Others who gave statements to the grand jury included Sparks, Phillips, Dr. Lee, and Briggs himself.

Sparks "Shocked."

Sparks, in a statement, said he was "shocked" by the indictment of Briggs, declaring it is now "more imperative than ever that there be a congressional investigation" to find the answers to other questions still unanswered.

Briggs would give no statement to newspapers today. His local counsel, Tom J. McGrath, said that Briggs was "somewhat surprised" to be indicted "under the circumstances." He did not elaborate on what he means by "circumstances." Briggs will be asked to put up bail, probably $3,000, tomorrow and will be arraigned later in the week, the department of justice said. No warrant has been issued.

Yesterday Briggs told reporters he has retained James D. C. Murray, New York attorney, to handle his case. He told reporters at that time that "I shan't be tossed to the wolves," and summed up the entire case as "power politics."

The grand jury of 22 men and women filed the indictments shortly after 2 p. m. today with Chief Justice Edwin C. Eicher of the District Court of the United States sitting in the Criminal court division.

Two Counts in Indictment.

The first indictment has two counts. The first count quotes the "Hopkins letter," written on White House stationery:

"Dear Umphrey:

"What has been done in the [word blocked out] matter? Will you write me, please? What developments in the other situation? Willkie is going to be the man, in my opinion, and I can promise you good coöperation from that quarter if you think it would be helpful.

"Sincerely yours,
"Harry Hopkins."

Set forth in the indictment is the contention that while Sparks was writing his book, Briggs agreed to assist by furnishing certain information and "to vouch for the authenticity" of the information. The indictment charges that pursuant to this agreement Briggs represented that the Hopkins letter existed, and was genuine and authentic.

Briggs further represented, the indictment charges, that the letter was in Texas where he was willing to go to obtain it if Sparks would advance money for expenses. "As a result of such representations," the indictment charges, Briggs "obtained a sum of money from C. Nelson Sparks and at various times attempted to obtain various other sums of money from Sparks and others."

Forgery Is Charged.

The count states that Briggs forged the letter which he "well knew was writing which might and could and in fact did operate to the prejudice of C. Nelson Sparks," and that Briggs used the writing "as the basis of a false pretense for the purpose of obtaining money or other things of value" from Sparks.

In the second count, the indictment charges that the forged letter was mailed in the District of Columbia. The first indictment is for violation of a District of Columbia statute and the penalty provided [not less than one year or more than ten years] can be assessed only once, even tho Briggs may be found guilty on both counts.

The second indictment has only one count. It involves a District of Columbia statute with a penalty of not less than one or more than three years. The indictment charges that Briggs represented the existence of the controversial letter by transmitting a memorandum describing the letter to Sparks. This representation, the indictment charges, was made to defraud Sparks of $125. It is this indictment which contends that no such letter ever existed.

None Knew of Letter.

"Whereas," this indictment concludes "in truth and in fact there was not then and there in existence and never had been in existence any such genuine letter from the said Harry Hopkins concerning said Wendell Willkie, nor did the said Frank Phillips nor the said Umphrey Lee nor the said Harold L. Ickes know of such letter or believe it to be genuine and authentic, nor had said Frank Phillips ever represented that he would deliver said letter to a messenger who would come to him in person at Dallas, Tex., nor did the defendant then and there intend to go to Dallas for the purpose of obtaining said letter, all of which the defendant at the time of making the false pretenses and représentations well knew."

The third indictment charges violation of a federal statute against using the mails to defraud. The maximum penalty which could be assessed on each of the eight counts is $1,000 fine, five years imprisonment, or both. Each count covers the mailing of one of the letters in the alleged correspondence from Briggs to Sparks, concerning the "Hopkins letter."

After setting forth the false representations allegedly made by Briggs in the second indictment, each count quotes a letter, and then charges Briggs with mailing the letter "for the purpose of executing said scheme and artifice to defraud."

I. C. C. CONTINUES HEARING ON BELT AVIATION LINES

An Illinois commerce commission hearing on an application of Belt Aviation, Inc., for permission to operate an intrastate air transport line was continued yesterday until Feb. 17. Attorneys representing several downstate cities said they had not had sufficient notice of the application. For the Greyhound bus lines, Atty. Maurice F. Lemon protested the plan because the company already has petitioned federal authorities for permission to set up helicopter lines in the middle west. The Belt case is being heard by Examiners William E. Helander and Leslie Salter.

GRIFFIN BALKS EXTRADITION IN SEDITION CASE

Named in Indictment with 27 Others.

New York, Jan. 25 [Special].—William Griffin, editor and publisher of the New York Enquirer, today won his fight to prevent his removal to Washington, D. C., to answer an indictment returned June 21, 1942, accusing him of conspiring with 27 others to violate sedition laws.

Acting on a communication from O. John Rogge, special assistant attorney general, Federal Judge William Bondy vacated a warrant of removal against Griffin and ordered his bail of $1,000 returned to him. The action was interpreted as presaging Griffin's complete exoneration thru dismissal of charges against him in the indictment and in a superseding indictment returned Jan. 4, 1943.

Writ Stayed Removal.

Griffin was ordered removed to Washington by United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter Jan. 4, 1943, but has been at liberty since that time under habeas corpus proceedings which stayed the removal warrant. He was not named in a second superseding indictment returned against 30 alleged seditionists in Washington Jan. 5 of this year.

Griffin was present in court today with his wife when Rogge's communication was read and endorsed by John F. X. McGohey, executive assistant United States attorney.

"The indictments in which Mr. Griffin was named with others did him a great injustice in charging him with a conspiracy to impair the armed forces of the United States, because the evidence showed he had never known, met or knew of the existence of most of the defendants and had known only two of them indifferently," James D. C. Murray, Griffin's attorney, stated to the court.

Charges Disproved.

"The allegations in the indictment which charged Mr. Griffin with conspiring with members of the Ku Klux Klan, anti-Semetic groups, and representatives of the Nazi government were proved groundless when the evidence disclosed that his newspaper had denounced the Nazis and had been barred from Germany," Murray said.

"It was further disclosed that he had been the champion of the oppressed and had consistently advocated tolerance toward every American, regardless of his race or religion."

One of Maloney Cases.

The two sedition conspiracy indictments naming Griffin were obtained by William Power Maloney, originally in charge of sedition prosecutions for Atty. Gen. Biddle. Rogge replaced Maloney after a storm of criticism against the latter.

Griffin appeared voluntarily before the third Washington grand jury which considered the sedition charges.

Judge Bondy also ordered, on Rogge's recommendation, return to Griffin of all exhibits taken from him for use by the prosecution, including several citations and plaques from patriotic and religious groups.

PURGE LIST FOR CIO DELAYED; HILLMAN ATTACKS SEN. TAFT

The CIO political action committee in its national meeting here yesterday delayed issuance of a "purge list" aiming at the defeat of various senators and congressmen but suggested that Sen. Taft [R., O.] will be on it by assailing him for his opposition to the Lucas soldier vote bill.

Sidney Hillman of New York, chairman of the CIO group entrusted with the raising of 5 million dollars to influence elections, attacked Sen. Taft, saying:

"Sen. Taft's angry and intemperate attack upon the men entrusted with the leadership of the nation's war effort is a sharp demonstration that the opposition to the soldier vote bill stems from the depths of reaction rather than from any partisan feeling between Republicans and Democrats."

Eight of the 14 regional directors of the political action committee were confirmed in their appointments yesterday. They are: Raymond S. McKeough of Illinois; Gus Scholle of Michigan; Joseph Salerno of Massachusetts; Irving Abramson of New Jersey; Roy Atkinson of the state of Washington; Jack Kroll of Ohio; John J. Jacobson, director in Nebraska, Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, and South Dakota; and George B. Roberts, director in California and Nevada. Except for the Michigan region, consisting of that state alone, each region will comprise several states.

The "purge list" is expected to be issued from New York or Washington after more study is devoted to the records of congressmen.

County's Sale of Bonds Meets Another Delay

Cook county's sale of 7½ millions of bonds, the proceeds to be used in paying old debts, was delayed again yesterday to allow attorneys for the purchaser to study a supposedly final resolution adopted by the county board on Monday. County officials were certain, they said, that the transaction would be completed in the next two days, and that bills contracted up to Dec. 1, 1942, would be paid as soon as the money is received.

NEW GAS RATION CUT 'POSSIBLE,' BOWLES WARNS

'Staggering' Demands of War Are Cited.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—Chester Bowles, price administrator, tonight said further cuts may be made in gasoline rations in some parts of the country and warned fuel oil users against burning their allotments too rapidly.

Devoting his weekly radio talk to supplies of rationed goods, Bowles said consumers will be able to find butter more often in stores next month, but that meat supplies will diminish, and that sugar rations cannot be liberalized.

Gas Demands 'Staggering.'

Bowles, terming the outlook for motorists discouraging, said the military and civilian demand for gasoline is "staggering" and not a drop of gasoline can be spared for "careless or unnecessary driving."

"There is always the possibility that rations may have to be reduced in some areas as the tempo of the war increases," he said.

Bowles also warned that fewer used and reclaimed tires will be available.

Burning Oil Too Fast.

Fuel oil supplies, he said, are barely adequate to cover outstanding ration coupons. He said a survey disclosed that in some midwestern areas as many as half of the oil users are consuming fuel oil ahead of the ration schedule. In the east, he said, about one-third are burning oil too fast.

Point values on meat, Bowles said, will be raised in February and March to reflect smaller supplies and growing military requirements. He asserted government inspected packers have been unable to supply all the meat required by the services. However, he said pork is still plentiful in the midwest producing areas.

Bowles said the shortage of certain types of children's shoes will be remedied by increased production.

PRIEST INJURED AS AUTO STRIKES RAIL ABUTMENT

The Rev. Thomas Nolan, formerly an assistant at St. Leo's church at 7750 Emerald avenue, was injured seriously last night when his car left Burnham road and crashed into a railroad crossing abutment south of the village of Lansing. Father Nolan, 54 years old, has been a patient in a sanitarium at Dyer, Ind., for the last year. He was taken to St. James' hospital in Chicago Heights, where he was placed in an oxygen tent and given blood transfusions.

A large empty oil transport truck owned by a Milwaukee [Wis.] company was set afire yesterday after a collision with an automobile at Longcommon road and Harlem avenue, Riverside. Mrs. Ann Mach, 8630 Rockefeller avenue, Brookfield, driver of the automobile, was injured, but the truck driver, Forrest Galford, Cudahy, Wis., was not hurt.

Mrs. Meria Jurcak, 70, a widow, 5835 Aberdeen street, died in Holy Cross hospital of internal injuries suffered Monday when an automobile struck her at 58th and Morgan streets. The driver was Walter Fiuehling of Dalton City.

Edward Miketinas, 17 years old, of Escanaba, Mich., was killed by an automobile in front of 6875 South Chicago avenue. Edwin H. Jackubowski, 22, of 9202 Anthony avenue, said he did not see the boy because of the rain.

Flossmoor Boy Injured as Depot Railing Breaks

He and Robert Wilkinson, 13, of Braeburn road, and Dorothy Hobbs, 12, were playing.

GAS, OIL COUPONS FOR 20 MILLION GALLONS STOLEN

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—OPA officials tonight sought to fix responsibility for what they described as the theft of ration coupons worth 20 million gallons of gasoline and fuel oil.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles, disclosing that four men have been arrested as a result of diversion of the coupons from paper salvage companies, said he had ordered an investigation and "immediate steps to see that it cannot happen again."

An OPA announcement said the coupons—worth approximately 5 million gallons of gasoline and 15 million gallons of fuel oil—were shipped from the national and District of Columbia offices of the OPA to the Penn Paper and Stock company, a Washington paper salvage concern, for shredding and conversion to paper products.

Valid for Consumers.

The company has a contract to buy federal agency waste paper.

Most of the coupons were obsolete for issuance by local rationing boards but were valid in the hands of ultimate consumers. Some had expired for consumer use as well "but were accepted by sellers of rationed commodities," the OPA said.

The paper company put the coupons thru a shredding machine while OPA enforcement officers looked on, but a large number of the tickets apparently were not destroyed and found their way into illegal circulation, the OPA said. After shredding the material, officials said, the Penn company shipped it to a paper mill, the Glatfelter Paper company of Spring Grove, Pa.

Uncovered in Harrisburg.

First evidence that the illegal coupons were in circulation was uncovered and reported by the Harrisburg, Pa., district office of the OPA.

Approximately 23,000 pounds of the coupons were sent to the company for shredding between last August and November. Another shipment of 5,720 pounds Dec. 9 was intercepted because the diversion had come to light, the OPA said. The identity of the four under arrest was not disclosed.

The agency termed "greatly exaggerated" reports circulation of the coupons had cause shortages of fuel oil and gasoline on the east coast. It said the area's daily quota of gasoline is 15,624,000 gallons, more than three times the value of the stolen motor fuel coupons.

Issue Seven Warrants.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 25 (AP).—Warrants were issued late today for the arrest of seven central Pennsylvania men in an investigation of what the OPA described as the theft of ration coupons worth 20 million gallons of gasoline and fuel oil. The warrants charged those named with illegally acquiring or selling ration coupons.

CIO CHALLENGES U.S. DATA ON RISE IN LIVING COSTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—A sharp conflict between government and union statisticians over living cost increases developed today at a congressional inquiry into war time economic problems of white collar workers.

Philip Murray, president, said CIO studies showed a rise of 50 per cent in living costs since January, 1941. He contended the labor department's price index showing a rise of only 23.4 per cent is full of "deceit."

A. F. Hinrichs, acting commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, defended the department's figure. He asked more time to analyze the CIO's report, submitted during the day to the war labor board's committee studying living cost increases.

A White Collar Spokesman.

Later, the first direct spokesman for organized white collar groups got to the stand in the person of Abram Flaxer, president of the CIO's state, county, and municipal workers union.

"The local government worker," he declared, "lives on a budget 18 per cent below what the WPA budget recommends that a family of four needs to get by."

Local government workers, he declared, "Today are attempting to get along on $1,500 a year," an average figure which he said includes a 15 per cent increase above January, 1941, gained under the little steel formula. [This formula, keystone of the WLB wage policy, limits a general wage increase to 15 per cent above January, 1941.]

25 Per Cent Increase Urged.

He recommended an upward adjustment of the little steel formula generally, a 25 per cent increase for local government workers, institution of time and a half pay for overtime for this group, and boards of arbitration to weigh grievances.

Murray also demanded adjustment of federal wage policy for the benefit of both organized and unorganized workers.

Contending the bureau of labor statistics on living costs indicate "deceit" in the collection of figures, he declared:

"They do not reflect quality deterioration and upgrading, disappearance of cheaper goods, rent increases outside of 34 selected cities, or price violations and black markets."

Claims OPA Handicapped.

Congress, Murray declared, has not given the OPA and other federal agencies enough money to control prices or subsidize commodity costs to make price control effective.

While OPA has tried to keep meat, butter, bread, potato, sugar, and milk costs down, he said, commodities made from sugar, such as jams, preserves, and jellies, have been "allowed to skyrocket in price."

Hinrichs denied his figures reflect any "deceit," but conceded that "a great number of people think the cost of living has gone up more than the index shows." He said the index covers 200 essential items and remarked that jams and jellies amount to less than ½ of 1 per cent of a family's budget.

A POST CAMERAMAN IN THE WAKE OF WAR

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

A Picture Scoop that took 3 Months and a World Air Flight to Get BACK of Ivan Dmitri's war epic, in color photographs is a world-girdling saga of adventure.

Leaving Washington early in June on an officially sponsored flight to war areas, Dmitri covered Natal, Ascension Island, Accra on the Gold Coast, Arabia, Eastern India, flew across Central Africa, back to Cairo, Bengasi, Tunisia, Palermo, Algiers, Morocco, Scotland, Iceland and nonstop from Iceland to Maine.

32,000 miles in 3 months to bring back hundreds of pictures from which Post editors have selected this moving, sustained pictorial record of war. Dmitri's vivid pictures portray both the offensive and defensive actions of war.

They show the desolation that follows in the wake of war—and the world of war as perhaps no other pictures do, that have come from the front.

Here is tangible, graphic evidence of the determination of Post editors and Post men to spare no expense—undertake any risk—to bring to the millions of Post readers, the true picture of war as it is fought. It is further evidence of the accepted fact that great things come first to the Post.

SEN. TAFT ON SOLDIER VOTING.

Sen. Taft, in addition to pointing out the fraudulent nature of Sen. Lucas' so-called compromise bill on soldiers' voting, has also called attention to the danger, if that measure is passed, of throwing "the whole election into a legal tailspin."

Sen. Lucas, whose first attempt to steal the election on behalf of the fourth term was repudiated in the senate, calls his second attempt a compromise bill. It obviously is not a compromise between the principle of control of elections by the states, as the power is vested in them by the Constitution, and the unconstitutional principle of federal control. Mr. Lucas may have eliminated some of the other obnoxious provisions of his first bill, but he keeps in his second attempt the heart of the bill, which is the federal ballot commission. A majority of its members would be creatures of the President, nominated by his national committee and named by Mr. Roosevelt, who every one assumes is going to be a candidate in that election. There can be no compromise with such a scheme, because larceny is its heart and intent. That is point number one against the Lucas bill.

Point number two is that, in spite of the feeble and illogical protests of Secretaries Knox and Stimson, there is nothing unworkable about the proposal pending in the house that the election be conducted by the states, with the enforced coöperation of the war and navy departments in getting absentee ballots to men and women in service. The objections against this procedure are all being made by the people, either in the administration or allied to it politically, who do not want the soldiers to vote unless the opportunity is given for Mr. Roosevelt's ballot commission to steal their votes. Sen. Taft called the bluff of the two senile secretaries. They are running on the coat tails of the fourth term.

Point number three against the bill is that renewed by Mr. Taft. An attempt to conduct the election under the federal ballot commission plan, with its obviously unconstitutional features, carries with it great danger that the election will be disputed and the nation will face a repetition of the Hayes-Tilden contest. Mr. Lucas' bill, it is true, denies the federal election commission any authority to pass on the validity of any of the ballots it handles. The commission is required to take the ballots that come back to it and transmit them, sealed, to the secretaries of state of the various states, who will, in turn, transmit them to the election authorities in the precincts or other voting districts of the states, where they will be counted along with the ballots of civilian voters.

This supposed safeguard must be judged, however, in the light of Mr. Roosevelt's record of political immorality. He has never hesitated to use the indirect influence of any federal agency to aid his cause at election time. He and Harry Hopkins exploited human want to regiment WPA workers politically. AAA checks miraculously appeared in millions of farmers' mailboxes a few days before election.

The New Dealers cannot be trusted to get their fingers on the ballots themselves. Mr. Roosevelt's commission would handle them, physically. No one can have any faith in its integrity, and state officials who receive ballots from it would have no assurance that the votes were cast by citizens of their states and not by Algerian goums.

If such ballots were accepted and counted on their prima facie presentation, the opportunity for a contest would arise immediately. If they were rejected, even rightly so, ground again would appear for a contest. The ballots, under the proposed federal system, could well become the subject of dispute in every one of the 48 states.

Under the Constitution the Presidential electors, whom the state canvassing authorities have certified as the winners in the election, meet within the state, and cast a ballot for President. The secretary of state then forwards the return to congress. A contest would arise if the electors of the losing party were to meet, and on the ground that service ballots had been or had not been counted, would transmit their vote to congress.

Congress would then be faced with the necessity of deciding between two rival presentations of electoral votes. Inasmuch as congressmen and senators would be chosen in the same election, many members of both houses might also find their right to sit challenged, and before it could pass on the Presidency congress would have to establish its own membership. The Constitution says that the President's term expires on Jan. 20. If there were a contest, the country might find itself in the midst of war without a President.

It is unnecessary to risk such a legalistic snarl and such a danger. The legal, constitutional use of state absentee ballots will result in an orderly election and a return that cannot be contested. That is what Mr. Roosevelt and his backers are trying to avoid. The proponents of the federal ballot commission are proponents of confusion and fraud. They want to steal this year's election, and never hold another.

THE FCC RECANTS.

The federal communications commission has ruled that Press Wireless, Inc., the world-wide wireless, telegraph, and radio photo company formed by American newspapers to speed news transmission, has the same right as any other communication company to transmit messages from foreign points and is entitled to the same consideration when it applies for new transmission licenses. This decision is based on Press Wireless' offer to handle all types of message traffic where required. Originally it dispatched news exclusively.

The FCC has been following a policy of favoring Press Wireless competitors in granting licenses to transmit from Europe and the South Pacific, and has placed one obstacle after another in the way of fast dissemination of American news from the war fronts.

It is gratifying to note this apparent reversal of FCC policy, and it can be hoped that the announcement is sincere. There was no encouragement for newspaper readers, however, in the FCC decision of the next day, which granted licenses to transmit from Italy to the Radio Corporation of America, altho Press Wireless and another competitor had petitioned for these rights.

There is evidence that the FCC is beginning, at least, to listen to public demands that American companies get government protection and recognition in the field of world communication. The people are forcing Americanism upon this anti-American administration. They will complete the job next November when they throw this administration out of office and substitute for it one that doesn't have to be driven to protect the national interests.

ROOSEVELT PARDONS ROOSEVELT.

Some people in this country who ought to know better have persuaded themselves that Mr. Roosevelt is a champion of civil liberties. We have no doubt that the myth will continue to dominate their minds even in face of his latest action in pardoning Lt. Gen. Richardson, who, as commander of the army's Hawaiian department, had been found guilty of contempt of court and fined accordingly.

In effect, Mr. Roosevelt has pardoned himself, for it can hardly be doubted that Gen. Richardson had done no more than carry out the orders that had been given him. It was really Mr. Roosevelt, not Gen. Richardson, who imprisoned citizens without trial, held them in jail for a year or more, and refused to obey the habeas corpus writ of the federal court. It was for this that the general was held in contempt, and when he retaliated by decreeing that any judge who issued a habeas corpus writ in his jurisdiction would be subject to a $5,000 fine, the general had the war department's, which is to say Mr. Roosevelt's, full support.

If there is one civil liberty which is more precious than the others it is the right to the writ of habeas corpus. The founding fathers wrote a constitution which had to be amended to include a protection of the freedom of the press, freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of assembly, freedom from unwarranted searches, etc., but they didn't fail to include habeas corpus in the body of the original document.

Wherever the courts were open for business the citizen who was imprisoned without due warrant was to have the right to demand his release and the courts were bound to grant it. It was as obvious then as it is obvious today that without this right tyranny would be unchecked. The Constitution permitted the suspension of the writ only "in cases of rebellion or invasion." There was no rebellion and no invasion when Mr. Roosevelt suspended it. There was tyranny.

The Roosevelt who did this is the same Roosevelt who is now demanding the enactment of a law to enslave everybody in a labor draft. It is the same Roosevelt who sought to put the press in chains under his system of NRA codes. Likewise, it is the same Roosevelt who has transported 30 citizens for trial on charges of seditious conspiracy and who has refused to dismiss two previous indictments involving many of these people, tho the courts have blown the earlier charges full of holes and there is no intention of going to trial on these other indictments.

No President has ever talked more about his devotion to liberty and no President has ever been so ruthless in his denial of it.

YOU BET WE'RE FOR AMERICA.

[Tulsa Tribune.]

There is no new fangled world to come out of this war. That is just New Deal bunk. Roosevelt has to keep up the bunk, for the people are finding out fast that the free hand-outs are hurting us at home and abroad.

Any one who told the truth about this war has been dubbed an "isolationist," with all the accent of insult. Well, the "isolationists" are the Washington, Lincoln minded Americans today.

Our idea of government and Russia's are as far apart as the poles. The "internationalists" are wilfully false who try to feed us the pipe dream that we are fighting this war to make the soviet democratic.

Every isolationist is for a better world, an honest world, and above all for an honest America here at home. Friendships are only built on honesties.

Every isolationist is for all the foreign relations that build for a permanent peace and these can come only from honest trade, and the arrest of every bandit.

Every isolationist is opposed to every plan that would drag American life down to the level of the Balkans or the Chinese. It is time to reveal and rebuke dishonest thinkers, nail the falsehoods, and the treason to the nobilities that made and maintained American life.

The isolationist believes in the right of self-determination. A people should have whatever kind of government they want, be it totalitarian, dictatorship, monarchial, imperial, or democratic.

Great Britain is fighting to retain the British empire and the propagandists who take the platform to feed us falsehoods about a "one world" ideology are just plain intellectual charlatans.

We battle for America. The Stars and Stripes forever. What's wrong with that? And when we win our right to live we have an appalling job to do right here at home before America will again be the America that it once was, that it was made to be and that it evermore must be.

THE LITTLE STRANGER.

The naming of babies, which should be a matter of careful deliberation by a committee of poets, philosophers, and genealogists, appears to be a hurried piece of business in this martial era, when the sky is constantly darkened by flights of storks. This column has learned, to its astonishment, that a hospital baby [aren't they all?] must be registered by its complete name within three days after birth. That is much too soon for parents to regain their mental faculties, if any.

* * *

No doubt there has been a period of preliminary discussion between the parties of first and second importance in the affair, but almost always, we have noted, no final decision is reached because of the boy or girl problem. The father has advanced the original idea that John is a good name, and the mother has insisted that Peggy is cute, and Grandma has remarked, with a will-changing gleam in her eye, that she married a stout old settler named Adoniram. When the crisis arrives and the nurse says sternly, "This is the third day. What is its name?" the family weakly settles for John Adoniram Johnson or Joan Peggy Johnson, and bursts into tears. The little stranger will probably live in a state of chronic dissatisfaction, and if a girl will adopt, at the age of 15, the name of her favorite movie actress.

* * *

We have in mind a bureau to be added to the New Deal under the title TOTS [the initials don't mean a thing], and to be recruited from retired professors of literature, philology, and semantics. Its commissioners will advise on all baby namings, and without its approval no name will be legal and binding. Its first commandment will be, "No nicknames." If the mother says that the baby's name is Peggy, she will be firmly told that she means Margaret. She will then be instructed on the numerous variants of Margaret, such as Maggie, Madge, Peggy, Marjorie, Maisie, May, Margot, Gogo, and Rita, and told that household use of any of these short forms is not forbidden. Legally, however, the child will remain Margaret.

* * *

The bureau will have many other rules, all good, and will take great pains to suit the name to the child and its pedigree. . . . This will serve for our post-war plan until we can think up some mechanical gadget.

Never the Twain Shall Meet?

My son, an officer in the air forces in India, sent me a "kukri" knife, which was the weapon used by the Gurkha warriors. It is curved, 18 inches long, weighs 1¼ pounds, and has a handle of ebony and silver. Tradition says that a soldier must cut off the head of an ox with one stroke before it becomes his battle equipment. Then, whenever this knife is drawn, blood must flow.

Jack Moore from Chicago is a sergeant in the infantry. A full-blooded Indian, Geronimo, a descendant of the famous Apache chief, is in his company. They were issued commando knives for jungle fighting, but Geronimo sent home for his own. When it arrived he would not show it to any one. When Jack was alone with this Indian he asked him to show him the knife. He did so and then cut a deep gash in his finger. Jack asked why he did it, and Geronimo replied: "According to an old tradition of my people, whenever this knife is drawn, blood must flow." A. J. M.

THE EMPTY CHAIR.

Ah, Mother mine, how glad these memories now:
For every careless kiss of yesterday,
For every tender touching of your brow,
Your tired cheek, your hair too early gray!
One knew so little then how precious soon
Each least caress of love thus lightly given
Would grow, and unto sorrow proffer boon—
To sad remembrance bring a healing heaven!
One gave such idle heed when, as you bowed
Above your book in softened lamplight there,
Time, and the ills of time, a phantom crowd,
Lurked in the shadow by your cherished chair.
How could affection fear that nearing day
When lamp and chair would whisper: "Gone—for aye!"? Lister Alwood.

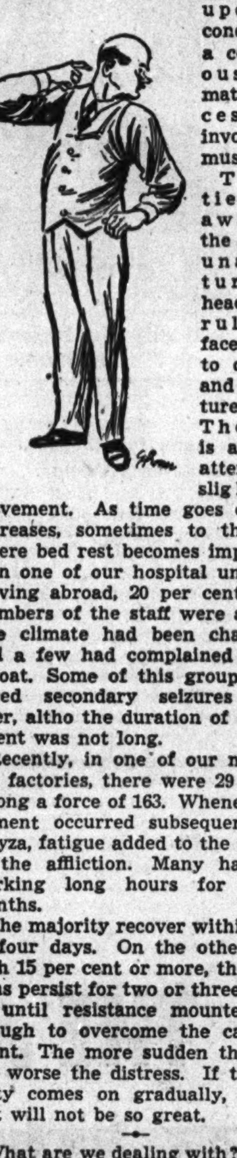
OUTBREAKS OF WRY-NECK.



EVERY now and then a community will report a disorder which affects the "pulleys" of the head, neck, and shoulders. Outbreaks have occurred in various parts of the world and we must look upon the condition as a contagious, inflammatory process which involves the muscles.

The patient may awaken in the morning unable to turn the head. As a rule, the face is held to one side and the posture is rigid. The victim is afraid to attempt the slightest movement. As time goes on, pain increases, sometimes to the point where bed rest becomes imperative.

In one of our hospital units now serving abroad, 20 per cent of the members of the staff were afflicted. The climate had been changeable and a few had complained of sore throat. Some of this group experienced secondary seizures weeks later, altho the duration of each incident was not long.

Recently, in one of our midwestern factories, there were 29 victims among a force of 163. Whenever the ailment occurred subsequent to a coryza, fatigue added to the severity of the affliction. Many had been working long hours for several months.

The majority recover within three or four days. On the other hand, with 15 per cent or more, the symptoms persist for two or three weeks, or until resistance mounted high enough to overcome the causative agent. The more sudden the onset the worse the distress. If the difficulty comes on gradually, discomfort will not be so great.

What are we dealing with? Apparently it is an infection similar to acute rheumatism or lumbago. The exact nature of the illness is not clear altho it has been termed "Bornholm's disease" [devil's grippe]. It should be pointed out, however, that this latter malady rarely strikes the upper back or shoulders.

Most of these sufferers will present a typical incubation period of several days—head cold, sore throat, or headache. That an infection is responsible has been demonstrated by spraying nasal washings from those who are ill, into the nostrils of volunteer subjects. While nothing positive was disclosed, enough cases appeared to lead to the conclusion that the original focus arises in the airways.

One curious fact is that once an individual has experienced a bout, he is somewhat more likely to develop another, altho not immediately. This cannot be looked upon as a relapse. In other words, a single attack apparently renders the patient more susceptible. In one report, including 906 cases, 22 per cent recalled having had similar trouble several years earlier.

Heat offers the best type of relief. Packs wrung out of hot water are preferred. If assistance is not available, the sufferer may resort to hot water bags or heating pads for comfort. Rest, a light diet, and good elimination are indicated. Mild doses of salicylates will aid in controling pain.

HOT-FOOTED.

E. L. writes: Why is it that my feet are always uncomfortably warm? I have to sleep with them uncovered.

REPLY.

Probably a nervous phenomenon, which brings on dilatation of the skin capillaries. Some obstruction to the return flow of blood should be considered. Related to acrocyanosis. This may be a sensitivity reaction.

BONE AND JOINT.

J. W. writes: How does osteoarthritis differ from ordinary arthritis?

REPLY.

The term "arthritis" usually refers to inflammation of a joint. Osteoarthritis is the same as hypertrophic arthritis. In this condition, bone in the vicinity undergoes degeneration and overgrowth.

BRONCHIAL IRRITATION.

L. D. C. writes: What is the cause of constant coughing during the night?

REPLY.

Bronchitis—altho the entire respiratory tract should be examined. Sometimes an elongated uvula—a portion of the soft palate—will be responsible for a persistent type of irritation.

BILE FACTORY.

D. S. T. writes: Is bile formed in the liver or the gall bladder?

REPLY.

In the liver. The gall sac is a reservoir which acts much like a surge tank.

LUMPY NECK.

G. S. writes: What causes a swollen artery in the neck?

REPLY.

Some weakness of the arterial wall, resulting in an aneurysm—bulging.

On Being a Legend.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—To be legendary must sometimes be almost unbearable. It is at one time a great burden and a public trust. We got to pondering this today while walking thru Lafayette square. The day was soft and springlike, and the ground was silver gray with pigeons who, sighting any one with what seemed to be a sack of peanuts in his hand, fled around him in blinding gray clouds, cooing supplicatingly. The stout graying lady with the knitting bag full of peanuts who has come to one bench every day for 11 years to feed the pigeons and observe their antics was there. So was the sailor reading and reading his letter. It probably is not the same sailor reading and rereading his let- it looks like the same sailor and you are always confident that he knows that letter by heart.

The mother with the little boy who always flaps his arms at the pigeons and yells, "I'm a commando! Git! Git! Git!" was there, trying in vain to soothe him. The lean, wild eyed man in a leather helmet and overalls who always spread-eagles his arms against a tree and yowls hill-billy ballads in a strong nasal yelp was there, too. And so, empty as always at that hour in the day, was the bench upon which Barney Baruch sits out each Sunday morning.

We got to wondering if Mr. Baruch really liked sitting on that bench, if sometimes he didn't want to sit in his office in the Treasury building, if occasionally he didn't wake up in the morning, lie in bed considering his day's routine, and say, fretfully, "O, I wish I didn't have to go sit on that old bench this morning!" Then the inner voice would reply, coldly and nastily, "If you don't like it, why did you ever start it? You know good and well you can't stop now. You're a legend. You can't destroy the people's faith in legends."

So Mr. Baruch grumbles his way out of bed, has a lingering breakfast, staving off until the last minute that walk to that bench, and finally folds himself onto it, where, instead of meditating upon the fiscal worries crowding down upon the cornices of the marble Treasury building across the way, he reminds himself dutifully: "I can't think about money and the national debt. That would furrow my brow. I must look contemplative and bucolic." And he does. It must be a fearful burden.

And Churchill—does he really like cigars? Or is it popular demand that makes him always gnaw on one? He has to be seen with a cigar, for he always has been. He probably would infinitely prefer a cigaret or a pipe or even an occasional plug of chewing tobacco, but does he ever have an opportunity to try and rediscover their taste? No. He can't afford to. He probably never even has a fresh cigar. His stump of a cigar is legendary.

Not long ago in Ottawa Mr. Willem Van Tets, private secretary to Crown Princess Juliana, showed us a picture of Churchill taken at the time of the Quebec conference. His hands were on his hips, his face was menacing, his brows bushy, but in those little round eyes was the glint of a smile, a smile of triumph: there was no cigar in his mouth. Mr. Van Tets related that the photographer, a bold gent, walked over to the British prime minister and without as much as a by-your-leave-sir snatched the cigar stump from the Churchill mouth and tossed it into the fire. Then, while Churchill expostulated and roared in rage, he shot this magnificent portrait.

Greta Garbo, by the same reasoning, probably is as gregarious as a sheep, but she can't afford to let her public down; and Errol Flynn probably hates romance. Calvin Coolidge may have been a garrulous man at heart, and maybe there is more than one man Willkie. It must even be hard on Mr. Ickes. Perhaps he loves all his enemies and bows his head in sorrow every time he castigates one in public. Perhaps he is just the nicest tempered old man in Washington, but he just doesn't dare destroy the Ickes legend. Or possibly he is an exception.

THE MIDWEST REVISITED.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 21.—I have just returned from my home in Kenosha, Wis. I spent eight days there on furlough, and while there I visited Chicago just to see the busy city again. I have been hearing about the "complacency" of the middle west for a long time now, so I decided to check up. I visited three large war plants and talked to many workers, superintendents, and a president of a large war plant, and I found that the people are really doing their best for the war, but they do their part quietly. They contribute their papers and cans, buy bonds, pool their cars, do without many luxuries and necessities, but they do it without all the fanfare and publicity that is so prominent here on the coast. To top it all, most of the windows of the homes in the middle west show a flag with one to four stars. They are giving more to their country than any other section of the United States, but they give magnificently—quietly. I am proud of them.

HE'S MIXED UP.

Park Ridge, Ill., Jan. 15.—On page 137 of the Reader's Digest for January, 1944, appears the following:

"The Gestapo, in hunting out enemies of the party, employs terroristic methods reminiscent of the middle ages and the Spanish Inquisition. This atmosphere is deliberately maintained. Arrests are made at night or early in the morning; those who make the arrests are silent and grim; no explanation is offered, and the arrested and his family are given the impression that the victim is going straight to the gallows."

I am confused. A day or two ago I read in the papers of an arrest of a man, either in the east or in Germany, by the FBI or the Gestapo, who was charged with uttering seditious words against the administration or the Nazi party. Will some one please straighten me out as to where this happened. Will somebody also please list any other ideals they can think of that we are fighting for. PUZZLED.

HARDSHIP TACTICS.

Wilmette, Ill., Jan. 21.—To me, all this oil shortage propaganda by the OPA seems a little far-fetched. The OPA continually emphasizes that there is a fuel oil shortage to such an extent that homes which haven't enough oil to carry them over to the pre-determined date will be unable to get fuel oil [except in cases of serious illness]. I have yet to enter a suburban train, railroad depot, office building, store, or restaurant, in fact any kind of a commercial business office, without finding them overheated. Isn't this saving at the spigot [residential users] and wasting at the bunghole [large users]?

THE FEDERAL VOTE SMOKE SCREEN.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 19.—One may well be distrustful of those who advocate "easy" voting schemes for the armed forces. It suggests the importance of legislative safeguards against tampering and fraud.

Absentee voting has always been the legal responsibility of the states. The setup insures the voter reasonable assurance that it is his vote that reaches his voting precinct inviolate.

The air plane has conquered distance. Those who raise that barrier conceal their real motives. The American people are anxious that their sons and daughters in the armed forces vote, but they want to make certain that it is their vote that is counted. The solicitude of those who envision the possibilities in handling the absentee voting in this election is understandable.

The impropriety of the legislative proposal that the President be empowered to appoint a commission to supervise and federalize an election in which he is a candidate raises the question of its legitimacy.

SECRETARY STIMSON AND LABOR SLAVERY.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Does Secretary Stimson really believe that the men overseas and in camps want their wives, mothers, and sweethearts drafted for labor, as well as what men are left at home, the physically able of whom are already working in war plants? If so, he must be off his beam. Has it occurred to these men that when and if discharged they would be subject to that same labor draft? Instead of returning to the comparatively free life of a civilian, they would be out of the fire into the frying pan. Secretary Stimson assumes a great deal when he attempts to tell congress what soldiers are thinking. Let him speak for himself alone and not make stooges out of the soldiers. GERRY BINKLEY.

THE MATHEMATICIANS DEMAND 48TH AVENUE.

River Forest, Ill., Jan. 21.—Now that the proper name of Pulaski road is definitely established, let me speak for the 3 million citizens of Chicago who are of Irish descent, or wish that they were of Irish descent, and request that Cicero avenue be restored to its original name of Mulligan avenue. By what right does this Cicero, gone lo these 2,000 years, push us around?

Funds for UNRRA on Way by Votes in U. S. and Britain

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—The house passed the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration bill today, 338 to 54.

The bill, as sent to the senate, authorizes American participation to the extent of 1 billion 350 million dollars in a 2½ billion dollar relief program for war torn lands which was praised in four days of debate as a great humanitarian experiment and denounced as a global WPA founded on an international super-state.

It was pointed out that the vote today was merely an authorization of funds, not an appropriation. The funds will not be available until an appropriation bill is introduced and passed by both house and senate.

Twenty of the 54 votes against the measure were from the Chicagoland states, 11 being from Illinois. Congressional leaders said the opposition votes were a protest against the administration's refusal to safeguard American interests, since the need for American aid was admitted by all.

Called Unconstitutional.

Many members of the house said UNRRA is a super-state from which the United States is barred by the Constitution and sought to make the relief project an outright gift to be administered by the Red Cross, the Quakers, or the army and navy. But the Roosevelt forces blocked all efforts to avoid joining UNRRA, in which the United States, furnishing approximately two-thirds of the funds, will be outvoted, 43 to 1.

Partisan politics came out into the open when Majority Leader McCormack [D., Mass.] rallied all the administration forces to restore control of the American contribution to President Roosevelt. The house had voted yesterday to place responsibility for the funds on the state department, as Dean Acheson, assistant secretary of state, is the American UNRRA delegate. Rep. Vorys [R., O.], who had proposed state department responsibility, made it plain today, in amendments to make the bill conform to his plan, that the state department was to work under the President's direction.

Charges Politics.

McCormack, however, abruptly took the floor to charge the Republicans with partisan politics, and said that other nations would regard the move for state department handling of the funds as "a slap against the President." McCormack thereafter referred to Mr. Roosevelt as "My President," and demanded that the state department provision be eliminated.

The house bowed to McCormack, 217 to 175, but not until after Vorys had rebuked McCormack as having himself injected partisan politics after the Republicans had, Vorys said, refrained from doing so.

Rep. Rogers [R., Mass.] promptly demanded that the bill be sent back to the foreign affairs committee, of which she is a member, with instructions that the American contribution be limited to 700 million dollars, but the administration forces defeated the move.

Appeals for India.

Chairman Bloom [D., N. Y.] of the foreign affairs committee agreed to offer no opposition when Rep. Mundt [R., S. D.] renewed Republican demands that India's starving millions be given the consideration they had previously been denied. The house thereupon voted an amendment that American funds might be used for the relief in any district where famine or pestilence might endanger American military operations.

This would include India so far as the bill is concerned. Members of the house admitted, however, that the amendment is only an expression of congressional will, since the UNRRA agreement, signed by the 44 member nations, excludes India because India is not an enemy occupied nation.

$320,000,000

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Great Britain's contributions to the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration will be 320 million dollars a year, John Anderson, chancellor of the exchequer, revealed today. This sum is approximately 1 per cent of the national income, which the participating nations agreed to contribute, Anderson told the house of commons. He pointed out, however, that the "distressed countries" which could not pay would be helped until they could.

In the debate on appropriations, UNRRA came in for some criticism from Robert J. G. Boothby, a Conservative from Aberdeen, who said he hoped the example of the allied military government in selecting officials from the military would not be followed. Boothby asserted the Americans were generally suspicious UNRRA might be turned into an enormous European public works policy financed by them." He said he regarded UNRRA as a "Red Cross policy designed to meet a particular emergency, and it therefore must be of limited and temporary character."

Urges 3 Divisions.

Boothby urged three authorities be set up at the beginning: UNRRA for the immediate policy of relief; an international investment board for long term reconstruction in the countries devastated by the war and for backward countries, and an international commodity board of the kind envisaged at the Hot Springs, Va., conference.

Capt. Robert H. Bernays, a Liberal National member, stating that the British people must be prepared to continue rationing after the war, said it would be easier to sell this idea if "an assurance could be given that the United States and the dominions were preparing to make similar sacrifices." There is at present a decided disparity in the scale of sacrifices being made, he asserted.

Minister of State Richard K. Law, replying for the government, said UNRRA was not conceived as a dictatorship and if any country preferred to solve its own rehabilitation problems it was free to do so. Law said the chief difference between European relief in the first world war and this time was that then it was financed largely by loans, which in theory were to have been repaid, altho few were.

No Question of Loans.

"This time there is no question of loans," he said. "Those countries which can pay will, and those that can't will have a gift from the countries more fortunate than themselves."

The 320 million dollar yearly UNRRA appropriation was part of a 7 billion dollar appropriation approved today by commons. Three billion dollars will carry the nation's expenditures to the end of the fiscal year on April 1, while the remaining 4 billion dollars have been earmarked to begin the new year. The new appropriation brings the total to 20 billion dollars for the current year with the daily expenditures remaining at $53,000,000, Anderson said.

MIDLAND CLUB CASE TAKEN TO SUPREME COURT

An appeal from a decision of Judge William V. Brothers of Circuit court that Cook county had no right to bid in the Midland club, 172 West Adams street, at a tax sale last April without an actual outlay of cash, was filed with the Illinois Supreme court at Springfield yesterday.

The county's bid was for the entire amount of the back taxes and penalties, more than $725,000. When it was declared illegal, the property was ordered sold to the only competing bidder, Alexander Spare, whose offer was only $150,000. The club building was erected in 1927 and represents an investment of about 6 million dollars.

The county's appeal was drawn by Francis Clamitz, assistant state's attorney, who contended that the court erred in not approving the bid of the county.

CALL ON RUSSIA FOR PULP WOOD, F. D. R. IS URGED

Lend-Lease in Reverse Asked on Newsprint.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—Rep. Boren [D., Okla.], chairman of a special house committee investigating newsprint supplies, today called upon President Roosevelt to arrange for the importation from Russia of pulpwood to alleviate the paper shortage in this country.

Boren announced at an open hearing of the committee that he had written to the President suggesting that ships carrying lend-lease shipments from this country to Russia could bring back pulp or pulpwood. Boren suggested the shipments might be made under "reverse lend-lease."

Boren's letter said the paper and pulp shortage was discussed at the recent Cairo and Teheran conferences attended by the President, Prime Minister Churchill, and Premier Stalin, in the case of Teheran. The letter asked the President to have one of his assistants investigate and try to arrange with Russia for pulp imports.

Plan Called Feasible.

E. W. Tinker, executive secretary of the American Paper and Pulp association, told the committee the feasibility of getting pulpwood from Russia was indicated by the recent importation of 16,000 cords of wood from the soviets.

The committee today also heard Arthur H. Treanor, director of the war production board printing and publishing division, deny the government plans to create a newsprint stockpile instead of permitting all available newsprint to go to newspapers.

Last month the WPB ordered newsprint quotas for publishers cut to 23.6 per cent below the 1941 level, after Canada announced its mills could supply 182,000 tons of newsprint a month to this country's publishers.

Canada Raises Commitment.

Canada subsequently raised its commitment to 200,000 tons a month, but the WPB refused to increase the newsprint quotas, and it was reported the government's foreign economic administration would buy the additional 18,000 tons monthly and place it in a stockpile.

Treanor submitted estimates today, however, to show that virtually the entire 200,000 tons from Canada and all domestic supplies of newsprint will go to publishers for consumption or to increase their inventories.

Treanor estimated there will be a balance of 10,879 tons of newsprint in the first quarter to meet publishers' appeals for extra paper, after considering all supply sources.

Extra Grants to Be Cut.

He said that means that grants of extra paper this year by the WPB will be "reduced drastically." He said fewer appeals are necessary because this year's quotas have been adjusted to reflect circulation increases based on population gains from 1941 to 1942.

The committee also asked WPB officials to determine the extent that Canadian newsprint output has been curtailed because of alleged power shortages.

The request was made after Elbert Antrim, assistant business manager of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, testified newsprint production at a Tribune subsidiary mill at Thorold, Ont., was reduced 60 per cent to conserve electric power under orders from the Canadian government.

Wife of Robert N. Cross, Broker, Granted Divorce

Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady in Waukegan granted a divorce yesterday to Mrs. Marjory G. Cross, 431 North Linden avenue, Highland Park, from Robert N. Cross, a former Chicago broker who now lives in Michigan. Mrs. Cross charged cruelty. She was granted custody of their three children and, under an agreement reached out of court, will receive $150 a month for their support.

FARM BUREAU HEAD ATTACKS CEILING ON PAY

Fears It'll Stir Rural Unrest.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—The government's $2,400 ceiling on annual wages of farm workers was sharply criticized today by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, who said it may stir unrest among the majority of farm laborers receiving less than the top limit, and cause demands for the maximum.

"My first reaction," he said, "was, 'who in hell makes $2,400 on a farm?'"

Sees 2 Million Farm Jobs.

The farm wage came up while O'Neal was testifying before the house buildings committee, which is studying post-war questions. Rep. Manasco [D., Ala.] asked O'Neal's opinion of it.

Food would be glutting the American market now, the federation president said, if $2,400 were an average annual wage for farm workers.

Turning to the post-war outlook, the federation leader said American farms will be ready to employ 2 million demobilized soldiers at the war's end. Outlining a 13 point program, O'Neal called for "voluntary adoption by this country of price and wage policies based on a philosophy of abundance."

Suggests Many Reforms.

Other points included: United States participation in international affairs, aid to war-ravaged nations, removal of domestic and foreign trade barriers, employment for every discharged soldier, swift conversion of industries, prompt action to pay the public debt, and a pay-as-you-go policy to avoid inflation.

A joint congressional committee to plot this country's post-war course was favored by O'Neal, who stressed "democratic methods" of planning for peace.

"The people must make the decisions," the farm leader emphasized. "Too great a reliance on government action alone can destroy our democratic institutions."

The latter, directed by the United States office of war information plus a small staff from the British foreign office, already has been criticized for its management of Radio Algiers and Radio Bari.

ROBNETT WINS TIME TO AMEND $1,000,000 SUIT

J. A. Cobbey, attorney for George Washington Robnett, executive secretary of the Church League of America, said yesterday that he had been granted 30 days by Federal Judge William H. Holly in which to file an amended complaint in a $100,000 libel suit against E. P. Dutton, Inc., publishers of a book entitled "Under Cover."

An earlier complaint was dismissed by Judge Holly who held that it set forth no facts which entitled Robnett to recover damages, and that the charges were "mere conclusions." Robnett alleges that he and the church league were defamed by advertising on the cover of the book.

Robnett also has a 1 million dollar libel suit pending against the Jurgens Lotion company and Walter Winchell in the federal court of Judge John P. Barnes. Cobbey said that no action has been taken in this case.

WABASH RAILROAD TAKES A HAND IN BUILDING "THE HEART OF AMERICA"

FOR more than a century, Wabash and the railroads which joined to form the Wabash system, have been helping to build "The Heart of America."

In the days of railroad pioneering, settlers chose farmsteads along these lines. A rich agricultural area, studded with thriving cities, grew upon the plains.

Later, the efforts of the Wabash agricultural and industrial departments helped introduce new crops, better farming methods and aided new industries to locate in this region. This work has resulted in homes and jobs for thousands. And the Wabash has profited by it, for success of the railroad depends upon the prosperity of the communities it serves.

THOSE QUIZ KIDS GROW UP; TRIO NOW IN SERVICE

Dinah Shore Will End Fifth Year on Air.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The Quiz Kids—some of them—are growing up. Three former Quiz Kids are now in the military services. Jack French, 17 years old, Chicago, and Dennis Shanahan, 17, of Pittsburgh, are aviation cadets, and Richard Kosterlitz, 18, of Chicago, is a Navy V-12 man.

Joe Kelly, quizmaster, asked the kids the other evening to name their favorite great artist and to tell why they liked him. Joan Shephard said: "Rembrandt, because he painted so realistically." Marion Brown: "Leonardo da Vinci, because I like Mona Lisa."

Said Richard Williams, with a dead-pan: "Chester Gould, because I like Dick Tracy."

Quiz Kid Margaret Merrick, 15, who gets around pretty well tho she contracted polio two and a half years ago, gave a message pertinent to all children suffering from infantile paralysis on a recent broadcast:

"The No. 1 rule," said Margaret, "is: Don't feel sorry for yourself and nobody else will."

Off a live mike: Frances Knight, star of "Good Night, Ladies," will be a guest on the Don Norman interview show over W-G-N at 12:15 p. m. today. . . . Incidentally, this is one show open to visitors without tickets. Just drop around shortly after noon at the W-G-N studio building. . . . Dinah Shore rounds out five years as a radio songstress on her own show at 8:30 tomorrow night. Dinah is just about the most popular of all singers with the troops overseas and has made many appearances on Command Performance, the all request short wave program. . . . A marine hero on a quiz program was asked the other evening to identify "The Voice" and give his birthplace: "Well, I don't like him," he began. . . . He did know, however, that the expression identifies Frank Sinatra.

Raymond Scott and his orchestra have been selected by OWI to broadcast popular music daily to the fighting fronts all over the world. His programs will be rebroadcast over relay stations in Algiers, Tunis, Palermo, Bari, and Naples in the Mediterranean theater, and many other scattered outpost stations. . . . The three notes of the NBC chimes, —G, E, and C—have acquired a voice and joined the current war loan campaign. They say: "Buy war bonds." The chimes, which signal time for station breaks on the chain, have learned to talk thru the aid of three notes, struck on an organ, a feminine voice, and the device known as sonovox, which has come into wide use for radio and movie sound effects.

Music Yields Beauty Under Lange's Baton

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Hans Lange conducting. Presented at Orchestra hall Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 25, 1944. The program:
Overture to "Der Freischütz" ...... Weber
Symphony No. 4, A major, "Italian" .... Mendelssohn-Bartholdy
Suite, "Through the Looking Glass" .... Taylor
Polka and Fugue from "Schwanda, the Bagpipe Player" .... Weinberger

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Hans Lange's major concern at a concert is not to display either the orchestra or himself, but the music, knowing, as any wise conductor must, that music worth playing inevitably shares its luster with those who play it well. Yesterday afternoon's concert paid extra dividends to this approach by coaxing the Chicago Symphony into some of its most persuasive playing of the season, notably in Mendelssohn's "Italian" Symphony, and in a virtuoso performance of Deems Taylor's ageless suite, "Through the Looking Glass."

Time was when we took this sort of performance for granted. Nowadays many of us enter Orchestra hall like Eliza about to cross the ice. Some find this uncertainty exhilarating to the point of the adventurous. Others are merely apprehensive. At any rate, few of us relaxed yesterday until Mr. Lange had launched and landed the "Freischütz" overture in a clean performance that at least let Weber speak for himself. It was sound, tho it rarely challenged brilliance.

The Mendelssohn was a far more scintillant story. Feather light in texture, translucent in tone, it flooded the concert hall with the Italian sunshine the composer remembered so vividly and caught so imperishably in music. The strings were fine spun silk, and the bassoons and horns of the trio recaptured the dulcet magic that in older days was our pride and so rich a part of the orchestra's glory.

All this was open sesame to Mr. Taylor's "Alice in Wonderland" score, which has its own key to make believe. A fairy tale performance found the orchestra a sympathetic yet tongue in cheek narrator, which could understand why it was twice as gallant for the White Knight to keep on riding when, like an almost forgotten prince of our own time, he kept falling off his horse. The orchestral tone had the listening air of enchantment, while the clarinet did gyre and gimble, the jabberwock writhed in bassoon convolutions, and the piano made wonderful sounds with a paper chase on the strings.

But this, like Mendelssohn, was light fingered and light hearted. The mood of success dimmed when the players tackled Weinberger's bulky "Schwanda," usually a surefire afterpiece. The polka was on the elephantine side and, while the fugue began meticulously, it ran into heavy going and ended without the joyous brilliance long its trademark at Orchestra hall. It suggested that each section of the orchestra needed to be rehearsed separately, then put together with a surgeon's care. It reversed Mr. Lange's otherwise persuasive premise because, while you heard the orchestra and watched the conductor, you did not completely hear the music.

Spring Styles List Full Line of Accessories

BY REA SEEGER.

Three important accessories for costumes this spring will be taffeta neck scarves, gloves, and bags. The neck scarves are smartest when they are only about a foot wide and twice that long. They're worn muffled in the vee neckline of a suit jacket, with coat dresses, and with coats.

Striped scarves are the most effective and eye catching. There are white backgrounds splashed with scarlet, jade green, bright blue, and yellow, two and three color combinations, and a multi-colored pattern featuring four to six contrasting colored stripes. Candy stripes in pink and white, blue and white, gray and white, also bright tones of yellow, violet, and green, complete a slick assortment from which to choose. Most of the scarves have the fringed or frayed edges. They're all decorative, new, and fetching feminine trifles.

Every one knows the suit swank of pigskin gloves for daytime and street wear with early spring suits and costumes. This season, pigskin gloves aren't quite so abundant as formerly, but what there are make high fashion handouts for the smartest suits. Classic slipons come in black, white, a husky tan, and stone gray.

Most of them are stitched in thread to match the leather, a few come with contrasting thread, such as white on black and black with brown. Longer gloves to slip well up over the sleeves almost to the elbow are available in black, white, and luggage tan. These are long wearing all-purpose pigskins.

Crocheted bags are here, not only in stunning shapes and sizes, but in effective street shades—navy, brown, and black, plus a few high colors. Much ingenuity is visible in the clever new patterns and stitches. Both fat envelopes and some tricky draw string pouches are new and are especially ideal for soft dressmaker suits of wool and combinations of wool and silk.

White Collar GIRL

—BY RUTH MAC KAY—

Chet and Hildegarde.

It's a human story—not a press agent's yarn. It concerns Hildegarde, the Palmer House Packin' Mama; and it concerns Chet. It comes from Chet's wife, Lillian, a contributor to this column who works in the Hamilton Park branch of the Chicago public library.

Every now and then funny things happen at the library, small incidents which Lillian tucks away in the back of her mind and at night takes home to Chet, along with an armload of groceries for dinner. He has been confined to his bed for more than two years, and the hours drag for a man with a lively interest in the world, a man who loves music and people and chatter.

One evening a few nights ago Chet remarked to a friend who stopped in to visit that he wished he could get down to the Empire room to see Hildegarde. He had followed her career from the start, he said, and, well, a hamburger would be cheap at $50 if he could just get to see her!

No one knows how word reached Hildegarde, but a few nights later at about 6 o'clock the telephone next to Chet's bed rang and it was Hildegarde, calling for a friendly telephone chat . . . quite a lift for a man for whom hours creep slowly by.

MARSHALL HEIM.

Roses are red
As the poet has said,
And violets, too, are blue,
But why dost thou make thy cheeks the one
And thy eyelids the other hue?

BABE BOWERS.

For Court Reporters.

If enough girls are interested in studying court reporting, Jones Commercial Evening High school, 607 Plymouth court, may open a court reporting class in the new semester beginning Jan. 31. Any girl who might like to enroll should go to the school, which is close to the loop, and make application. Jones is part of the public school system and offers many types of business courses, as well as a vocational testing and job consultation service. The courses are free.

White Collar Commuters.

Don't walk thru coaches while train is in motion; it might cost a life.

Don't rest your head on a neighbor's shoulder; sleep at home.

Don't open a window; you may not mind soot and cinders, but other passengers may object.

Don't talk noisily; others might like to read.

Don't stare at people; it is embarrassing.

Don't open your newspaper and spread it out; it annoys your seatmate.

Don't comb your hair on the way to work; passengers are not collecting your locks for souvenirs.

Don't apply make-up on the train or file your nails.

Anchor your train ticket inside your purse to be found post-haste; the conductor is not interested in your belongings.

Women in War Work

—By Kate Massee—

Lt. Elizabeth Reniff.

One of the recent graduates of the WAVES officers' school at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., is Lt. [j. g.] Elizabeth Reniff. She has been assigned as an administrative officer in a navy bureau in Washington, D. C.

Before enlisting in the WAVES Lt. Reniff was executive secretary to one of the partners in a large Chicago advertising agency. She once was editorial assistant to Henry Field, anthropologist of the Field museum, and also was financial secretary to Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, widow of the late United States ambassador to Mexico.

Lt. Reniff is a graduate of the Girls' Latin school and of Wellesley college, class of 1930. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reniff, 7712 North Ashland avenue.

Registration has been extended thru Friday for 68 different tuition free war training courses to begin next Monday at the Illinois Institute of Technology. The extension has been arranged by Prof. John I. Yellott, Illinois Tech's war training director, because the need for skilled technicians is greater than at any time in the institute's program.

The courses especially suitable for women include fundamentals of time study, motion study, time study practice, industrial management for foremen, metallography, general metallurgy and heat treatment, plastics, spectroscopic analysis, inspection methods, and tool inspection.

Other fields in which women's abilities are sought are drawing, drafting, production illustration, radio mathematics, elements of telephony, advanced telephony, illumination engineering, introduction to radio, and elements of radio.

All these courses, Prof. Yellott said, have a definite post-war future when war industry converts to peace time production. Meanwhile, the United States office of education is completely financing the training of Illinois Tech enrollees in order to staff war plants.

Information regarding eligibility for the courses, which run 15 weeks, may be obtained at three registration headquarters, 1951 West Madison street, 3300 South Federal street, and 4710 West Cermak road.

The first event in the fourth war loan program of the women's division, war finance committee of Cook county, will be a tea at 3:15 p. m. today in the Walnut room of Marshall Field & Co.

Entitled a "war bond celebri-tea," the party will feature the appearance of several guest stars. The price of admission is the purchase of a $100 war bond, which may be obtained at special booths in the victory center on the first floor, the bond booths on the first and third floors, and the army show on the fourth floor.

Mrs. Walter Wolf, chairman of the women's division, will be chief hostess at the tea, assisted by Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, Mrs. Leo P. Cummings, Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, Mrs. Louis L. Mann, and Mrs. Glenn Frank.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

Children's Aid Society Work Reviewed; Benefit Plans Told

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE season of annual meetings is definitely on, with boards, trustees, and members of various organizations gathering left and right to hear annual reports and elect new officers.

Yesterday in the Century room of the La Salle hotel members of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society heard a review of the work done in the last year, given by the general director, Mabbatt K. Reckord, and a hint of plans for a new fund drive to be put on before Easter by the woman's board, announced by its chairman, Mrs. Jacob Baur. The benefit will be more unusual and appealing than the society's "Phantom Ball," which raised nearly $20,000 last year. The script has been written by Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr. and a collaborator, but Mrs. Baur would not reveal further details yesterday.

Guest speaker yesterday was Perry Dunlap Smith, headmaster of the North Shore Country Day school, and brother of Hermon Dunlap Smith, president of the board of trustees.

"If education becomes uniform in America, then democracy will cease to exist," said Mr. Smith, who noted that the first thing the totalitarian governments did was to destroy the influence of the home and make education uniform. "We must have all kinds of schools," he said, "and the influence of the home must be increased." It was the society's 60th annual meeting.

Other Meetings.

Beginning its 60th year is the board of directors of the Children's Memorial hospital, which met for luncheon followed by the annual meeting yesterday at the hospital. John P. Wilson was elected president for 1944, with Stanley Field, Albert H. Wetten, and Col. A. A. Sprague, as vice presidents; Frederick S. Booth, secretary, and N. M. Symonds, treasurer. Mrs. James C. Hutchins was retained as president of the women's auxiliary board, and heading the junior auxiliary will be Mrs. Roy L. Flannery.

Miss Mabel W. Binner, hospital administrator, paid special tribute to the volunteers, including the Red Cross nurses' aids, who saw the hospital thru a difficult year.

The North Shore association for the Crippled will hold its annual meeting today in the home of Mrs. H. Carman Lutkin of Evanston. Mrs. Alfred Taylor will present the new slate of officers, and Miss Helen Chapman and Mrs. David Porter will tell of plans for a money raising project. The new director of the homebound program, Mrs. Joseph Langan, will report on that work.

News of Births.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Richard Schueler Jr. [Helen Riordan] have named their first child, born Jan. 20 in the Presbyterian hospital, James Richard after his father and maternal grandfather. The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Schueler of Lake Shore drive and Mr. and Mrs. James K. Riordan of Elmhurst.

Mrs. Clarke Munn of Glencoe left last night for Fort Worth, Tex., to see her new grandchild, the daughter born there yesterday to Maj. and Mrs. Dwight P. Green Jr. [Barbara Munn]. The baby, who has an 18 month old sister, Mary Porter, has been named Jane Evans for Mrs. Munn. Maj. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Green of Winnetka, is

Chicago Area Artists' Works to Go on View

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The 48th annual exhibition of Artists of Chicago and Vicinity will open this afternoon in the east wing galleries of the Art institute with a reception for the artists and will open tomorrow to the public. It will continue on view to March 5.

A painting by Ivan Le Lorraine Albright, which consists chiefly of meticulous and detailed drawing with a touch of color, "The Show Case Doll that Was Never Painted"; a beautiful little white marble sculpture by Elisabeth Haseltine Hibbard, "White Rabbit," and a gallery hung with splendid photographs of artists by Helen Balfour Morrison are the highlights of the exhibit. The exhibition has very few pictures in relation to the amount of wall space to be filled and only a smattering of sculpture. In fact, in the entire history of this exhibition it has never been as small or as inconsequential.

Among the younger painters seen for the first time at the institute is Joan Mitchell, daughter of Marion Strobel Mitchell, writer. Miss Mitchell is a student at Smith college. Her painting is the "Accordion Player." Clinton King shows one of the most beautifully painted landscapes in "Westleigh Farm." The details in the foreground are delightful, and the water running under the bridge will remind a trout fisherman of August days. Nina K. Griffin offers a very lovely "October in the Ozarks," a landscape filled with muted colors and a conscious peace characteristic of that solitary countryside.

Charles P. Killgore of the Tribune staff is represented by a striking composition, "Las Cruces," which seems to share the mysticism and symbolism of an O'Keefe painting. Rowena Fry has a deliciously prim little canvas in "Still Life with Coffee Mill," and Winnifred Pleimling has a stunning arrangement of sea shells on a table, with the sea serving as backdrop, in "Shells." Edithe Jane Cassady, Flora Schofield, Seaman Leopold Seyffert Jr. [with "Toddy," an exquisite small portrait], William S. Schwartz, Edna Wolff Henner, and Karl Priebe offer paintings of interest.

The Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan Art institute medal and $500 went to "Study: City Detail" by Edgar Miller. The Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Armstrong prize of $300 was given to Margo Hoff for "In the Cathedral." The William H. Bartels prize of $300 was awarded to Pvt. Don Mundt for "2 a. m." The Mr. and Mrs. Jule F. Brower prize of $300 went to "County Seat" by Thelma Slobe. The Municipal Art league prize for portraiture, a $100 war bond, was awarded to "My Friend Joe," a sculpture, by Mario C. Ubaldi.

The Clyde M. Carr prize of $100 went to Clinton King for "Westleigh Farm." The Joseph N. Eisendrath prize of $100 was awarded to "Girl Getting into Water" by Wolfgang Behl. The William and Bertha Clusmann prize of $100 went to "Green Apples" by Stanley M. Mitruk." "The Bullets Were Coming Kind of Close" by Julio de Diego won the Broadus James Clarke Memorial prize of $50.

'Clock Strikes Twelve'

By Patricia Wentworth

(Copyright: 1944: By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull.)

SYNOPSIS: James Paradine telephones Elliot Wray to come to River house at once. Blueprints are missing. It is a family affair. The family assembles for New Year's eve dinner—Grace Paradine, sister of James; her adopted daughter, Phyllida Wray; Mark and Dicky Paradine, cousins, and nephews of James; Frank Ambrose [Paradine's stepson]; his wife, Irene; his sister, Brenda, and Lydia Pennington, Irene's sister. James Paradine joins the family group with his cousin-secretary, Albert Pearson, and Elliot Wray, research worker in the family airplane works and estranged husband of Phyllida, whom he has not seen for a year. Before drinking the usual toasts, James Paradine accuses one of the family of disloyalty. The guilty one will find him in his study until midnight, prepared to make terms. The party breaks up early, all guests leaving except Albert Pearson and Elliot, who remains at James Paradine's request. Pearson insists upon staying with Elliot until midnight to establish an alibi. Phyllida, worried over her marital status, seeks James Paradine's advice. He suggests she give Elliot a chance to defend himself against Aunt Grace's accusations. In the hall Elliot sees the front door move and hears sounds from the upper floor. James Paradine, in his study, examines his wife's jewels, then steps out on the terrace. Phyllida awakens, a cry ringing in her ears, at just after 12. Early next morning, Lane, the butler, finds James Paradine's body on the ground below the parapet. Whether to disclose to the police the charge made by James Paradine was discussed by the family. Supt. Vyner questions Aunt Grace, after telling her, in the opinion of Dr. Frith, police surgeon, James Paradine's death was not an accident.

INSTALMENT XV.

NO UNPLEASANTNESS.

"Did Mr. Paradine join you in the drawing room after dinner?" the superintendent asked.

"No."

"Was that usual?"

Miss Paradine hesitated.

"I don't think I know quite what you mean."

"You had a New Year's Eve party. Mr. Paradine did not join you in the drawing room. He went straight from the dining room to his study. Wouldn't that be unusual?"

"When he didn't come into the drawing room I thought he wanted to be quiet. He had had a lot of business all day. Mr. Wray was with him right up to dinner time, I believe."

He asked, "Did you see him at all after you left the dining room?"

She said, "No."

"He didn't come out of the study when Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose and the others were going away?"

"No."

"Did they go into the study to say good-by?"

She said, "No," again.

"Wouldn't that be rather unusual, Miss Paradine?"

"No—I don't know. I think we all took it for granted that he didn't wish to be disturbed. It was a family party. There was no need to stand on ceremony."

"Then did none of you see him again?"

"Not that I know of. O, I believe Mr. Wray did."

"O, Mr. Wray did. Yes, I remember he said so—he went in to say goodnight. Did nobody else do that?"

"Really, I can't say."

"Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose didn't—or Miss Ambrose—or Mr. Marks—or Mr. Richard?"

"No."

"Or you yourself?"

"I did not think that he would wish to be disturbed."

"Or Mrs. Wray?"

"O, no. She went upstairs before I did."

"Miss Paradine, you must realize that all this has a very unusual sound, the breakup of the party and no one except Mr. Wray having seen Mr. Paradine to say goodnight. I am bound to tell you what it looks like to me, and that is a family quarrel."

"There was no quarrel."

"No difference of opinion? No unpleasantness of any kind? Nothing to make Mr. Paradine go off to his study? Nothing to account for the party breaking up at half past nine without saying good night to him?"

"The party broke up because Mrs. Ambrose was anxious about her little girl."

"A case of serious illness?"

"O, no. She is apt to be over-anxious."

"Miss Paradine, you must see that this does not account for the whole party breaking up before a quarter to ten. And it doesn't explain why no one said good night to Mr. Paradine. Do you really wish to maintain that nothing had occurred which would account for these things—nothing of an unsual nature?"

"There was nothing."

The family was just across the passage in Phyllida's sitting room. It was Brenda who spoke for every one present. In blunt and heartfelt tones she exclaimed:

"I wish we knew what Aunt Grace was saying to him."

Albert Pearson came a little further into the room.

"It's most unfortunate that we hadn't a little longer to talk things over. Dr. Frith was being very positive about its not being an accident, and when they got it out of Lane how early the party had broken up I could see they were going to ask a lot of questions."

Brenda said, "What about Irene—and Lydia? Suppose he goes and talks to them? Hadn't you better ring up and tell them to be careful what they say?"

Frank Ambrose said, "No."

Elliot Wray surveyed the room with a sense of impending disaster. Then Phyllida had her hand on his arm and was saying in a voice which was only meant for him.

"Elliot. I'm no good at telling lies—I don't think I can."

He turned his eyes on her with a spark of angry humor.

"O, you can't, can't you?"

His hand came down over hers.

"You're not to say you went down to the study—do you hear?"

"Well, I won't unless he asks me."

"George Washington complex?" His grip was hurting her. "Don't be a fool, Phyl."

She said: "You're hurting me," and got a hard "I'd like to wring your neck!"

He was not prepared for her looking up at him with a smile. What can you do when a creature looks at you like that?

Superintendent Vyner, having finished with Miss Paradine, was considering whom he would see next. He had no intention of allowing her to rejoin the rest of the family, and had devised a plan for preventing it. Sergt. Manners was called in and told that Miss Paradine had kindly consented to make a statement. Manners could be relied upon to take an almost unbelievable time over this routine exercise, being a slow writer and very punctilious about getting everything down correctly.

The superintendent's own plan was to select the next person to be interviewed and proceed to the study. But he had only taken a couple of steps along the passage, when he heard the sound of voices from the hall. What he saw when he looked over the balustrade sent him downstairs without further ado. As he came down the last of the flight he encountered Mrs. Frank Ambrose and her sister coming up. The superintendent stopped them, blocking the way.

"Good morning, Mrs. Ambrose. I am very sorry to be here on such a painful errand. Can you spare me a few minutes of your time? If you will do so, I can take your statement and get it over."

"My statement?"

"Why, yes, Mrs. Ambrose. In the case of a sudden death like this I would like to have a statement from every one who was dining here last night. If you wouldn't mind coming into the study—I needn't detain you for more than a few minutes——"

She opened her mouth and shut it again. Two steps higher up Lydia looked down at them.

"Don't you want me, too?" she asked.

"Not at present, thank you, Miss Pennington."

According to Culbertson

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
1 heart	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 spades	Pass	5 clubs [final bid]

South would have been far wiser to start with one spade instead of bidding that anaemic club suit. Even this, however, would not have mattered, in all probability, if he had bid one spade over one diamond, and three hearts over three clubs. Then North might have been willing to accept a three no trump contract.

Against the actual five club contract, West, with no really good lead, opened the diamond eight—"thru strength." The ace was put up and a spade was returned. West took declarer's king and shifted to a heart. Declarer captured East's king and led a trump to the queen. When the finesse held, he could risk cashing the diamond king and then ruffing a diamond. To his satisfaction, the suit broke. Now the club jack was led thru West, who promptly covered with the king.

Declarer was reaching for dummy's trump ace when a warning thought came to his rescue. What if West still had the 10-7 of trumps? If the ace was played the nine could be returned, but how would declarer get back to dummy to draw West's last trump?

As against this, what harm could it do to let West win the club king? Whatever he returned, declarer could control and then safely take out the trumps, finessing if necessary against the ten. So South let West hold the club king, and thereby fulfilled the contract.

Joe E. Brown Does His Best in Weak Film

"CASANOVA IN BURLESQUE."

A Republic picture, directed by Leslie Goodwins, featuring Joe E. Brown, and presented at the Oriental.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

KIND: Farce comedy.

FUNNY? Not very.

ACTING: Joe E. Brown is deserving of a far better vehicle, but he goes to town with what he has. . . . Marjorie Gateson is capable and others, who include Dale Evans and June Havoc, are fair.

DIRECTION: So so.

SETS, PHOTOGRAPHY, DIALOG: Routine.

STORY: Mr. Brown is Joe Kelly Jr., a gentleman who leads two lives, and his associates in one life wot not those of the other. . . . Summertimes he is "Casanova" Kelly, hoofer and burlesque star. Winters—behold Prof. Kelly, drama professor and Shakespearian expert of Wequot college. . . . The curiosity of a strip tease dancer, who wonders what becomes of Joe when he's the little man who isn't there and who worms the truth out of his dad, leads to the contretemps with which the action is further concerned.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: We were all strong for Mr. Brown.

A Detective Thriller

"SUSPECTED PERSON."

Produced by Producers Releasing corporation, directed by Lawrence Huntington, featuring Clifford Evans and Patricia Roc, and presented at the La Salle.

KIND: Detective yarn.

ACTING: An excellent performance by Patricia Roc as the sister of the "Suspected Person."

SETS, PHOTOGRAPHY, SOUND: Suitable. However, the sound system became muffed and in many parts voices were undistinguishable.

DIALOG: British accents too American.

STORY: The loot of a New York bank robbery is carefully toted off to England by Jim Raynor, with two hunted criminals involved in the crime after him. Then start whirlwind spying, eluding, and suspicious goings-on in which Scotland Yard, Jim with his cache, his sister, Joan, and the two criminals are all involved.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: An audience always likes to be kept guessing, and "Suspicious Person" caters successfully to this yen. O. M. G.

Rev. Austin Pardue, Former Chicagoan, Installed as Bishop

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 25 (AP).—The Very Rev. Austin Pardue, former dean of St. Paul's cathedral, Buffalo, N. Y., today was installed as fourth bishop of the Pittsburgh Episcopal diocese in a solemn ceremony before 1,500 persons in Trinity cathedral.

Presiding Bishop Henry St. George Tucker of the Episcopal church in the United States performed the rite of consecration. Eight other bishops and many dignitaries of the church were present, as was the Rt. Rev. Alexander Mann, 83 years old, who retired as bishop last fall after serving here for 20 years.

Officiating clergymen included the Rt. Rev. Cameron J. Davis, bishop of western New York; the Rt. Rev. Howard Brinker, formerly of Chicago, bishop of Nebraska; the Rt. Rev. Granville G. Bennett, suffragan bishop of Rhode Island; the Rt. Rev. Frank A. McElwain, dean of Seabury-Western seminary, Evanston, Ill.; the Rev. Dr. Harold L. Bowen, rector of St. Mark's church, Evanston, and the Rt. Rev. Benjamin F. Ivans, bishop of Milwaukee.

Dean Pardue, who is 44 years old, was graduated from General Theological seminary, New York, in 1925. He began his ministry on the city mission staff in Chicago as chaplain of the Juvenile court and city jails and as superintendent of the Episcopal home for dependent boys. He attended public schools and Lewis institute in Chicago.

Thru the Looking Glass

One little admonition we'd like to give the mothers of school girls and working girls concerns their daughters' breakfasts.

The college girls, and even the high school fry, seem to make a fetish of skipping breakfast. It is the "fashionable" thing in the younger set, we understand, to dash to class without the benefit of more than a gulp of orange juice or a sip of coffee. Breakfast comes after the first break in class and that, we happen to know, consists mostly of a sweet roll, a coffee, or a soft drink —and as many cigarets as time permits.

The working girls, almost unanimously, tell us they simply can't face a hearty breakfast. Fruit and coffee are what they usually eat, tho some who think they have hearty appetites, do gulp down a bite of toast.

This is all wrong—and of course it's all nonsense. Women can eat good breakfasts. If you've been skimping breakfast for many years your first attempts to down cereal or an egg plus the usual fruit and coffee might make you feel a little squishy in the tummy but that will pass in a day or two.

There are physicians who will tell you that breakfast is the most important meal, coming as it does after a night of involuntary fasting while you sleep. And we think they have something there. If you want to maintain your energy and your health and the good looks that go hand in hand with vitality you simply must start your day with a square meal. Growing girls need fuel in the morning before they go to school, and working women need it to maintain their inner engines.

Mothers whose daughters insist they "can't" eat breakfast should tell them to skip the silly idea and stand over them while they stoke up.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

THERE'S THE PHONE, WALT. I'LL BET IT'S THAT LIEUTENANT CALLING NINA. YOU ANSWER IT THIS TIME AND TELL HIM WHAT'S WHAT.
TELL HIM SHE'S ENGAGED AND ISN'T INTERESTED IN ANYONE ELSE. OF COURSE HE'S A SOLDIER TOO, SO DON'T BE TOO HARSH WITH HIM, BUT BE FIRM AND LET HIM KNOW THAT NINA IS PERFECTLY SATISFIED AS IS, AND THAT SHE'S NOT GOING OUT WITH ANYBODY AFTER HER HARD DAYS AT THE BRONZE FOUNDRY. TELL HIM HE'S WASTING HIS TIME.

Here's Advice About Ways to Wear Flowers

BY MAUREEN DALY.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

on the SOLID side

A boy can offer a girl no greater compliment than to send her a corsage because flowers convey all the "roses are red, violets are blue" sugared and sweet sentiments of flattery. But because these out-of-this-atmosphere evenings are few and far between, every honey chile wants to take advantage of this added attraction of flowers.

If the affair is formal, it is always thoughtful and quite correct for a joe to ask what type of evening dress his date is going to wear and, if possible, what flower she would prefer. Black eyed susans for a fragile blue net creation or pink sweet peas and babies' breath to go with a colorful Tahitian print formal could spoil the evening for both. Most fellows appreciate a suggestion. He may want to have the florist send the corsage out ahead or he may want to bring it himself to make sure that he and his offering hit the deck at the same time.

Corsages are most conventionally worn on the left shoulder, to be out of the way when dancing, but a few sweet stuffs think it smarter to be more original either by pinning the flowers to an evening bag or wearing them tied to the wrist, wristwatch position, with a narrow black velvet ribbon. If you want to pin your flowers in your hair, ask your date to get a "hair corsage" from the florist so you won't be encumbered with awkward ribbons, wires, and waxed paper. If the fabric of your dress is sheer or the lines compellingly simple, no need to spoil it by pinning the corsage to your shoulder. There are so many other attractive ways of wearing it.

Flowers are often surprisingly fragile, so if the evening is cold or you must ride in a crowded car, keep them in the florist box till you arrive at the dance or party and then pin them on, fresh and untouched, in the powder room. For flowers that wilt especially easily, such as gardenias, camellias, and orchids, try wearing them with the ribbon trim upward so the blossom itself is protected from the warmth of your cheek, your coat collar, or the long curl of your hair. They will last longer that way.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 25.—Moss Hart's "Winged Victory" closes its New York run in June. In July the entire cast comes west to play their same roles on the screen. It's to be in color and it's a Darryl Zanuck special. Whether any big Hollywood names will be added, as they were in "This Is the Army," remains to be seen. Hart's here doing the screen version. Willie Wyler directs. . . . Fred Beckner does dance routine with Lana Turner in "Marriage Is a Private Affair." Yet a year ago he never dreamed that he'd be able to take her in his arms because he was a member of the Metro labor gang. . . . Bunny Waters phoned me it's definite that she and Johnny Green will have a blessed event this fall. If it's a girl they'll name her Kathe, if a boy, Christopher.

Bunny Waters.

Johnny Green.

Lana Turner.

Why Not?

Blanche Yurka's autobiography titled "Uneasy Steps" begins with David Belasco. . . . Helen O'Hara is to marry Sgt. Maurice Kelly when he returns from Ireland. . . . Guy Bolton is back at M-G-M to write "Week-end at Waldorf." Guy's last script for Metro was finished months ago. It was "The Silver Lining," Jerome Kern's life story. . . . Bella Lugosi takes over for Boris Karloff in "Arsenic and Old Lace" in Oklahoma City, while Karloff picks up his picture career.

Right Casting.

I hope for Cary Grant and the picture's sake, Laurette Taylor plays his cockney mother in "None but the Lonely Heart." Laurette loves the script done by Clifford Odets. She's back in New York now taking off some poundage before making the test. Even the new generation, who neversaw her in "Peg o' My Heart," heard of her charm and wants to see her. . . . It isn't true that Bruce Cabot got himself into great difficulty in North Africa. That was two other fellows. . . . Can you imagine Lakeside Golf club turning down Frank Sinatra when his application and recommendation for membership were signed by Bing Crosby and Bob Hope?

It Stays as Is.

David Hempstead was all set to do a new finish for "Tender Comrade" when he received the following letter: "Last summer my husband, a pilot in the air corps, lost his life. Three months later our child was born, a boy. Last evening I saw 'Tender Comrade,' and was so touched with Ginger Rogers' words in the last scene. They are my feelings exactly. I decided to write you to see if it would be at all possible for you to send me a copy of her words to her son. I should like to put it in my son's baby book. Never since my husband's death, have I seen the complete understanding of a woman's feelings, when she loses her husband and is faced with the responsibility of raising her child without his father, to be so beautifully portrayed. Thanking you in advance, sincerely, Mrs. Ellen Simank." Well, that letter canceled plans for Ginger Rogers to make a new ending.

Just Wondering.

When Lt. Camdr. E. J. Stanley, Sylvia Fairbanks' latest bridegroom, returns to England she may not go along. Sylvia's a very rich woman. All Douglas' money was left in American dollars. If she takes that fortune to England it will depreciate quite a bit. I'm told Comdr. Stanley isn't as rich as folks think. He's supposed to have sold the magnificent family estate some time ago. But every one says he's a delightful chap. . . . Mrs. Mervyn Leroy is in New York being psychoanalyzed. . . . Bob Fender's new baby boy is the first boy born to any member of the Warners' publicity gang in five years. Others have girls. . . . Jessica Tandy and husband, Hugh Cronyn, waited six years before playing together in "The Seventh Cross." Now Margaret Webster has wired that she wants them to play another married couple in "The Cherry Orchard," which she's producing back east.

Now and Then.

Letters from soldiers in the South Pacific are pouring in to Phyllis Brooks and Paramount has given her a long term contract. The changes that have taken place at that studio in six short years! Then they were buried in red ink. This year they'll make around 17 million. It's all due to good management—since Frank Freeman, Buddy de Sylva, and Henry Ginsberg moved in. Only names still under contract who were there six years ago are Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Fred MacMurray, Claudette Colbert, Ray Milland, Dottie Lamour, and Billy Daniels. Jack Benny, Burns and Allen, Bob Cummings, W. C. Fields, Betty Grable, Marlene Dietrich, George Raft, Randy Scott, and Gladys Swarthout no longer answer present. . .. The boost Gene Kelly and Dinah Shore gave Portland, Ore., may put Oregon first over the top in the current bond drive.

Institute's Art Works to Visit City's Districts

A plan to bring priceless paintings and other works of art almost to the doorsteps of Chicago homes was described by Daniel Catton Rich, director of fine arts at the Art Institute of Chicago, at the annual meeting of the institute's governing members this week.

The project calls for the housing of Art institute exhibits in community centers thruout Chicago. No new buildings would be erected. The institute proposes to use existing facilities and thus integrate its activities with those other educational and recreational services which long have been a part of neighborhood life.

A small start will be made, with exhibits in only two or three places. If the plan proves as popular as Rich hopes, the service will be expanded rapidly and no part of the city will be without a small, friendly museum of its own.

In neighborhoods where people of a single nationality predominate strongly, an attempt will be made to provide an exhibit which will conform with the locality's character. Thus a selection of great Italian works might be sent to an Italian neighborhood.

A lecture service similar to the one now provided at the Art institute would be extended to the neighborhood museums.

This system of branch museums is said to be unique in the United States. It is hoped that it will give people who are overawed by the sheer size of the downtown museum an opportunity to become acquainted with great art in a familiar, close to home environment. Also, it is thought that the convenience of these small galleries will tempt people to make many more visits to them than they would to a distant museum.

No date has been set for the inauguration of the plan.

Children Should Have Chance to Try Adventures

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you read this column regularly, you know that I hold forth many times on the need of eternal vigilance as the price of your young child's physical safety. However, that warning, like so many, must be put into practice with judgment for, far too often, mothers become so unduly concerned over their children's safety that they tend to make them timid. This is not good for a child.

Let all your children adventure just as much as you think it safe, but do so particularly with the little ones. Their adventures will be limited, compared with the older children's, but let them have more freedom for their own kind of adventuring. Keep them in sight. Be as near as you need to be, so that they don't get an injury or an experience that will shock or scare them. But try to keep your hands off.

I remember one summer what an interesting illustration the beach provided for the degrees of freedom parents allow their children. Most of them were allowed to trot around untrammeled, to squat in a few inches of water, to dip it up; to pat it and paddle in it.

However, the most extreme example was a little girl about 2½, who came down to the beach with her mother, father, and nurse. But the child hadn't one minute to herself. Part of the time she was held by both hands, one parent on each side, and the rest of the time one person had her by the hand everywhere she went. Incidentally, all three looked at nothing else except the child.

Give your children "a break" when they show the spirit of adventure.

FLYNN CHARGES HELD RESULT OF CREDITORS' ROW

Expect Bankruptcy Case to Be Ended Today.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 25 [Special].—Criminal prosecution of Mortimer B. Flynn, former millionaire Chicago coal dealer, on charges of concealing $70,000 in assets in bankruptcy proceedings in 1940, is the result of animosity from a name calling incident at a bankruptcy hearing, Flynn's attorney asserted today at the latter's federal court trial.

The attorney, M. Edward Doran, said that Flynn and Maxwell Andalman, Chicago attorney representing some of Flynn's creditors, became embroiled in a heated argument at a meeting of creditors in South Bend in September, 1940. He accused Andalman of being the "prime mover" in the prosecution.

Trial in Second Day.

Flynn's trial before Federal Judge J. LeRoy Adair, is in its second day here. On trial with him on charges of conspiracy to aid in the concealment of assets are Frank DeYoung, proprietor of the DeYoung Fuel corporation of Chicago, and Charles J. Tressler, Chicago attorney.

Appearing as a government witness, John W. Williams, owner of a building in which Tressler had law offices for many years, testified that Tressler was an honest tenant and "a very fine gentleman." Assistant United States Atty. James E. Keating said he intended to prove by other testimony from Williams that Tressler had prepared Flynn's bankruptcy schedule.

The schedule lists a debt of $25,540 owed Tressler by Flynn for legal services and $7,000 owed De Young for loans. The defendants contend that assets alleged to have been concealed were the subject of a trust agreement executed in 1938 for which trust receipts were issued by Flynn to Tressler and De Young as collateral for debts.

Transcript Admitted.

Earlier in the day Judge Adair received in evidence a transcript of testimony given by Flynn in 1941 at meetings of creditors. Excerpts from this transcript, read aloud by Keating, included a denial by Flynn that he had placed property in trust to evade action by creditors.

Flynn, who was a candidate for mayor of Chicago in the Republican primary of 1935, now lives in Knox, Ind. The trial is expected to end tomorrow.

DROP SABOTAGE THEORY IN BLAST AT STEEL PLANT

Sabotage apparently was eliminated yesterday as a possible cause of the explosion of a steam turbine in No. 3 power station of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation works in South Chicago in which five men lost their lives and 11 other workers were injured on Monday. Federal bureau of investigation agents were understood to have made an investigation and to have been convinced that saboteurs had no hand in the blast.

The inquest was opened by Deputy Coroners Jack Przybylinski and James J. Whalen, and was continued until Feb. 17 after preliminary witnesses were heard.

The jurors, all leading engineers, are A. B. Clark of Sargent & Lundy, mechanical engineers; Edward A. Dieterle, consulting engineer; Prof. Ward Evans of Northwestern university; Robert E. Hattis, consulting engineer; Dr. Lee Supple of Illinois Institute of Technology, and Prof. W. B. Brinker of Northwestern university.

TRANSIT SYSTEM PRICE GROUPS TO MEET MAYOR

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that negotiating committees representing the city and the surface and elevated lines, which have been investigating to determine a price at which the traction properties may be purchased by the city, will meet in his office Friday morning.

He would not say that an offer by the city would be made at this meeting, but added that "when a price is agreed on it will not be a bonanza." His plan is to purchase the local transportation companies and merge them under municipal ownership.

The two committees are to attend a hearing in the court of Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe Friday.

PAYS 4 CENTS OVER CEILING; AWARDED $50

Damages of $50, plus court costs and attorney's fees were awarded Mrs. Nell M. Chauncey, 825 Eastwood avenue, by a jury in Municipal Judge Wendell Green's court yesterday in her suit against John C. Mouzakiotis, owner of a food shop at 905 Wilson avenue.

Mrs. Chauncey sued for $200 under office of price administration regulations, which provide for damages of $50 or treble the amount of the overceiling charge, whichever is greater. She alleged she paid 1 cent each over ceiling prices for four food items.

Policeman's Son Shoots Playmate, 14, Accidentally

Kenneth Daley, 14 years old, 5310 Melrose street, was shot and wounded slightly yesterday by his friend, Roger Shanahan, 12, while they were playing with a revolver in the Shanahan home at 5347 Melrose. Young Daley was taken to Belmont hospital where it was found that the bullet grazed his skull. Shanahan is the son of Patrolman John Shanahan and a nephew of Chief Roger Shanahan of the park police.

LIKE MEN, DOGS END LIVES—AND FOR SAME CAUSE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—Suicides occur among dogs and sometimes, in the case of pampered pets, the reason for ending it all is—sheer boredom.

This was related today by Dr. Ben Karpman and Dr. Joseph Perlson, psychiatrists of St. Elizabeth's hospital, who declared in the Journal of Criminal Psychopathology:

"Among the luxuriously kept house pets suicides take place out of sheer sense of ennui which after all is not so different from humans, as is the case with neurasthenic [emotionally disturbed] women."

Nothing to Do But Get Bored.

Such women, the psychiatrists said, usually "never have to work, have no responsibilities, have nothing to look forward to or to look back at, nothing to do but to look pretty and in the process get fat and bored, the familiar state of ennui."

But the psychiatrists said the dog suicide rate is highest among cast aways—those expelled from their masters' households "because of age, disease, or loss of use."

Drowning and total abstinence from food are the commonest methods by which Fido leaves this vale of tears, the doctors declared, and the dog who suddenly finds himself facing life in an alley instead of from in front of the fireplace, reacts like some humans.

Contrast Is to Blame.

"As in humans, so frequently observed in times of financial stress," they said, "it is not the privation as such, but the tremendous difference between what one had before and what one has to get along with now.

"When the depression hit the United States, suicides occurred, in proportion, more frequently among those who were well-to-do only recently and who suddenly had to come down drastically to a lower level of living."

Like some humans contemplating suicide, dogs may be observed intently gazing on the water of a river or pond for hours, days, and weeks before taking the fatal plunge, the psychiatrists said.

$1,000 Reward Offered in Pickle Plant Slaying

Attorneys for the Goldsmith Pickle Co., Inc., 4941 South Racine avenue, and the Central Watch Service, 19 South Wells street, announced yesterday that the two firms are offering a combined reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer or slayers of John Simpson, 46 years old, 219 South Wood street. Simpson, an employe of the watch service, was found beaten to death last Saturday in the pickle plant, apparently by burglars.

QUIZ OF TWO U. S. JUDGES IS VOTED BY HOUSE GROUP

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—The house judiciary committee today reported favorably a resolution calling for an investigation of United States District Judges Albert W. Johnson and Albert L. Watson of the middle Pennsylvania district.

Its action was taken less than 24 hours after the resolution was introduced by Chairman Sumners [D., Tex.] and referred back to the committee for formal approval. The legislation now goes before the house.

Declining to comment on the proceedings, Sumners said, however, that "the resolutions speak for themselves."

Resolution for Cash.

A second resolution to authorize expenditures up to $2,500 to conduct the investigation was referred to the committee on accounts, where prompt action also was forecast by Sumners.

Sumners said his committee was informed by letter that the judicial council of the 3d Circuit Court of Appeals had recommended an investigation of Judges Johnson and Watson in a resolution sent to the department of justice.

Constitutional Powers.

Sumners' investigative resolution would authorize the judiciary committee "to determine whether said judges or either of them have been guilty of any high crime or misdemeanor which requires the interposition of the constitutional powers of the house" and orders the committee to "report its findings to the house, together with such resolutions of impeachment or other recommendations as it deems proper."

The Washington baseball club, altho one of the major leagues' most valuable properties, is capitalized for only $200,000. . . . International league fans are thumbing thru the record books to determine if the 15 chances accepted in a game last July by Outfielder Paul Wargo of Rochester constitute a new mark. . . . Paul handled 14 putouts and one assist. . . . Joe Morang, Marine combat correspondent on leave from The Tribune sports department, writes from Guadalcanal that one of the bombs dropped on a Jap vessel carried greetings in large letters to Tojo from the boys on the copy desk. . . . The Winners.

I'd like to toast those loyal friends
Who never growl about their luck,
Who tackle every task of life
With chins held high, with grit and pluck.
I know that in life's strain and stress
They'll find their share of happiness.

I care not where they may reside,
In mansion or in cottage small,
To me the thing that really counts
Is that they're giving life their all.
That, in the very hardest test,
Come rain or shine, they do their best.

MACK, INDIANS' INFIELDER, WILL KEEP WAR JOB

Cleveland, O., Jan. 25 (AP).—Second Baseman Ray Mack will remain in his war industry job instead of reporting for spring training with the Cleveland Indians at Lafayette, Ind., Vice President Roger Peckingpaugh announced today. Mack, part of the infield combination that gave the Indians the American league's 1943 double play title, is an inspector at Thompson Aircraft Products company.

FOXX REPORTS FOR INDUCTION; TOLD TO RETURN

Newark, N. J., Jan. 25 (AP).—Jimmy Foxx, former major league slugger, reported to the Newark induction center today for his final physical examination for military service, but army physicians told him to come back tomorrow for further examination.

Foxx has lived in near-by Short Hills for about a year. Before that he made his home in Jenkintown, Pa.

257 PLAYERS ON ROSTERS OF EIGHT CLUBS

Senators Have 40 Men Available.

The American league currently has ample man power for a successful start in the 1944 baseball season. A player inventory yesterday showed that 257 men [six more than in 1918] are on spring training rosters. About 50 of these are 4-F's, while eight others hold honorable discharges from the service.

Thirty-one players have entered the service since the close of the 1943 campaign, bringing the total to 194 in uniform. As far as numbers were concerned, the Washington Senators were hardest hit, losing seven men, including their regular first and second basemen, Mickey Vernon and Gerry Priddy. Least affected in this respect were the Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox, who lost two men apiece.

Senators Have 40 Men.

The Senators have 40 men aboard, more than any other American league club. The White Sox have 37, the St. Louis Browns 34, New York Yankees 32, the Philadelphia Athletics 31, the Cleveland Indians 30, the Boston Red Sox 28, and the Detroit Tigers 25, the exact player-limit after May 15. It is likely that each club will sign one or two more men before spring training.

The various playing positions on every club appear well backed with man power—in quantity if not quality. New York and Washington have the most pitchers in line, 17 each, while Cleveland and St. Louis have 16 apiece.

Yankees Have Balance.

The world champion Yankees can display a fine balance in numbers—17 moundsmen, two catchers, seven infielders, and six outfielders—and undoubtedly again will be pegged as the team to beat. One of their rookies is Ed Levy, who hit .322 for Newark last year. Discharged from the coast guard, he is being groomed for the outfield to replace Charley Keller, who entered the merchant marine.

During 1943 the major leagues raised $725,106.32 for war relief, the American league service bureau said yesterday—bringing to an estimated $2,130,000 the amount organized baseball contributed to war funds in the last two years.

BREADON TAKES STOCK

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 25 (AP).—Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, asserted today he considers 19 players—eight pitchers, two catchers, five infielders, and four outfielders—the absolute minimum with which a club could go thru the season.

Taking stock of his available material, now that Shortstop Martin Marion has been accepted for military service, Breadon found he did not have 19 men he could depend on definitely to start the race in April.

Marion is the latest of a long list of Cardinal players in service. Before the start of last season, Terry Moore, Enos Slaughter, Johnny Beazley, and Frank Crespi were gone. Then Jimmy Brown, Howard Pollet, Murry Dickson, Harry Walker, Al Brazle, Lou Klein, and Ernie White were called. Walker Cooper has been accepted for limited service, but has not yet received orders to report.

FRICK SAYS 'PLAY BALL'

BASKETS AREN'T GREEK TO FIVE AT AMUNDSEN

Coach Labels Vikings His Best Squad.

BY MARK COX.

Roald Amundsen High school, so named after the arctic explorer and one of Chicago's younger prep schools, just 10 years old, is known as the Greek school because of the language course featured there, but basketball certainly isn't Greek to the present senior quintet of the institution.

It's a game understood by the Irish, Swedish, and German kids, who comprise the group, to the point of winning 11 straight games this season before finally stumbling before a withering Waller attack last Friday.

"Best thing that ever happened to us," snapped Edward Charles Delaporte, who, as coach of the Vikings, refers to himself as the old man, and quietly gets a chug out of it when the boys do too. "These kids had reached the point where they didn't think they could be beat. They know now, and they'll react accordingly."

Never a Winner.

Amundsen's never won a city championship during its decade of existence. Maybe that's the reason Del, whose remarkable background also includes a membership in the original Tribune A. A., wants this one so much.

But the boys put a different emphasis on it. "We want to win this one for the coach," Jim Thayer, second high scorer of the team and play maker from his guard spot, admits in confidence. "He's worked a long time for this, and we've got plans for getting him a city title and going right on to the state tournament."

Can Do, Says Rehfeldt.

"And we can do it, too," puts in 6 feet 5 inch Don Rehfeldt, whose 216 points in 13 games leads the Vikings' attack. "We all played together last year, but this year we have better coördination as a group."

It seems Rehfeldt is the star of the team, not only because of his height and experience, but because he loves the game and plays it the year round. A natural lefthander, the tall boy is an excellent student and carries his intelligence onto the court. As a result, he now has learned to shoot from either side and fits into any type offense.

Thayer Works at It.

Thayer has gained most of his 120 points to date for much the same reason. He didn't miss a day shooting at an outdoor basket in neighboring Winnemac park all summer, and as a result, has come up with a tricky little twist to his shot. He dribbles straight at the basket and then flips the ball with that little trick he picked up, with hardly a glance at the rim.

Carl Peterson, one of the forwards and the romancer of the group, is a fancy floor man, a good shooter, and the best example of the competitive spirit that features the team. Teaming with him in the front line is the only junior in the lineup, Jerry Gallagher. He's a fast lad, a good retriever, and a classy shooter when he's right, as is attested by his 11 field goals against Taft.

The team is rounded out by Ed De Hart, whose big job is that of filling in for Don Kenney, one of the team's stars who was around for the first two games this season before entering the army.

FRITSCH SIGNS WITH CUBS; TO PLAY ON COAST

Ted Fritsch of Madison, Wis., star full back for the Green Bay Packers of the National Football league, has signed a Chicago Cub contract to play with Los Angeles of the Pacific coast league next season, James T. Gallagher, general manger of the Cubs said last night. Gallagher said Fritsch, an infielder, will be converted into an outfielder by Los Angeles.

Fritsch, who led the Madison Industrial league last summer with a .457 batting average, possesses a good throwing arm and is regarded as a fast base runner. Jack Sheehan, of the Cub farm system who induced Fritsch to sign the contract, scouted the Green Bay star several times last summer.

This Golden Glover May Be Small but His Punch Is Big

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Al Sanchez isn't tall enough to get into the army but he's tough enough to work as a furnace man in a steel foundry and he believes he's good enough to win a Golden Gloves championship. Sanchez is entered in the Open division of the North side tournament which starts a week from tonight in the Loyola university gymnasium.

Sanchez will represent the Catholic Youth organization. He didn't compete in the C. Y. O. tournament last November because he worked on the night shift at the Carnegie Steel company. Now he works days, boxes in the evening, and he's ready to fight for the flyweight title at Loyola with the hope he can qualify for the city finals Feb. 14 at Marigold Gardens. A victory there will send him into the Tournament of Champions in the Chicago Stadium against the champions from the south, midwest, and California.

Sanchez was born in Fullerton, La., but he has lived in Chicago since 1929 and attended Tilden Tech High school for a year. He began boxing in Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., in the Golden Gloves tournament there in 1941 when he was a member of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

The list of boxers competing in the Chicago sectionals will be completed tomorrow at the last preliminary physical examination in the C. Y. O. gymnasium, 31 East Congress street. The south side bouts will open Monday night in the St. Sabina gymnasium, 78th street and Racine avenue.

WILLIAMS K. O.'D BY MONTGOMERY IN 12TH ROUND

Trenton Boxer's Victory String Snaps at 33.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 25 (AP).—Bob Montgomery knocked out Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., tonight in two minutes 49 seconds of the last round of a 12 round bout to vault over the first hurdle on a comeback trail towards his lost lightweight title.

The Philadelphian weighed in at 137, while his opponent was 131½.

Montgomery, fighting like a champion again, mauled Williams groggy thru most of the contest. It was the end of a 33 victory streak for the Trenton Negro.

Williams Wilts in Second.

Williams came out strong in the first round with sharp blows to Montgomery's head and body, but he wilted toward the middle of the second round and the Associated Press score card gave the former champion this and every other round.

The crowd jamming Convention hall, officially announced at 14,807, paid $55,829 to see Montgomery triphammer Williams thruout the 12 rounds. The Trenton fighter managed to land only a few telling blows, none of which seriously hampered the Philadelphia fighter.

Williams was dazed by body punches at the end of the third round and fought almost in a daze until Montgomery floored him for the first time soon after the opening of the last round.

Out Four Minutes.

William took a count of eight, then staggered to his feet, only to take another pounding. Montgomery hit him hard and he went down for a count of nine. His eyes closed, his arms hanging useless at his side. Williams stood against Montgomery's driving attack for 30 seconds, then sagged over the ropes for the count of 10. He was out nearly four minutes after the bout had ended.

N. U. MAY LOSE 4 BASKETBALL PLAYERS MARCH 1

Michigan, Purdue, and Northwestern, the three Western conference universities which suffered severe personnel losses near the end of the football season, will not undergo the same experience in basketball when marine trainees are called at the end of the current V-12 term March 1.

Michigan, which ends its season Feb. 19, can suffer no losses and only three of the six conference games scheduled on March 3 and 4 will affect Northwestern and Purdue.

The Boilermakers play Indiana March 4 and Northwestern concludes with games March 3 and 4 with Iowa. Only four of the 10 Northwestern players, who have appeared in conference games, are marines. They are John Ward, George Felt, Jerry Carle, and Ronnie Schumacher. While these players presumably finish at Northwestern March 1, no date has been announced for them to report at their next base. With a few days' leave they could play against Iowa.

Ben Schadler and Nick Vodick are enrolled in the Northwestern R. O. T. C. Capt. Otto Graham, a navy V-5 student, has been assured he will be permitted to graduate in March. Other players with varsity experience who can not be affected during the season are Frank Clawson, Duane Sickels, and Jack Harker.

Grate Takes Lead in Big 10 Scoring Race

Don Grate, Ohio State's 6 foot 4 inch sophomore forward with the 4-F draft status, enjoyed his weekend visit to Chicago to the extent of scoring 39 points in two games to take the individual basketball scoring lead of the Big Ten conference with 87 points.

The star of the Buckeye freshman squad a year ago had only 48 points to his credit when he entered the Northwestern contest on Saturday night but connected for seven field goals for 14 points and added 25 more against Chicago Monday night to attain his four game total.

Close behind the rapid shooting Buckeye star is Stan Patrick, the Illinois senior transfer from Santa Clara, who has continued his scoring tactics since being moved to guard in contributing 85 points during the Illini's six appearances in the conference.

Report Ace Adams of Giants Rejected by Army

MONARCHS AND MEISTERS VIE IN CLASSIC TONIGHT

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

A preview of the rolloff for the Classic league bowling championship is anticipated tonight at the Rose Bowl, 11517 South Michigan avenue, where last year's winners, the Monarchs, will battle the Meister Braus, victors in the first half of the 1943-'44 race. Bill Flesch's Monarchs, who climbed from the cellar to third place in the first half bowling, now are pacing the second section with four won and two lost. Bill Hargadon's Meister Braus in the meantime have been able to win only two out of their first six in the second half. In the other matches tonight the Washington Shirts meet the Thompson's Restaurants, while the National Bowling Equipment crew faces United States Brewery. All four of these have 3-3 records in the standings.

The Goranson's 20 Alleys, who have lost only 13 of their 57 games in the Northwest Ladies' Traveling league, meet the fourth place Meister Braus in one of the 9:30 o'clock matches tonight at Cascade. The other Cascade duel brings together the Double Colas and Remias Recreation. The other half of the league schedule, set for 9 p. m. at Bowling Lanes, sends Marigold Arcade against Bowling Lanes and Cascade against Pepsi Cola. The Goranson's, state champions and current team leaders in the Chicago Women's City tournament, now lead Remias Recreation by 10 full games.

The Congress Ladies' Classic league program tonight finds the most promising battle, that involving the second place Logan Square Buicks and the third place Mario's Restaurants. Meanwhile, the leading Budweiser Girls will face the Schamberger-Schlitz team. The schedule, with the teams' won and lost records, follows:

Congress Recreation [26-28] vs. Durkee's Margarine [35-19]; Mario's Restaurants [38-16] vs. Logan Square Buicks [42-12]; Mrs. Grass' Noodle Soupers [8-46] vs. Math Igler's Casino [34-20]; Brucks [18-36] vs. Gus' Bing Bong Restaurant [14-40]; Clark Wilson Cocktail Lounge [17-37] vs. Congress Pepsi Cola [32-22]; West Suburban Auto Parts [21-33] vs. Cock of the North Tavern [28-26]; Schamberger-Schlitz [26-28] vs. Budweiser Girls [46-8]; Thompson Tennis Strings [27-27] vs. Ann Flint [12-42]; Pabst Blue Ribbons [34-20] vs. Clark Bowling Shoes [27-27], and Bee Vacs [30-24] vs. Du Bouchett Liquors [25-29].

Jack Samuelson advises women bowlers who plan to enter his 12th annual Century of Progress handicap tournament at his arcade, 3947 North Pulaski road, that Saturday is the deadline for computing the averages which must accompany each entry blank.

State Skating Meet Will Be Held Sunday

More than 300 Chicago skaters will travel to Glen Ellyn Sunday to compete in the state meet sponsored by the Glen Ellyn Skating club on Lake Ellyn. With the Chicago season closed, the Chicagoans will make a strong bid for the 10 championships to be decided in the boys' and girls' classes. At least half of the titles will change hands due to present champions moving to the higher age classes or being out of competition.

Titles to Change Hands.

In the men's and boys divisions, four of the five classes will see new skaters wearing the championship crowns after Sunday night. Don Schilline, C. Y. O. senior, is out for the war, and John Martin, the Champaign-Urbana intermediate star, will be defending his indoor title in St. Louis. Ken Henry of the George F. Barrett Athletic club, who holds the juvenile title, now is skating in the junior class, where he will give the defending champion, Don Laser, C. Y. O. star, a battle for top honors. Joseph Prather, another Champaign-Urbana skater who was crowned midget champion last year, is now over age and will try for the title left vacant by Henry moving up.

Close Competition Ahead.

The girls' classes will have more of their champions back, as there were several ties, and while one of the co-holders has advanced, the title is not left entirely open.

Peggy Barber and Bessie Laga Douglas of the Barrett A. C., who tied in the senior class, will skate in Sunday's meet, as will Luetta Du Mez, C. Y. O. star who will defend her intermediate crown.

HOPPE, COCHRAN AGAIN DIVIDE IN CUE MATCH

New York, Jan. 25 (AP).—Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran again broke even today in the next to last day of their 2,150 point cross-country nontitle three cushion billiard match.

Hoppe took the afternoon block, 50 to 40, in 37 innings. Cochran won the night competition, 59 to 50, in 54 innings, winning within the block, 50 to 45 in 45 innings. Each had a high run of seven in the afternoon. Cochran's high tonight was six, which he accomplished three times to Hoppe's five.

Hoppe now leads in the New York series, 200 to 185 points with an aggregate total of 2,050 to 1,842.

Pete Waterloo of Fulton Market Team Bowls 300

Pete Waterloo, anchor man of the Fulton Market Provision bowling team in the Chicago Meat Packers and Wholesalers league, registered the league's first 300 game of the season last night at the Playdium. Waterloo, who carries a 160 average, started out with 137, scored his 300 in the middle game and wound up with 128.

Hat Trick

Bill Mosienko, Blackhawks' leading scorer, who won two hats by making three points in each of two recent games with the Rangers, tries one of them on his teammate, Art Wiebe.

Hawks Seek Big Score in Ranger Game

The Blackhawks sharpened up their shooting eyes yesterday with high hopes of improving on their scoring averages in tomorrow's game with the New York Rangers in the Stadium. The Rangers have been an easy touch for most of their opponents this season, 181 scoring shots having been smacked into the New York nets in 30 games.

The Ranger goalie, Ken McAuley, has been on the job in all of this season's encounters and thus is nearing the all time record of 184 yielded by Wilf Cude of Philadelphia in a 44 game schedule during the season of 1930-'31.

A Busy Week-End.

Last season the Rangers let the puck float by them into the net 253 times, but the responsibility for these mishaps was divided among three goal tenders.

After tomorrow's encounter the Hawks will go to Toronto for a game on Saturday and will return to meet the Detroit Red Wings in the Stadium on Sunday.

Historians Are Active.

Hockey historians continued to phone the Hawks' office yesterday and one even walked into President W. J. Tobin's sanctum with an old record book under his arm, which set forth that the highest scoring game in the big league's history was not the Montreal Maroons' 11 points and Canadiens' 7, in an 18 goal game on Jan. 11, 1938, but the first game played in the National league, which took place at Montreal, Dec. 19, 1917, and had the Wanderers of Montreal defeating Toronto, 10 to 9.

Art Ross, now boss of the Boston Bruins, was playing manager of the Wanderers on that occasion. Harry Hyland, right wing of the Montreal squad, became the first player in the league to score five goals in a game.

Irish Quintet Host Tonight to Valparaiso

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 25 [Special].—The ticket sale for tomorrow night's basketball game between Valparaiso and Notre Dame has been closed, it was announced today by Herb Jones, business manager of athletics, every ticket having already been sold. The largest crowd in recent years, 4,200 fans, will see the contest.

The giant Valparaiso team, victors in 11 of their 13 games, are hot favorites over the Irish, who have broken even in ten games this season. Led by Bob Dille, one of the country's top scorers, the visitors will start a quintet averaging 6 feet 5 inches in height.

Coach Ed Krause made one change in the Irish starting five, replacing Guard Johnny Lujack with Johnny Kelly, 6 foot 2 inch sophomore.

Coach Lorne Ellis of the Valparaiso five will stick to the same lineup that recently beat De Paul of Chicago, and which has scored 136 points in the last two games.

TORGER TOKLE TO RETURN FOR SKI TEST SUNDAY

Karl Nilsen, president of the Norge Ski club and director of the invitational ski tournament which goes into its final phase at Wrigley field Sunday, announced yesterday that uniformed members of the services will be admitted free and that Sgt. Torger Tokle definitely would compete in Sunday's competition for the various trophies donated by prominent Chicagoans.

Word received yesterday from Camp Hale officials assured Tokle's appearance. Runners-up Eugene Wilson of Colleraine, Minn., and Sverre Fredheim of Minneapolis, already have assured tournament officials they will be back to battle Tokle for top honors.

The starting time will be set back to 2:30, an hour later than last week.

REVEAL WOMAN KEPT $35,000 CASH IN HOME 39 YEARS

Court Fight Bares a Strange Story.

The strange story of a woman who had kept at least $35,000 in cash in her home from 1904 until her death last October was related yesterday in a hearing before Probate Judge John F. O'Connell.

The hearing was on a petition brought by the three grandchildren of Mrs. Hermine Schultz, 2231 Bennett avenue, Evanston, who died Oct. 25 at the age of 82. The petitioners, William Moss, 7515 Sheridan road; Dorothy Moss, 1626 Washington street, Evanston, and Mrs. Mildred Butzen, 1403 Washington street, Evanston, are seeking to upset their grandmother's will, which leaves the bulk of her estimated $125,000 estate to a daughter, Mrs. Martha Hadin of West Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. Hadin's attorney, Ward H. Harris, asserted that the amount of cash in the house when Mrs. Schultz died was actually $87,000.

Judge O'Connell issued an injunction restraining Mrs. Hadin from removing any more money from a safety deposit box pending further probate hearing. He then continued hearing on a petition by the grandchildren to have an administrator appointed to collect assets of the estate. The grandchildren, in opposing admission of the will to probate, allege their grandmother was of unsound mind and that Mrs. Hadin used undue influence in the document's drafting.

5 FOOD DEALERS FINED FOR SHORT WEIGHT SELLING

The other defendants were Julius Kolczak, owner of a market at 5402 Fullerton avenue, and a National Tea company store at 2216 East 71st street.

SEN. VAN NUYS OF INDIANA DIES; WORK PRAISED

Democrat Was Popular in Both Parties.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—Frederick Van Nuys [D.], United States senator from Indiana since 1933, died unexpectedly early today in his sleep at his home in nearby Vienna, Va. He was 69 years old.

Sen. Van Nuys.

Van Nuys was chairman of the powerful senate judiciary committee and was regarded by leaders of both parties as one of the chamber's ablest legislators. He was active on Capitol Hill until last Friday, when he complained of illness as he left his office.

The senate, in tribute to Van Nuys, today postponed until tomorrow further debate on service men's voting legislation and all other business as the legislators eulogized their deceased colleague.

Had Long Legal Career.

Chairmanship of the judiciary committee is slated to go to Sen. McCarran [D., Nev.], who is serving his 11th year in the senate and is the senior majority member of the group.

With Van Nuys' death, the Democrats hold 57 senate seats, the Republicans 37, and the Progressive party one. However, a Democratic successor to Van Nuys is expected to be appointed by Democratic Gov. Henry F. Schricker.

Van Nuys was elected to the senate Nov. 8, 1932, in the Democratic landslide which swept President Roosevelt into office. His election followed a successful legal and political career of 25 years in Indiana.

Was Marked for "Purge."

In his first six year term in the senate, Van Nuys emerged as a conservative Democrat and lost favor with the New Deal administration when he opposed President Roosevelt's unsuccessful efforts for legislation to pack the Supreme court and increase the chief executive's powers thru governmental reorganization.

As punishment for this failure to submit wholly to the New Deal's program, President Roosevelt placed Van Nuys at the top of the "purge" list when he sought renomination for senator on the Democratic ticket in 1938. But Indiana Democratic leaders indorsed Van Nuys and he was renominated without opposition.

In his second senatorial term, Van Nuys opposed the renomination of President Roosevelt for a third term.

Surviving Van Nuys are his widow, Marie Krug Van Nuys; a son, William, 21, who is in the navy, and his mother, Mrs. Louise Krug. Funeral services will be held in Indianapolis at a time to be announced later.

CHIEF BARCLAY DENIED USE OF U. S. PENICILLIN

Additional penicillin to treat Andrew Barclay, 42 year old Chicago Fire department battalion chief who is suffering from pylephlebitis [inflammation] of the liver, will not be available from the federal stock whose distribution is in charge of Dr. Chester S. Keefer of Boston.

This was learned yesterday from Dr. Karl A. Meyer, Cook county medical superintendent, who is one of Barclay's physicians. He received a letter reaffirming Dr. Keefer's decision not to release penicillin for Barclay without a positive bacteriological culture. Dr. Meyer said that in this particular disease it would be impossible to obtain such a culture.

Meanwhile Barclay, who is at Grant hospital, has improved after five days of penicillin treatments. His temperature, which was once 102 degrees, recently has not risen above 100.2. The penicillin used was turned over to Dr. Meyer by Dr. William D. McNally, county toxicologist.

Mrs. T. C. Craig, 10045 Seeley avenue, second district president, said she would introduce the subject at a meeting Thursday in the Museum of Science and Industry, 57th street and the lake, and seek action at a session of the second district board Feb. 10, at federation headquarters, 30 West Washington street.

NO THANKS, SAYS AFL TO BID TO LONDON MEETING

BY GEORGE HARTMANN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Jan. 25.—The American Federation of Labor today turned down the invitation of Walter Citrine, secretary of the British Trade Union congress, to attend a world conference of labor in London on June 5. The conference was called by the BTUC.

As this rejection of the invitation was made known, it was reported that John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, had requested the executive council to clarify the terms under which the miners might gain readmission to the federation. The council yesterday had proposed that the "United Mine Workers return with the jurisdiction they had when they left the AFL" in 1936. Control of the membership in district 50 of the UMW has been one of the principal barriers to an AFL agreement with Lewis.

Roosevelt "Embarrassed."

Concerning rejection of the invitation to the meeting in London, one member of the council said the executives today evaded mention of their previously stated opposition to Russian participation in such conferences because "President Roosevelt has been embarrassed by the AFL's stand against soviet participation."

The AFL executive board and members of its council, including Vice President Matthew Woll, repeatedly have taken the stand that the AFL would not participate with the Russians in attendance because "the soviet unions are government dominated and therefore not free as are American unions."

The statement by the council said:

"The record shows that this conference was proposed by the general council of the BTUC without consultation with the labor movements of other countries affiliated with the International Federation of Trade Unions.

Truly Representative.

"The executive council recognizes the IFTU as the organization truly representative of the free and democratic trade union movement and such a conference should be sponsored, when it is deemed advisable, by the IFTU.

"The council believes that the proposed London conference would defeat the ends it seeks to accomplish because it lacks the proper sponsorship, because it is untimely, and because the proposed representation at the conference invites discord and division rather than harmony and unity."

The council's action today came after Robert Watt, AFL representative and member of the governing board of the International Labor order, an adjunct of the league of nations, reported he had arranged a meeting of the ILO for April 20 in Philadelphia.

SUES 6 TAVERNS FOR $10,000 IN DEATH OF SON

Irving Fox of 2240 Stewart avenue, Chicago, yesterday filed suit for $10,000 in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan against six tavern owners whom he charged with selling liquor to his son, Paul, 17 years old, before the youth drove his car into a freight train west of Waukegan and was killed. The suit, brought under the dramshop law, charged that Fox and his companion, John C. Strong Jr., 23, who lived west of North Chicago at 22d street and Green Bay road, were killed Oct. 9 after Fox had become intoxicated in taverns in or near Waukegan owned by the six defendants.

ADMITS KILLING AND BURNING OF WOMAN EDITOR

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 25 (AP).—Police tonight announced the confession of Walter W. Law, 39 years old, of New Haven, in the slaying of Rose M. Brancato, New Haven newspaper reporter, who disappeared July 5, 1943, after leaving her office to attend a block party.

Police Capt. Raymond E. Egan and Detective Sgt. Howard O. Young said Law, a former building superintendent, admitted "killing her and stuffing her body in a furnace."

Law was being held incommunicado, police said, pending filing of a formal charge.

Ickes' Foster Son Files for Will Fight Renewal

Robert Ickes, foster son of Secretary of the Interior Ickes, filed notice with the Illinois Supreme court in Springfield yesterday that he intends to seek a rehearing of a recent decision by three judges of the Appellate court who ruled that Secretary Ickes should receive the $800,000 estate of his former wife, Anna Wilmarth Ickes, who died in 1935. Robert Ickes contended the estate was left in trust to the secretary for the benefit of other members of the family.

Common stock dividends in the past have been paid on March 20. Irving S. Olds, charman, said the change to March 10 resulted from a suggestion made by a stockholder to help income tax payers.

Profit Is $4.41 a Share.

For the year 1943 net income was $63,642,322, equal to $4.41 a share on the common, compared with $71,248,569, or $5.29 a share, in 1942. The 1942 figure was after renegotiation of war contracts.

Regarding renegotiation Olds made made the following statement:

"Thirteen of the 14 subsidiary companies, subject to renegotiation of profits, have concluded agreements with the navy price adjustment board, acting for all governmental agencies, to the effect that no excessive profits were realized up to Dec. 31, 1942.

One Unit Makes Refund.

"These companies embrace all the steel producing and fabricating subsidiaries of United States Steel corporation. The closing agreement with the remaining subsidiary, Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, provided for a reduction of $3,000,000 in the selling price of deliveries under navy department contracts up to Dec. 31, 1942.

"After federal taxes, this amounted to a refund of $570,000, which is a charge against the reported income for 1942. Renegotiation of this subsidiary's contracts with the maritime commission has not been concluded."

Shipments of finished products in the fourth quarter were 5,175,186 net tons, against 5,029,628 in the September quarter and 5,302,681 in the fourth quarter of 1942.

Sales Set Record.

Subject to year-end adjustments the 1943 shipments were 20,244,830 net tons, compared with 20,615,137 in 1942, the record year for the corporation.

Sales and revenues reached a record high in 1943 at $1,979,081,554 against $1,862,951,692 in 1942. Estimated federal taxes on income amounted to $88,000,000 for 1943 against $153,070,000 for 1942.

Olds said the decline in income in the final quarter compared with the third quarter and the final period of 1942 resulted from increased labor and other costs and "from differences in the kind and quantities of products manufactured and sold under government allocations and price ceiling."

CHICAGO PARK DISTRICT GETS LOW RATE LOAN

The Chicago park district yesterday sold $3,310,000 of 1½ per cent series J refunding bonds of 1944 to a banking group headed by Halsey Stuart & Co. The bonds mature March 1, 1964, with various optional dates.

The Halsey group was the low bidder among six banking syndicates with an offer of a $9,234 premium on 1½ per cent bonds. Reoffering will be made at prices to yield 0.75 to 1.50 per cent based on optional maturity.

The rate obtained by the district is said to be among the lowest ever given a Chicago government.

Blow to Coal Pact Seen in Court Ruling

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—Southern coal producers contended today a federal district court ruling at Lynchburg, Va., that operators do not have to pay wages on a portal-to-portal basis just about cuts the ground from under the union agreement reached as a compromise after nine months of intermittent strikes.

The United Mine Workers disagreed strongly, but announced that the union will appeal, an action that could go to the Circuit court or might be taken immediately to the United States Supreme court.

Rules Pay Is Not Required.

Judge A. D. Barksdale ruled that the fair labor standards act of 1938 does not require mine operators to pay miners for the time they spend underground getting to and from their place of work.

Edward R. Burke, president of the Southern Coal Operators association, said the decision sweeps away the groundwork on which portal-to-portal agreements were made between Interior Secretary Ickes, as government operator of the mines, and John L. Lewis' UMW. Approximately 70 per cent of the bituminous industry acceded to the agreement, which provides for underground travel pay.

Contradicts Ore Decision.

The UMW headquarters said the decision contradicts others handed down in United States District courts, and also is at variance with a fifth Circuit court of appeals ruling in favor of iron ore miners. The iron ore case has been argued before the Supreme court and an opinion is awaited.

The union emphasized that the Virginia decision does not make it unlawful for miners to "seek and negotiate" portal pay contracts and therefore has no "legal status in preventing" the war labor board from approving the coal agreement.

FEDERAL LIFE'S INCOME, ASSETS, BUSINESS GAIN

Increases in Federal Life Insurance company's income, admitted assets, life insurance in force, and in excess security for policy holders during 1943 made the year one of the most successful in the company's history, L. D. Cavanaugh, president, reported yesterday.

L. D. Cavanaugh.

Income, amounting to $5,172,615, was $191,617 larger than in 1942. Admitted assets increased $1,379,414 to $21,236,665. Life insurance in force exceeded 95 million dollars, a gain of more than 6 million. During 1943, the company's capital stock was increased from $375,000 to 1 million dollars thru the declaration of a dividend in stock. The directors also increased the scale of dividends payable to participating policy holders.

Crane Refunds 4¼ Million on 1942 War Production

Crane company's renegotiation of 1942 war business has resulted in a refund to the government of $4,250,000, the company reported yesterday. After adjustment of federal taxes, the refund caused a net reduction of $861,676 in the profits for that year to $3,962,927.

Justice Office Enters Airway Fight

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—While steamship interests were telling a congressional committee today that their participation in air line operation is essential to the life of this country's merchant marine, it was learned that the justice department anti-trust division will intervene in all civil aeronautics board hearings of surface carriers' applications to operate aircraft.

The CAB will hold final hearings May 15 on 22 applications to operate air lines to Central and South America. Five of the applications have been filed by steamship companies. THE TRIBUNE learned that the justice department will intervene in these and in 23 others filed by surface carriers for domestic and transocean air service.

Would Prevent Monopolies.

A CAB official said the apparent purpose of the justice department was to guard against creation of monopolistic companies controling all transportation on various routes.

CAB interpretations of existing civil aviation laws do not permit the ownership or operation of air lines by ship, rail, or other surface carriers. However, surface carriers have applied for the right to operate aircraft on the contention that the CAB interpretations are legally incorrect.

When the civil aviation bill introduced by Rep. Lea [D., Cal.] was considered by the house rules committee last week, members of the house merchant marine committee opposed it because it makes no change in the section relating to surface carrier operation of air lines.

Hears Ship Line Officials.

At a special hearing called by Rep. Bland [D., Va.], chairman of the merchant marine committee, the committee today heard representatives of the United Fruit company and the Matson Navigation company. William K. Jackson, vice president of United Fruit, said it will take two years for American ship lines to get operations back to normal after the war. All their ships have been taken over by the war shipping administration, many have been lost by enemy action, and others will require extensive alterations, he said.

Jackson told the committee that American ship operators are in a "regulatory straitjacket," but that British companies are prepared to start overseas air operations immediately after the war.

STOCK PRICES CLOSE MOSTLY AT DECLINES; SOME SPECIALTIES UP

New York, Jan. 25 (AP).—Buyers were attracted to specialties in today's stock market, but prices generally were lower.

Individual developments, in addition to earnings and dividends, served to bolster favorites. Further profit cashing in rails and aversion of some customers to extending commitments pending tax legislation, possible foreign news breaks, and completion of the war loan drive had an adverse effect.

BOND PRICES GAIN.

New York, Jan. 25 (AP).—The bond market developed enough specialized strength to send prices generally higher today, altho there were numerous laggards in various sections.

Argentine government and municipal bonds rallied on hints in government circles that a favorable development in international politics was near in Buenos Aires. This optimism spread to obligations of the International Telephone company, which has important operations in Argentina.

CHICAGO STOCKS MIXED.

Middle West corporation shares were active and fractionally higher yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Generally the market was quiet with declines slightly exceeding advances. Chicago corporation and Midland United A preferred were lower, and Commonwealth Edison up ¼. Raytheon Manufacturing sold at a new high price for recent years, but lost most of its gain of 1½ points.

Work on Vast Steel Plant Is Continued

Construction will continue on the big electric furnace plant of the Republic Steel corporation on the far south side despite Washington announcement that the plant is one of several war steel mills on which work may be halted, G. E. Chamberlain, construction superintendent, yesterday informed employes and subcontractors. The plant, to cost approximately 86 million dollars, is about 95 per cent completed.

Chamberlain is construction superintendent for the contractor, United Engineers and Constructors, Inc. He quoted a joint memorandum issued by M. E. Goetz, district manager for Republic, and J. H. Ludlow, division engineer for the Defense Plant corporation.

"Tolerate No Slow Down."

"Construction activities on this project are to continue on all divisions now active and no 'slow down' is to be tolerated," the memo said. "There are no orders out from any source to stop work or to cancel this job. Possible curtailments have not been decided upon and are not to affect the output of construction employes at this time."

Altho the plant's nine electric furnaces are virtually completed, only two are in operation. High grade alloy steel from the two furnaces is being sent thruout the nation, particularly to war aircraft plants.

Operate 44 Inch Mill.

A 44 inch rolling mill is running, but the 32 inch mill is not quite completed. A blast furnace is not being used. The war production board is reported to be considering what is to be done with this and other steel mills in view of the nation's large steel supply.

The plant is owned by the Defense Plant corporation, but is operated by Republic. It has been reported there is a strong possibility that Republic might acquire it from the DPC after the war because of its extremely advantageous location, close both to markets and raw materials. The rising demand for electric furnace steel is expected to continue after the war.

WPB Output Formula Will Be Expanded

Chicago manufacturers who have been consulted in the formulation of war production board policy on the resumption of civilian goods manufacture said yesterday that the WPB formula to be applied first to electric irons will be extended eventually to a broad list of articles.

They said the formula and its basic point of manufacture on the pattern of pre-war quotas has obvious advantages and disadvantages, but is worth the experiment in view of the necessity for getting back into civilian production to prevent hardship as plants, men, and materials are released thru cancellation of war contracts.

Role of Small War Plants.

Chicago officials of the Smaller War Plants corporation said this government agency, created to minimize hardships entailed in the swing of war production, would play an important role in carrying out the WPB program. The speed with which the program is developed will depend almost entirely on military needs incident to the scheduled European invasion and the release of plants as sufficient war supplies are built up.

Since the program is designed to maintain the pre-war status quo in sharing the markets for various manufactured goods, the disadvantage lies with plants that have been greatly expanded in turning out war items, company executives said.

Beginning with electric irons, the program is designed to give each manufacturer a production quota based on a uniform percentage of its product in a pre-war base period. Companies still tied up with war work would be enabled to "farm out" their quota for manufacture by other firms. Pre-war trade names would be retained regardless of the company of manufacture, thus preserving the competitive status of an industry.

Expanded Plants a Problem.

The most perplexing problem, manufacturers agreed, is the disposition of expanded plant facilities that are no longer needed in war work and cannot be utilized under the quota system for civilian manufacture. Many of the plants have been expanded in fields unrelated to pre-war activities.

Pressure for the resumption of civilian production has increased recently as stockpiles of aluminum and other once scarce materials have accumulated, but the program has been delayed by disagreement over price ceilings to be assigned various products.

William L. Batt, vice chairman of the WPB, confirmed this recently, but indicated the office of price administration was adjusting price ceilings to reflect increasing wage and material costs incident to the war.

Officials of the Smaller War Plants corporation said that many Chicago area plants had been assisted in a return to civilian manufacture or in preparations for such a shift, and invited inquiries from any firm in need of assistance.

WHEAT FUTURES HIGHER ON CASH GRAIN STRENGTH

Continued strength in cash wheat, with ceiling prices paid at most leading markets, and insufficient moisture in many districts resulted in short covering and higher future prices yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Altho light rains were received in numerous areas in the central west they were regarded as too light to break the prolonged drouth effectively.

Wheat advanced about 1 cent a bushel from the early low and closed ⅝ to ⅞ cent higher. Rye gained ¾ to 1½ cents. Oats and barley followed other grains and finished a small fraction of a cent higher.

The war food administration was reported to have refused to rescind a recent order which forces the railroads to send 200 freight cars daily into Canada to load feed grains.

TIGHTER FOOD SUPPLIES THIS YEAR FORECAST

Rising Army Needs Are Predicted.

Civilian food supplies will be tighter in 1944 because of increased military needs and lend-lease requirements, members of the National-American Wholesale Grocers' association were told by government officials yesterday in the Drake hotel.

Despite widespread belief of the existence of large stocks of food and official reports of unusually large holdings in storage warehouses, Norman Leon Gold, chief of the war food administration's civilian food requirements branch, Washington, D. C., said there are only limited accumulations to meet enlarged military requirements, expanding lend-lease and the needs for feeding people in liberated areas.

Predicts Possibility of Cuts.

"In 1944, as in 1943, food continues to be an offensive weapon," Gold said. "Even with further increases in production the direct war needs will press on our food supply. As a corollary that means we, as civilians, cannot and should not count on increases in our total food supply and we may have to take some cuts."

Military requirements and the need for coöperation of industry with government were emphasized by another government speaker, Walter F. Straub, director of the price administration's food rationing division. He is a Chicago business man who joined the OPA staff three months ago.

Wholesale grocers should not be concerned with what some consider surplus stocks of canned goods because, if necessary, OPA will lower point values promptly to move them, Straub said. He sought to allay the apprehension of grocers over the effects of an early peace with Germany.

Requirements to Continue.

"Present commercial stocks are about the same as last year and substantially below the requirements of an uncontroled demand and a cessation of hostilities in Europe will have little or no immediate effect on government requirements of processed food," he said.

Straub said that OPA was seeking a "simplification of the entire rationing program to make the burden less on the food industry and the consumer."

Answering a question about the sugar situation, Straub said sugar rationing would continue.

Meanwhile, the executive board of the National Association of Retail Grocers meeting in the Hotel Sherman adopted a resolution asking that the present price control act, which expires June 30, 1944, be amended and strengthened if it is extended. Among the amendments suggested was a provision for judicial review by federal courts of all price regulations and the right of appeal to these courts from one man OPA "courts."

Undominated Small Business Declared Hope of Democracy

Three million small business men, who refuse to be regimented, are the hope of American democracy and the American economic system of free enterprise, Rep. Ploeser [R., Mo.] told the National Retailer-Owned Grocers, Inc., at its annual meeting in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

"The extension of burocracy for another four years will spell the doom of democracy in America," Ploeser asserted. "It is time for all who believe in free enterprise to get in the same wagon and go down the same road or it will be too late."

Urges Stand on Surpluses.

He urged all business men to make their views known to the house banking and currency committee on the bill it is considering on the disposal of surplus commodities when the war ends.

"Get word to your representatives and the committee that this bill must be sound business policy," he said. "Our markets could be broken down by the dumping of surpluses."

Ploeser referred to the President's talk of a 125 billion dollar national income and balanced budget after the war as "a nightmare not a dream." The budget in Washington is nothing but an excuse for waste, he said.

"The budget bureau is part of the executive office of the White House and approves anything it is told to approve," he declared. "It is a mockery. Congress should make it independent of the White House, no matter who occupies the latter."

Taxes Won't Raise Income.

Taxes are not an incentive to increased business and increased national income, he said, adding that unless congress trims taxes immediately after the war ends, "national income is in for a terrific fall." He warned the "theorists" in government that they may learn they have reached a "saturation point" in taxation.

Asserting that big business is not hard to regiment he said, however, that "three million little business men are the meanest, orneriest kind to regiment." The institution of small business is the "keystone of free enterprise," he said.

Big business flirted "with the devil in Germany" and reaped the harvest, he said. The largest customer of big business is little business, he declared, "and some fools would kill their own customers."

Arms Output Leveled Off, Says Nelson

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson reported tonight that war production has reached the volume considered necessary for victory.

The war production board chairman did not use those words, and there still will be major shifts of emphasis, but the idea was directly implicit in his announcement that December totals were approximately the same as those of November, with no over-all increase planned for 1944.

Asserting that "the nation has definitely solved the major problems involved in mass production of munitions" the WPB chief's monthly production communique disclosed record-breaking naval ship construction in 1943.

Two Battleships Finished.

This included two 45,000 ton battleships, 11 cruisers, 15 aircraft carriers, 50 carrier escorts, 128 destroyers, 306 destroyer escorts, and 56 submarines.

The navy's goal for 1944 calls for almost 50 per cent more new tonnage than was built in 1943, Nelson said. Production of naval ships in December, however, was 5 per cent below the November peak.

Four of the six major munitions programs declined in December—ships, guns and fire control equipment, ammunition, combat and motor vehicles. Two programs were up—aircraft and communication and electronics equipment.

War Plane Tonnage Rises.

The fact that production held abreast of November was attributable largely to a 5 per cent increase in the tonnage of war planes, Nelson said. The total of planes delivered, 8,802, was a gain of only 13 aircraft above November, but there was growing emphasis on heavier, long range planes.

"The lack of an increase at the year-end in total munitions production reflects the fact that, in the main, the war production program is now in high gear and has settled down for the long pull," Nelson said.

Aircraft will be expanded thruout 1944, Nelson said. A 65 per cent tonnage increase above 1943 production is planned, including spares and parts. About 100,000 planes will be turned out in 1944, compared with the 85,919 planes delivered in 1943, he said.

Ashbrook, superintendent of agencies, was made a vice president. H. O. Kramer was reëlected vice president. The company's insurance in force increased 5.02 per cent to $78,988,000 during 1943. Its assets rose $1,075,000 to $15,923,000.

Better utilization of labor by which Chicago may avoid classification as a No. 1 critical labor area will be discussed at a meeting arranged by the Illinois Manufacturers' association in the La Salle hotel tomorrow night. C. S. Craigmile, vice president of Belden Manufacturing company, will be chairman of a panel discussion.

The Chicago Association of Commerce will begin its 41st year today with installation of officers at its annual meeting in the Hotel Sherman. Holman D. Pettibone, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, will be reinstated as president.

Truck production, tires, and office of defense transportation regulations will be the chief topics of discussion at a conference of the National Council of Private Motor Truck Owners, Inc., tomorrow and Friday in the Stevens hotel.

HOG PRICES RISE TO PEAK LEVEL IN THREE WEEKS

Hog prices at the Chicago stock yards rose slightly yesterday to the highest average level in three weeks. The holdover was the smallest for a Tuesday in seven weeks. However, the clearance was not complete for "government weights," with about 8,000 in the pens at the close of trading.

Market experts expect a light demand for hogs weighing between 300 to 330 pounds tomorrow when the war food administration extends its "support" of $13.75 a hundred pounds to hogs weighing up to 330 pounds.

A rise of 5 to 10 cents in hogs below 200 pounds and above 300 pounds raised the average 5 cents to $13.30, highest since Jan. 4.

Lively demand sent lamb prices up 15 to 25 cents to the highest level since last June. Steady to weak prices were paid for most steers, yearlings, and heifers.

CAST OUT FEAR AND NEW DEAL, NATION ADVISED

Griswold Rips Cry of 'Medicine Men.'

How New Deal "medicine men" have used a fear psychology to induce the public to accept their doctrines was discussed last night by Dwight Griswold, Republican governor of Nebraska, at a meeting of the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association in the Hotel Sherman. He urged the nation to cast fear from its philosophy and to revert to original American tenets of free enterprise, thrift, and production.

Gov. Griswold.

The United States probably will be faced with the task of putting about 16 million persons in jobs after the war, he estimated, and this can be done thru courageous fulfilment of the American way of life, which he said was to strive for an ever rising living standard.

Told We Are Afraid.

"Who started this talk about fear?" Grsiwold asked. "We are repeatedly told in one way or another that we are afraid. We are told that we are afraid of being hungry, and at the same time we are told we are afraid of producing too much. We are told we are afraid of old age; afraid of monopolies. And if we are labor we are afraid of capital; if we are capital, we are afraid of labor.

"The idea, of course, is that we will be saved from all these horrible threats if we will only run and jump in bed with the New Deal—jump in and cover our heads.

"As long as we stay afraid of the future we stand as easy marks for the medicine men who have all the answers, all the time. Before fear has a chance to sell us a bill of mistakes or breed new golden voices to cry the old 'free for nothing' brand of goods, we had best examine certain concepts which have worked well for us in the past and will again."

Private Enterprise Best.

Griswold said that among these ideas are the following:

"First, we should realize that private enterprise is the best way to provide work for all who want to work at fair wages, with the reservation that the government has the responsibility for public works programs to create employment in temporary periods.

"Second, we must realize that our economic welfare, our supply of jobs, is contingent upon production. We must realize that we have never produced enough—that there is no such thing as 'too much.' This repudiates the philosophy that scarcity and restrictions are virtues and that idleness is a decent way to live.

"Third, we must re-accept the truth that there is yet no substitute for the profit incentive as a production instrument.

"Fourth, we must demand a rebirth of statesmanship that sees and hears the American people as a warm and powerful unit and not as a combination of voting blocs."

Griswold said politicians should stop discussing national economics "in double talk" and return to "the realization that there is just one source of national income and that is production."

RUM

Reformers tried to persuade Lincoln to get rid of General Grant because he liked his glass.

And reformers today want to crucify American Industry because it sometimes oversteps the bounds.

Grant won the Civil War and American Industry is winning this one.

Let us remedy the faults of Industry, when and where needed, but let us remember its achievements and not cripple its capacity for still greater things.
